

Fargo Avenue, Chicago, notified the local police by phone that the machine belonged to him — that it had been stolen late last week.

It is thought that the auto had been deliberately run over the cliff without a driver at the wheel.

Harry A. Jung to Speak at Lions Club Thursday

The Highland Park Lion's Club will hold its weekly Thursday noon luncheon at the Green Tea Pot Oct. 26.

Harry A. Jung, president of the American Vigilante Intelligence Federation, will speak on the Federal Reserve. Members are requested to turn out and bring guests.

Annual Meeting of H. P. Hospital Ass'n

The annual meeting of the Highland Park Hospital Association for the election of four members of the board of managers, consideration of annual reports, and the transaction of other business will be held on Monday, Nov. 6, at 7:30 p.m. at the Highland Park Hospital. A meeting of the board of managers will be held immediately after its adjournment. Members of the board of regents, stockholders, and friends of the association are requested to attend.

Girl Scout Week to Be Observed Locally from Oct. 29 to Nov. 4

Girl Scout Week this year begins on Oct. 29, and ends on Nov. 4. Girl Scouts everywhere are taking stock of themselves, "true-ing themselves up" to give their utmost during these seven days to selected activities inseparably connected with the work of Girl Scouting.

Highland Park Girl Scouts are ready and eager to show the public some of the things Girl Scouts can do. There will be no public demonstrations until next week, but on Nov. 2 and 3 the different troops will stage activities in the center of town, both in Highland Park and Ravinia.

Watch for the Girl Scout demonstrations on the village green east of the Northwestern tracks in Highland Park and on the green in the village of Ravinia just east of the station.

On Thursday, Nov. 2, Troop No. 3, led by Mrs. Harry Pier, will cook their supper in true Girl Scout style around the camp fire. There will be demonstrations of first aid, signaling, knots and folk dancing, the costumes for which will have been made by the girls themselves.

The younger Girl Scouts in Troop No. 4, Mrs. James Collin's troop, will make and serve cookies and it is hoped that the fathers on their way home from the train or from work will stop for a Girl Scout cookie and have a chance to see a little of the work prepared for their inspection.

On Friday, Nov. 3, Miss Flynn's troop will do some singing around the camp fire on the green in the center of town. The same program as given Thursday will be repeated in connection with the singing.

In Ravinia on both these evenings Mrs. Neuman's troop and Mrs. Cook's troop will take part in the activities on the green just east of the Ravinia station. Here, too, cookies will be served to the adults.

There will be an exhibition of handicraft in the public library. Miss Hendie has kindly given the Girl Scouts the use of the two front cases in the library for showing some of the things the Girl Scouts have done.

On Wednesday the leaders of the troops of New Trier Council will meet at the Christ Church Parish House in Winnetka for their first luncheon and discussion group of the fall. There is a rare treat in store for the leaders at this particular meeting for Mrs. Edey, the Girl Scout national president, and Mrs. Cavanaugh, regional chairman of this district, will both be present. Members of the council and leaders who attended the national convention held so recently in Milwaukee will give reports on the convention. It promises to be a most interesting and instructive meeting.

ART APPRECIATION CLASS DECORATES LOWER OFFICE

(From "The Shoreline")
With ten dollars to spend in re-decorating the lower office, the Art Appreciation class, under the direction of Miss Kerfoot, set to work about three weeks ago to do what they could to "dress up" the room. The first job was given to the janitors. They tore down the cupboards and the old blackboard. They replastered the walls.

The venetian blinds were taken down and painted cream. Over these, green cretonne curtains, made by the girls, were hung. The floors were revarnished.

Green paint was used to paint the chairs and waste baskets. During art periods a group of boys made a four panelled screen which was designed by the Art I class, and a waiting bench.

When the final touches were added, which consisted of plants, flower pots, and waste baskets, the effect was charming.

SOCIAL SERVICE

Who says Social Service is a thing of the past?
Not much!
It is needed more than ever.

Illinois Emergency Relief covers the ground as far as its funds will permit. Therefore, Social Service must go on. The need for clothing is very great—all kinds of clothing for all ages.

The Thrift Shop has its part to play for the people who still have a little money, but Social Service must help those who can't pay for these things.

There are many families who will not accept things without giving full value by working. Just this morning a man came in to find out what he might do to repay Social Service for the baby buggy he had received. This man is only one of many.

So, won't you please look around your house and see if there isn't something that can be passed on?
We still have calls for jars for canning, pears and apples. Maybe you can spare one or two.

BOY ASKS TO USE SEWING MACHINE IN GIRLS CLASS

(From "The Shoreline")
Do Deerfield-Shields high school boys sew? You may think no, but there is evidence of at least one. One of our upperclass boys was seen walking into one of Miss Burwash's sewing classes and asking for a sewing machine. He probably wanted to use one, but he, in his embarrassment at coming into a sewing class, asked for one.

"What kind do you want?" questioned Miss Burwash, "an electric one?"

"Oh, it doesn't matter, as long as it works," replied the boy.

"What do you want to sew?" asked Miss Burwash.

The boy pointed to a suede article which he had brought from the Art department to sew.

"You'd better come back tomorrow to sew it, because we haven't any brown thread and I don't think black would look right, do you?" asked Miss Burwash.

"No, I guess not" was the hurried answer, and he left the room, which was much alive with laughter from the girls in the sewing class.

We wonder if he came back to finish his task.

We see by the papers that the former conductor of the "We-and-Us" column has entered a spelling class at the local grammar school.

Co-operation, and not competition, is the life of trade.—Wm. C. Fitch.

SHAN-KAR PERFORMS ON MONDAY, NOV. 13

are one-half those charged in the loop, and there is, besides, the unique opportunity of seeing in an intimate atmosphere a great artist like Shan-Kar reveals the dances of India as the Hindus have seen them for thousands of years. His dances deal with love, and they range in mood from enchantment, melancholy and opulence, to erotic ecstasy, rising at last to divinity. The dances deal with the wizard gods of India, gods whose lives are like those of human beings, and who are symbolized elaborately. There are dances of the soil, which are delicate and humorous, and temple dances full of the lore of centuries.

Gorgeous costumes are worn by Shan-Kar and his charming partner, Simkie, who is French but who, Shan-Kar says, has mastered the Hindu dance technique to a remarkable degree. Other dances in the troupe also are splendidly costumed, and the rich pageantry of costumes and background never fail to thrill an audience. The dancers move through decorative patterns, while the Hindu musicians play the strange, appealing music on their curious instruments.

So great was Shan-Kar's success last season when he gave 27 performances in New York, that this season he is booked for 42 performances there. No one else has brought to our Western world the Hindu dance-dramas and the authentic Hindu music, and the experience of acquainting one's self with them is startling. The dances express the richness, the serenity, and beauty of a very old culture, and Shan-Kar and his company of ten, two young women, and eight musicians, will present the dances exactly as one would see them in India, in temple and festival worship.

Hindu dancing is a definite language which must communicate the inner soul of the dancer through the stylistic routine and technique of the dance. Its beauty is not the conscious, posed beauty of the western dance, but although one may not understand the definite meanings of the hundreds of body movements, the dances themselves are of sufficient beauty and strength to lift the spectator out of himself.

VARISITY TO WATCH CHICAGO MAROONS BATTLE MICHIGAN

Go to Game As Guests of Maroon Management

(From "The Shoreline")
Having an open date in their schedule next Saturday, October 24, the Deerfield heavies will go to Stagg field to see the Chicago Maroons play the Michigan Wolverines. The team will leave school about 12:30.

The members of the team will see the game as the guests of the Maroon management. Last week the intra-mural boys went to see the Chicago Purdue game.

This year the fresh-sops will accompany the heavies, instead of going to another game.

DEERFIELD BEATEN IN MUDDY BATTLE BY PROVISO ELEVEN

Mud and Rain Hinders Deerfield's Aerial Attack and Trick Plays

(From "The Shoreline")
Playing in a muddy field covered with pools of water, Deerfield was downed last Saturday by the count of 19-0. The game was played in a driving, drizzling rain that damped both suits and spirits. At times the ball was barely visible.

Deerfield kicked off to Proviso to start the game. After a series of unsuccessful plays, Proviso punted to Deerfield. It was a sloppy, twisting kick that rolled along the ground to Deerfield's 1-yard line, where it rolled out. Vince Ghini went back into punt formation to kick. As he kicked, a Deerfield man, in trying to block a Proviso man, ran back against the Proviso. The ball was partly blocked and went almost straight up. It landed on Deerfield's 4-yard line, where Proviso took possession of the ball. On the next play Proviso put the ball over for the first touchdown. The try for the extra point failed, and Proviso led 6-0.

In the second quarter no scoring was done by either team. Most of the time was spent in slipping around in the mud.

Deerfield received the kickoff to start the second half. Deerfield failed to gain, so they punted to Proviso. Proviso also failed to gain, so they punted back to Deerfield. The whole quarter consisted mostly of punting and fumbling. Proviso seemed to be getting the best of the punting and fumbling. Aided by a forty yard run by Pearson, Proviso's star halfback, Proviso put over another touchdown. A plunging play secured the extra point.

The fourth quarter found Proviso scoring another touchdown. A pass was tried for the extra point, but Orly Viverito knocked it down. For the rest of the quarter passes were tried by both teams. Of the six passes tried by both teams, not a one was completed. The game ended with Proviso in possession of the ball in midfield.

Eddie Olson played a good game defensively, throwing opposing runners for numerous losses. Kelly Croke and Joe Cameron also played well and formed a strong center wall. Vince Ghini played his usual smashing game. Deerfield's backfield couldn't do much, but Alan Axton and Don Hurd looked impressive at times.

DEERFIELD MIDGETS READY FOR ACADEMY

(From "The Shoreline")
Working out every night after school under the direction of their coach, Mr. Lindenmeyer the Midget football team is getting in shape for the game against Lake Forest academy on Monday, November 1.

On the first night of practice the coach had the boys run around the field a couple of times. There was also practice in blocking and tackling.

The next few nights were devoted to learning how to play their positions and running through a few plays that were given to them by their coach. Now, each night after school, two teams are chosen and these teams scrimmage against each other.

Mr. Lindenmeyer has not as yet picked a first team. He says he'll have a hard time making a selection, because both teams look very good. He doesn't know who will start the game, but he thinks everyone will get a chance to play. He also thinks that the Deerfield Midget team will beat Lake Forest academy.

HIGHLAND PARK POLICE TO SPONSOR RIFLE CLUB

(From "The Shoreline")
By offering to sponsor and support the Rifle club, the Highland Park Police have removed any doubt as to whether Deerfield-Shields will have any sharpshooters this year.

It is probable that the police will take part in the shooting, which will be held in the attic of the East building.

A meeting of the club was held last Monday.
