

Benefit Fashion Show Will Be Held Oct. 23

The eighth annual fashion show for the benefit of St. Luke's hospital will be held in the Grand Ball room of the Stevens Hotel on the afternoon and evening of Oct. 23. Tea and dinner will be served.

This show is always one of the most vivid and out-standing social events of the winter. The leading couturiers display their latest and most alluring importations. Beautiful debutantes and young society matrons of Chicago and the North Shore act as models, sell cigarettes, and assist in general at the show. Edward Beck, of Hollywood fame, is the director. This year an entirely new modernistic stage setting has been designed. Highland Park will be represented by one of this year's attractive debutantes, Miss Betty Forgan, who will be one of the models.

The afternoon showing starts at 2:30. The evening showing at 7:30. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

Brent Wrenn to Direct Little Theatre's Play

The North Shore Little Theatre will open its season with a performance of Priestly's "Dangerous Corner" at the Evanston Woman's Club on Tuesday, Oct. 30, at 8:30.

This is one of the smartest plays of recent years and closed its professional run in Chicago only last spring. That the Little Theatre should be the first to bring it to the North Shore is in keeping with this group's policy of presenting only outstanding plays.

Brent Wrenn, formerly of Lake Forest and Highland Park, is directing the cast among whom are his new wife, the former Catherine Swihart, Lois Jacob, Mrs. Paul Cook, Albert Weise and Bruce Adams, all of Evanston, as well as Helen Aldrich and William Shepherd of Winnetka.

The North Shore Little Theatre's subscription list for the current season also includes "Candlelight," "Alien Corn," "The Queen was in the Parlor" and "Biography."

"Show Boat" To Dock In Waukegan's Harbor

What promises to be a really unique novelty is announced by the Homer Dahringer Post No. 281, Waukegan, of the American Legion. Starting Sunday, Oct. 21, for one week only, the "Show Boat" will dock at the Waukegan harbor at the foot of Clayton Street. The Showboat troupe, who for years have played up and down the Ohio and Mississippi Rivers in a repertory of hits of the Gay Nineties will present "No Mother to Guide Her," "The Good for Nothing Husband" and the "City Slicker."

The cast includes Guy Hickman, Ted Johnstone, Jean Stevens, Guy Martinson, Alice Stanton, June Devine, Henry Braschler, Virginia Stanton, Alberte Reid, Alfred Court, Thomas Ryan, Betty Clark, Everett Style, Frank Martin, Jean Gaylor, Lloyd James, Constance Hurle, Margaret Stone, and Cliff Rafter and William Mark.

Performances will be given nightly at 8:15 and a special childrens matinee on Saturday. The public is cordially invited to come, hearts full of hate for the villain and cheers for the heroine. The Showboat has 1000 comfortable seats and is equipped with modern heating and ventilating system.

Junior Matinee Will Be Featured Again

The Deerpath Theatre, Lake Forest, will give another of its special junior matinee programs this Saturday afternoon, Oct. 20, featuring no less than seven "short subjects."

A large crowd of children and grown-ups as well saw last Saturday's special junior matinee, and the idea is being repeated by request. The films to be shown this Saturday are as follows:

News reel, "The Pet Store," starring Mickey Mouse; Disney's "The Wise Little Hen"; "Gingerbread Boy," starring Oswald; "Strange As It Seems;" "Out of the Ether," starring Krazy Kat; and "Mickey's Covered Wagon."

"Girl Scout Trail" Is Presented on Saturday

On Saturday afternoon the Highland Park Girl Scouts invited their parents and friends to Sunset Park to go with them along the "Girl Scout Trail," showing a few of the 52 badges included in the Girl Scout program. These interests are a part of the girls' progression through the Tenderfoot, Second Class and First Class ranks.

The activities of the home makers badges were by Troops 30, 31; Outdoor trails by troops 27, 28, 31; arts and crafts by Troops 28 and 31, nature trails by Troop 27; and Scout trails by Troops 29 and 31.

Under the able and efficient leadership of Miss Ida Backus the new acting director of the Girl Scouts of the New Trier area council this exhibition proved both instructive and interesting. Cookies, baked by the Girl Scouts, were enjoyed by all.

The Church Recovery Program Succeeding

A number of the churches are reporting a fine increase in their church attendance, and it is believed that the National Religious Recovery program is aiding in this increase.

People everywhere, through the movement, are being made church-conscious and are becoming more definitely aware of their need of God in daily life. The citizens of this city are being called upon to give this great movement their whole hearted cooperation.

Those who are of the Jewish faith are asked to go to their synagogue or temple on their day of worship. Those who are Catholic are urged to attend their church services. Those who are Protestant are called upon to likewise loyally attend the church of their choice.

All people therefore, of all walks of life, whether in business or in a profession; whether a tradesman or laborer; whether employed or unemployed; whether a secretary or housekeeper or homemaker; poor or rich, we are all called upon to go to church.

Tickets for Current Topics Are Being Sold

"Only 15c tickets will be sold for the course" was a typographical error in last week's Press article about Mrs. W. Irving Clock's current topics lectures. It should have read "Only 15c tickets will be sold for the course," which starts at 10:30 on Thursday, Nov. 1, at the home of Mrs. Roy O. Nereim.

Additions to the preliminary list of Highland Park women who are working hard to make the course a success, for the benefit of the Girl Scouts, are Mesdames Gilbert, Lloyd, B. K. Goodman, R. O. Nereim, V. C. Musser, H. A. Reading, C. V. Van Arsdale, and R. H. Hermann.

Hugh Drummond, in the person of Ronald Colman, has just sworn off adventure for life and decided to go down to Sussex and raise hollyhocks, when he gets lost in a typical London pea-soup fog, wanders into the mysterious mansion of the sinister Hindu Prince Achmed — played by Mr. Oland—and finds a murdered man in the library.

Dancer Agna Enters Will Be in Winnetka

Agna Enters, said to be America's greatest dance mime, will give a recital at New Trier High School in Winnetka on Friday evening, Oct. 26, for the benefit of the Glencoe Girl Scouts. The recital is under the direction of Ruthedz L. Pretzel, and proceeds will go to the Glencoe Girl Scout Council.

Tickets for reserved and unreserved seats may be purchased at Gsell's Drug store at any time. There is a reduction on unreserved seats bought in advance of the concert.

Miss Enters will present a program of more than a dozen dance characterizations to off-stage piano accompaniment. She will include some new dances which she is working out in Greece, where she is studying now under a Guggenheim fellowship. She has a keen sense of humor and knows how to entertain her audience. She has shining wit and high sophistication. In her serious compositions, Miss Enters shows herself to be a scholar who has made careful researches, and she recreates styles out of remote corners of the earth and distant periods of time with an uncanny gift for the right look, the right gesture. Her compositions have strange emotional interest, and although she speaks no word, as she moves in the flow and design of dance form she holds her audiences spellbound.

That we should do unto others as we would have them do unto us—that we should respect the rights of others as scrupulously as we would have our rights respected—is not a mere counsel of perfection to individuals—but it is the law to which we must conform social institutions and national policy. If we would secure the blessings and abundance of peace.—Henry George.

Things printed can never be stopped; they are like babies baptized, they have a soul from that moment, and go on forever.—Meredith.

Consumers Corner

The Institute on Consumers Problems held Wednesday afternoon and evening, Oct. 17, at the Deerfield-Shields High School in Highland Park, was, according to reports, a highly successful forum. It was held too late, however, for details to reach the paper in time for this week's issue. A summary of the talks given by Dr. James Warbasse and Dr. Paul Douglas will be presented next week. The meeting was one of the initial efforts of the new Lake County Consumers' Council to interest consumers in their own problems with a view to solving as many of them as possible.

The economics of the drought are going to affect every family in the United States this year. Everywhere are heard scares of famine prices, of complete scarcity of certain kinds of foods, and frantic urgings to buy now and hoard. What is the real truth of the matter? In a detailed report, the Bureau of Agricultural Economics has prepared an answer to that question.

There will be food enough for everybody, of all the usual kinds, not withstanding the drought, and more than last year's supply of some most important kinds. Nor will rising prices mean that all foods will go up evenly or at once. The amount of our expenditures is going to depend, as it always has, upon how we choose as well as upon the cost of what we find in the market.

So then, what have we? Grains in plenty, say the crop statisticians. That means plenty of flour and corn meal, plenty of bread, breakfast cereals, plenty of rice—plenty of "energy foods." Wheat output, when combined with last year's heavy carry-over, will provide the normal domestic needs and leave a surplus for next year.

Potatoes—both white and sweet—will be just as plentiful as last year. We will have all we can use to dried beans and peas; more than we had last year of fresh vegetables: in particular, more asparagus, snap beans, lima beans, beets, cabbage, carrots, cauliflower, green peas, and tomatoes. In addition to the fresh vegetable supplies we may expect more canned vegetables than usual; rather less of some fresh fruits but more of others, and more canned fruits.

Milk production has declined, which will lead to higher prices for butter, cheese, and whole milk, until pasture is available in the spring of 1935. In the case of butter and cheese, potential imports will offer a protection against any considerable price rise.

The production of eggs is about 10 per cent below that of a year ago and about a fifth below the average of recent years. The shortage of food crops is expected to curtail chicken and egg production for the next year.

Because of feed shortage, slaughter of livestock during the last half of 1934 will be greater than for any similar period in our history. The rise in meat prices during this period should be somewhat retarded by the heavy supply coming into the market. But this will be only a temporary situation, and after the first of the year, the shortage of meat animals will be most marked.

In conclusion, we might say that outside drought areas, higher prices will swell farm money incomes. To the users of farm products who must pay higher prices, it means a higher cost of living, but the effects are too diffuse to occasion grave individual hardship.

Farewell to Commander Evangeline Booth Oct. 25

Mrs. Charles S. Clark, president of Club Presidents, an organization numbering upwards of 300 women's clubs throughout Chicago, was appointed this week chairman of the women's groups throughout the city and suburbs in the distribution of reserve seat tickets to the civic farewell to Commander Evangeline Booth of the Salvation Army, being arranged by a committee of 200 of Chicago's leading citizens. This event will be held the evening of Oct. 25 in the Auditorium Theater. Co-operating with Mrs. Clark on the local committee covering the organizations in this community is Mrs. Harry L. Canmann, 1845 Kincaid Avenue, Highland Park.

Culture Pearls on Exhibit

An exhibit of culture pearls grown in Japan has just been added to the collection of gems and jewels in H. N. Higginbotham Hall at the Field Museum of Natural History, Chicago. The material included in this exhibit is a gift from Kokichi Mikimoto, of Tokyo, to whose years of experimentation and study the successful production of culture pearls is due. In the new exhibit is a pearl oyster with one shell removed to show the mantle in which the pearl grows. This is followed by a group of five culture pearls illustrating range in color and lustre. Another group of six culture pearls is placed with a group of six natural Oriental pearls for comparison. There is shown also a large shell with a dark mother-of-pearl margin and light center, with a black pearl growing on the dark portion and a white one on the light part, illustrating the influence of the color of the shell on the color of the pearl.

PEGGY HOPKINS JOYCE

"Flo" Ziegfeld's one 'big job' was to "glorify American womanhood." Once glorified, she rather liked it and wanted more. The lights were too dim on Broadway, the machinery of fame too skimpy and slow. The pictures gave her what she yearned for—a medium of infinite scope, California's sun for a spotlight and the whole world for her stage.

Next Saturday's photogravure section of THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS will tell how graduates from the Follies bolted the theater, swooped down on Hollywood and stole the show.
