

Local Delegates Attend Fidelity Life Convention

Mary Paulson, Helen Broddard, Lorraine Zimmer, Marcella Lomough, Virginia Leffert, Lorene Merenella, Leonard Larson, Hugo Schneider, Jr., Raymond Stanley and Mrs. Hugo Schneider, their superintendent, left Tuesday for Fulton, Ill., where they represented local Lodge No. 366 of the Fidelity Life Association at the society's Ninth National Juvenile Convention, held there June 26, 27, and 28.

It was an honor for these young folk to be chosen as representatives to this convention, for only a few hundred of the many thousands of members are given the privilege of attending these annual affairs. The national juvenile convention which the Fidelity Life Association holds annually at its home office in Fulton is an outstanding event in the fraternal world. Representatives from nine states gathered to hear and took part in educational and entertaining programs which were personally directed by Arthur A. Bentley, president of the Fidelity Life Association. There were professional floor shows, prize-winning ritual performances, luncheons, dancing, and educational features. Though the young people were royally entertained, they did not miss the real purpose of the event, which prepares them to carry on the work of fraternalism.

The climax of the affair was the election of honorary juvenile officers to serve during the ensuing year. This convention marked the ninth such annual event. The first was held in Fulton in 1926, and was the first of its kind ever to be held in America.

Program of Deerpath Theatre Is Announced

"We're Not Dressing," starring Bing Crosby, Carole Lombard, George Burns, Gracie Allen and Leon Errol, and Walt Disney's "King Cole," Thursday and Friday, July 5, 6.

"Looking for Trouble," starring Jack Oakie, Spencer Tracy, Constance Cummings and Arlene Judge, Saturday matinee and evening, July 7.

"Tarsan and His Mate," with Johnny Weismuller, Maureen O'Sullivan, Neil Hamilton, Paul Cavanough, Forrester Harvey and Nathan Curry, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, July 8, 9, 10.

"Melody in Spring," with Lanny Ross, Charlie Ruggles, Mary Boland and Ann Southern, Wednesday and Thursday, July 11, 12.

"Melody in Spring" is said to be an excellent mixture of comedy, melody and beauty. Lanny Ross was taken from the "Showboat" hour on the radio, and promises to be another star. The story involves Charlie Ruggles, a wealthy dog-biscuit manufacturer, who sponsors the nation's biggest radio hour; Miss Boland, as his wife; Miss Southern, as his daughter; and Mr. Ross, a hopeful tenor, anxious to get on the radio program.

Both men have hobbies, which get them into hilarious difficulties. Mr. Ruggles being a collector of antiques and souvenirs, while Mr. Ross climbs mountains.

Dionne Family Gets An Electrolux Refrigerator

The human milk fed to the famous Dionne babies every few hours has the protection of a modern refrigerator which was rushed as a gift to the little farmhouse in the Canadian north woods shortly after the five tiny baby girls were born, according to a report received by the North Shore Gas Company.

With so much interest on the part of mothers everywhere in the progress being made to save the lives of the Dionne quintuplets, it is interesting to know how an Electrolux refrigerator aided the doctors and nurses in keeping the tiny girl babies alive through scientific care of the milk supply.

As soon as it was realized that the Dionne home was practically without refrigeration facilities of any sort, the Electrolux company immediately rushed a refrigerator to the scene from its factory at Evansville, Ind. The refrigerator was presented by Electrolux as its contribution toward bringing the quintuplets to maturity; both from a scientific and humanitarian standpoint.

"In the Dionne farm kitchen," the report said, "The Electrolux was set up diametrically opposite to an old-fashioned wood stove, used for heating in winter. The refrigerator will be serviceable not only during the babyhood period of the quintuplets, but a source of satisfaction to their mother for many years to come."
