Profiles and full Faces
An Astronomer's Life, by Edwin Brant Frost.

A simple and delightful story of the life of a distinguished astronomer covering his boyhood and his thirty years as director of the Yerkes observatory at Williams Bay in Wisconsin. Professor Frost originated the plan of using rays from Arctus to light the Century of Progress.

Testament of Youth, by Vera Brittain.—A poignant autobiographical chronicle and intimate record of the experiences of a young English girl from 1900 to 1925 which reveals the sorrows and tragedies brought about by the Great War.

It Was the Nightingale, by Ford Madox Ford.—A rich miscellany of personal reminiscences, many of which concern the author's friends, among whom are several notable writers as Galsworthy, Conrad, H. G. Wells, and Arnold Bennett. The title of the autobiography derives its name from the nightingale which wakens Mr. Ford each morning at dawn.

Homecoming, by Floyd Dell.—The author of the autobiographical novel "Moon-Calf," has gone a step farther in this book in which he presents a frank and honest appraisal of his own character and the episodes of a well-rounded life.

Crowded Hours, by Alice Roosevelt Longworth.—Alice Longworth has been in the public eye since her early childhood, and writes her reminiscences of the active and intriguing life of the Washington arena in a most engaging and characteristic "Rooseveltian" vein.

The Two Franklins, by Bernard Fay.—This is a study of Benjamin Franklin Bache, the grandson of the great Benjamin Franklin who only makes his appearance in the book as an elderly man. It also reveals the political party fights in the United States from 1785 to 1798.

Sea Scouts Exhibit
The boys and men of the community will be especially interested in the exhibit of the Sea Scouts of the North Shore Area Council which has been loaned to the library through the courtesy of Mr. Davis Green of Highland Park.

The exhibit contains many instruments used in practical navigation as well as photographs, pictures, and scale models. In the east exhibit case is displayed a pelorus, also known as a dumb compass, which is coastwise navigation along the shore to take bearings on known landmarks, in plotting the position and course of the boat. Near it is a sextant combined with a carved model of the Sea Scout emblem. This is an instrument used in practical navigation to determine the position of the ship from the heavenly bodies.

There are also three scale models of center board sail boats which are suitable for Lake Michigan, and a knot board with examples of the various types of knots and splices commonly used aboard sail boats displayed with the palm and needle used by the sail maker in sewing heavy canvas.

In the west exhibit case is an excellent photograph, taken during the autumn regatta of 1933, of the "Valkyrie," a cutter-rigged sloop owned by John Snite. There is also a finely constructed sailing model of a two masted fishing schooner, called "Gertrude Bluenose."

The hull has been modeled after "Gertrude Thebaud," while the rigging and sails have been taken from the "Bluenose."

Another sextant is displayed in this case, accompanied with parallel rules, compass, and scale, the instruments most used in simple dead reckoning. There are also photographs and a blue print of the schooner "Albatross" owned and sailed by the Sea Scouts of the North Shore Area Council.

Sequels and Sequences
By Hugh Walpole—Rogue Herries; Judith Paris; The Fortress; Vanessa.

By John Galsworthy—Maid in Waiting; Flowering Wilderness; One More River.

By Mazo De La Roche—Jalna; Whiteoaks of Jalna; Finch's Fortune; Master of Jalna.

FRENCH LICK Sells Health!

Will you risk a few days—a week or ten—a few dollars—for a year's health?

The owners of thousands of America's great names have come here religiously once or twice a year—taken the waters, enjoyed moderate exercise, slept unbroken nights in the soporific air of the Cumberland foothills, and gone home to the problems of business, finance, the arts, the realm of sport, refreshed and with healthy bodies equipped to meet the problems of their busy lives. They are coming now—and their children too.

Some come a thousand or more miles, some from over seas for French Lick's waters are famous on the Continent too. For you—the trip with all its benefits may be had at the expense of a few hours' travel and an astoundingly few dollars.

Come Now—French Lick's climate is glorious in the fall and severe winter weather is rare. For the golfer or rider every day of the year will bring new delights. Only five days out of each of the past five winters has the golfer been compelled to forego his favorite sport out of doors.

Give us 10 days of your time and we'll give you a refreshed, renewed body and a new mental picture of life.

Wire or write for reservations or descriptive booklet.

ELECTRICITY IS THRIFTY ITEM

As you cast up your accounts for 1933, with an eye on holiday shopping and with some regard for the budget for the New Year, you probably are reminded that living costs are again rising.

But the cost of electricity, so important to your household, is unchanged. In good times or bad, over a score of years, the trend of electric rates has been downward. But living costs have rocketed upward, slid down, and are now rising again. So that now your general cost of living is 28% higher than pre-war level, while your electricity costs you 47.33% LESS than it did in 1911.

With living costs still mounting, the price of electricity remains at the same old level, still the most reasonable item in your household budget.
