HIGHLAND PARK ILLINOIS

Fine Arts Next
 Fine arts will be the subject of the fourth book talk in the series being given at the Highland Park Public Library on Monday evenings. On Oct. 29, at 8 o'clock, Mr. H. F. Bentley, of Armour Institute, will review Thomas Tallmadge's new book, Story of Architecture in England, and Mr. Mason Armstrong will speak on English interiors. Slides will accompany these talks. The public is cordially invited.

Lust for Life, by Irving Stone, Joseph and His Brothers, by Thomas Mann, and Mary Peters, by Mary Ellen Chase were the new action titles discussed by Mrs. A. O. Mason, Jr., Miss Enid Pearce and Miss Helen Boyce, on October 22.

Interesting Questions
 "Ask a librarian" has displaced "Ask a policeman" in the United States," a New York observer commented recently, and it is the aim of the Highland Park Public Library to be ready to answer. Reference questions asked there during September included information on the following subjects:
 How to make a box trap.
 Spanish domestic architecture.
 Date of battle of Pea Ridge.
 American Indian Day.
 Atlantias.
 Text of act setting up NRA.
 Leaf coloration.
 Easter Island.
 How to produce pageants.
 Scarabs.
 Trapping animals.
 Mexican design motifs.
 Family budgets.
 Quotations on the game of life.
 Principal crops of the states.

As bright as any in her class

But her marks were always low!

It took a wise mother to discover that poor lighting conditions were responsible for her lack of interest in home work.

Which is YOUR lamp?

Lamp 1. Bulbs are too low, sides of shade too sloping. Result—glare, deep shadows, eyestrain. Lamp 2. Bulbs at right height, shade of correct design. Result—restful light, precious eyesight protected. FREE at your Public Service Store, "Lighting Tape Measure" to test your lamps. Get it today.

THERE wasn't a pupil in the whole grade any brighter than Betty. But she hated to do homework. And her marks were always low. Betty's father said, "She's just lazy." But her mother was wiser. She visited her nearest Public Service Store and got from them a marvelous little device called "The Lighting Tape Measure." When she measured Betty's study lamp with this she found it only gave her from 1/4 to 1/2 as much light as she needed. A simple change of bulbs made all the difference in the world. And now Betty studies without a bit of coaxing.

What correct lighting is

Experts estimate that in two out of three homes, some member of the family suffers from the wrong kind of lighting. To protect eyes you should have from 20 to 30 foot-candles of light falling on the printed page. It should be properly diffused with no glare, no deep shadows, no contrasts to cause eyes to change focus frequently. Under such lighting eye tension is relieved. Your body relaxes. Your nerves relax, too.

Most women would be only too glad to protect the eyesight of their children. But they have no way of measuring the kind of light their lamps give. And so, night after night, eyes struggle on with danger of permanent injury.

How to get it

In the last few years some wonderful discoveries have been made about proper lighting. Lighting engineers have found that just by changing the position of shades, by raising or lowering the height of bulbs, and by designing a special kind of "light reflecting" shade, these handicaps to eyesight are completely overcome. Your Public Service Store has a variety of these properly designed lamps for sale. Come down and see them and at the same time learn, from our better lighting display, simple and easy ways in which you can improve the lighting in your home. And get, free, a marvelous little device called "The Lighting Tape Measure" which enables you to tell quickly whether or not each lamp in your home is providing safe light.
