Shirley Sticken, girls from 10 to 13; George Stanger, Mathias Klomp, and Walter Sticken, boys from 13 to 16; Mary Hagblom, Alice Woodbury, and Gertrude Grubert, girls from 13 to 16.

Three sack races, one for boys and two for the large group of girls, occasioned much merriment. The nine winners were: Robert Anderson, Mathias Klomp, Arthur Schmitz, Gertrude Grubert, Lois Hansen, Betty June Plagge, Mary Hagblom, Esther Krase, and Alice Woodbury.

Perhaps the greatest excitement was caused by the novel egg-throwing contest. Partners tossed real honest-to-goodness eggs back and forth to each other, using great skill in order not to break the eggs. After each toss the partners lengthened the distance between them, and when an egg did break—woe unto onlookers who disregarded the "stand back" rule! To accommodate all the egg-catchers, four contests were conducted, two for boys and two for girls. Robert Anderson and Philip Scully were lucky partners, as also were Robert Burns and Billy Cruickshank. Ruth Hoffman and Constance Meyers; and Catherine Reeb and Shirley Sticken carried off the girls' honors.

A passer-by, seeing the line of children following one man all over grounds, buildings, highways and byways, might have thought the Pied Piper was paying Deerfield a visit. Not quite. But a certain well-known Legionnaire from North Chicago did come over, lending his unusual talents to make merry with the boys and girls. From all indications he was the most popular "event" at the entire Carnival.

The refreshment booth, with its endless store of pop, candy, "Big Shot Cones," Dixies, etc., supplied all the wants of the small visitors, and rides on live ponies added the finishing touch to a perfect afternoon.—Contributed.
