BERWYN TEAM WILL PLAY HERE SUNDAY

Adler, centers. The backfield is made up of J. Vail, S. Siboff, D. Schiff, F. Balenberg, halves; George Bard at full; and Bobby Herbst at quarterback.

Coach Gilles of Highland Park had a new tackle report to practice last Tuesday night, and from the looks of things, he may be in that lineup quite a bit. This new member is Roy Murphy, 190 pounds, who formerly played with Lake Forest Academy and Brown University. With the exception of one or two changes we can truthfully say that the lineup of the Y.M.C. team for the Sunday game will be practically the same as it has been.

One of the several changes in the line may come at one of the end positions. The ends have been played by Ed Wyle and Art Bock, but now Coach Gilles has a problem. He has just discovered he has a better end than both of them, but doesn't know which of the former two take out. The new end who has popped into the spotlight is Ab Carr, a mere 150-pounder, who has plenty of the old pep and speed. He is one of the best pass catchers on the squad and can get down under punts like a demon.

The backfield will be the same with Becker at quarter, "Pug" Rentner and Rogan at halves, and Parker at full. Then there's Bill Hammond, Bill Lutz, L. Allen, F. Raeburn, E. Enchelmeyer, and F. Norden, who are capable of handling any of the backfield assignments.

It has been rumored about the Y. M. C. camp that they may play the Lake Forest Y.M.C. the following Sunday. The time, place, and price of admission is all uncertain. No definite plans or arrangements have been made, but it is more than likely that we will hear about it before next Sunday's game is played.

Even the Fuka Chicago Pros didn't down the powerful Young Men's Club. Led by the brilliant play of Ernest "Pug" Rentner, Northwestern's former All-American back, the powerful Highland Park aggregation downed the strong Chicago professionals by the overwhelming score of 22-6 at the Deerfield-Shields athletic field last Sunday afternoon. At half time the Y.M.C. team led by a mere 7-6 score but put on the steam in the last half.

Rentner scored the first touchdown on a 40-yard run, to tie the score, after the visitors had scored earlier in the period. The next touchdown was also scored by Rentner on a pass from Bill Lutz. A successful place kick made the score 13-6. A safety and another touchdown by Carl Parker made the score 22-6, near the close of the game. Harold Forman Jr., a powerful 220-pound guard, scored one of the points after touchdown for the Highland Park eleven.

Playing without the services of Stan Bodman and Otto Hills, the Y.M.C.'s giant tackles, who were attending the University of Illinois' homecoming, their alma mater, the Highland Park eleven had plenty of powerful talent in their home town boys. Many of these boys have never gone to college but are just as good as many of the All-Americans and university players on the team. If you doubt my word, go out and see for yourself.

Women Now Manage Autos

All jobs eventually drift or are assigned to the person or persons who for one reason or another can do them best. This is one reason why the housewife has so largely taken over the care of the family car. Not only does she have daylight hours available to take the car out to be serviced, thus relieving her husband from having to do it at night when he would rather be doing something else, but she is used to working on a schedule.

Now as everybody knows, a car is all the better off for being serviced at regular intervals, having the battery, gas, oil, tires, etc. checked every so often and seeing that the various seasonal changes are made on time—winter oil and gasoline, anti-freeze solution, etc.

A busy woman runs her home on schedule. The family has to be fed, the children have their school, play time, naps etc. there is the laundry and the pantry to be attended to, and a thousand and one things that keeps her watching the clock and the calendar. Therefore, it is just a matter of a little extra routine for her to also watch the needs of the car. She can do it just as well as a man if she goes to the right kind of service station.

It won't be long now before she'll be reminding herself that it will soon be time to change over to winter oil, gasoline and anti-freeze and she'll do it before she has to. This quality in her is not due to any efficiency acquired by managing automobiles. She got it from the business of managing men, families and households—in getting expert assistance to save herself from being over-worked and to have time for what she wants to do. The kind of help a woman can expect to get in servicing the family automobile from a competent service station is being interestingly shown in a series of advertisements by Standard Oil Company now appearing in this paper.

Inventor of the Gas Holder Died a Martyr

The next time you light a burner on your gas range pause a moment and give a vote of thanks to Antoine Laurant Lavoisier who was executed by the guillotine in France on May 8, 1794. Had he not invented the expanding type tank in which gas could be stored, it is possible that you would still be building a fire in a cook stove. Among the crimes charged against Lavoisier was the claim that he was interfering with the proper circulation of air in Paris and that this would soon suffocate the populace.

History is filled with many incidents of this kind, invariably, the exponents of progress were persecuted. People living now are inclined to flatter themselves by pointing out how impossible such shortsightedness would be today. Many of these people fail to realize that we still have obstructionist movements based on an equal disregard for logical facts. In the absence of clear thinking, only time can reveal their folly.
