"City Slicker" Finds
Another Victim Here

A new type of swindle (if there is such a thing!) was "worked" in Highland Park during the past week.

The victim was a local business person, who lost $30 to a "slick-tongued stranger" with a "plausible proposition" which purported to establish a local agency of an "iron-cleaner."

The "iron cleaner" was nothing more than waxed paper. The $30 was paid as a "deposit," which would, the "representative" said, be refunded the same day.

The "slick-tongued stranger" has not been seen since, and the local police department is again voicing the age-old maxim, "Beware of Get-Rich-Quick Schemes."
