

"Behind The Blue Triangle" Series Is Continued This Week

The blue sign with the letters Y. W. C. A. which swings in the breeze on the veranda of the house at 374 Laurel Avenue has various meanings to the individual in the community. As one small child was over heard to say to its nurse when passing "Look, what broadcasting station is that, Y.W.C.A.?"

"It is the hope of those who are concerned with the administration of the local Y.W.C.A. that we broadcast in the community "Service," we are told. "Saturday afternoon, the Y.W.C.A. was called by a Ravinia citizen asking if we would assist two girls who were stranded at the station. When the emergency arises the citizen is conscious of our willing services. Girls have said "I came in because I saw the friendly sign."

"If you doubt we are a local activity organization, drive your car down Laurel Avenue most any evening and see for yourself the stopping, starting and parking of cars—the people coming in and going out of the building—this will help to clear up your doubt, if you have one."

About 340 participate in the Y. W. C. A. club life through four organized adult clubs. These clubs offer an opportunity for widening acquaintances, sharing of joys and sorrows and make for unity and fellowship among women and girls in the community.

No fee is charged by the Y.W.C.A. or club membership, each club adopts its own constitution and regulates its dues. These clubs make a voluntary contribution toward the yearly maintenance of the Y.W.C.A.

The Mother's Club is one of the first organizations and provides a great need in the community in the fact the Y.W.C.A. is the center around which neighborhoods and church organizations join. The meetings are held the second Tuesday evening of each month. The membership is open to any women in the community. Because of the large membership this fall, the club offers the following departments without charge.

A choral club has been organized and directed by Miss Harriett Marks. A six weeks course in dramatics is under the direction of Miss Helen Boyce. Instructions in quilting and rug making are given each Wednesday afternoon in charge of Mrs. T. M. Marks and Mrs. H. Boyce.

There is one business girls club and one business and professional club—the B.Y.'s and the Pi Delta's. The membership of these two clubs is about 65. Meetings are held at the Y.W.C.A. twice a month. The programs are varied, they include education, recreation and service for others. The Friendship Club, which is composed of the household employees of Highland Park and vicinity, meets the first and third Thursday evenings of the month. The club is serving a great need in the community. It has been the means of helping many girls make a satisfactory adjustment in the community and in their work. It helps the girl to make new friends and provides a place for her to go on days off. A hostess is appointed from the club membership who is at the Y. W. C. A. each Thursday and Sunday afternoon whose duty it is to see that the new girl is made to feel at home when coming to the "Y" for the first time. A new club is to be organized this winter, the membership of which will include girls graduated from Deerfield-Shields in 1933 and 1934.

Clifton Utley Is Enthusiastically Received Tuesday

The first program of the season was presented by the Cuore Arte Drammatic Club last Sunday evening. The Bisson and Mars three-act comedy, "Le Sorprese Del Divozio" was presented.

Luigi Diaparra carried off honors in the role of Enrico Duval, the great musician, lover, and husband. Egizia Bertucci was Mrs. Bonevard, the meddling mother in law; she was praised for her excellent characterization of the difficult role. Florence Biagi was Diana, Duval's first wife and Mrs. Bonevard's daughter. Giannina Donnini played the part of Gabriella, Duval's second wife; she was quite a contrast to the coquettish Diana—sweet and demure and a great inspiration to Duval. Domenico Cucchi played the part of Gabriella's father, Bourgneuf, the eccentric and fun loving old man, who married Diana, young enough to be his daughter. Michael Palmisano did well in the role of Champeaux, the "chiseling" lover, who was always falling in love with someone else's wife. Joseph Rabattini was the kind, comforting, Uncle Corbulo; he characterized the part to perfection; was always at hand when his nephew Duval needed him most. Marco Bernardi, Lea Azzi, Faustina Caserari and Pellagrino were the faithful servants of the Duval house and each interpreted the character nicely.

The soloists in the program were Alma Galassini, pianist; Bruua Bertucci, musical sketch; Perlee Tintari, lyric tenor; Ena Picchietti, tenor; Joseph Rabattini, baritone; Michael Lamana, jest singer; Lorenzo Amadei, accordionist and singer. John Ugolini, president of the Cuore Arte Drammatic Club, wishes to extend his thanks in the club's behalf, to the public, and this publication for their splendid cooperation.—Contributed.

Last Football Score Contest Announced

The Highland Park Press is offering sixteen prizes in its final football score contest this week—eight winners will receive two tickets each to four different events. The first and second winners will receive two tickets each to the N.U.-Notre Dame football game in Evanston on Nov. 17th; the third and fourth winners will receive tickets to Young Men's Club football games; the fifth and sixth winners will receive Aleyon theatre tickets; and the seventh and eighth winners will receive one Ravinia Players' ticket each. See the special football contest page this week for full instructions.

The winners of last week's football contest (correct estimate 111 points) were as follows:
First—Dominic Matteoni, 215 Mc Daniels avenue, Highland Park, 131 points.
Second—Edgar Stewart, Waukegan avenue, Highwood, 141 points.
Third—Mrs. Dan Murphy, of 444 Lincoln place, Highland Park, 141 points.
Fourth—Fred Siljestrom, Highland Park, 145 points.
Fifth—Gene Bennett, 932 North St. Johns avenue, Highland Park, 147 points.
Sixth—Mrs. H. G. Murphy, 451 Glencoe avenue, Highland Park, 147 points.

Mr. Utley spoke, he drew a vivid picture, explaining in detail the tremendously difficult problem with which Doumerque has been struggling, outlining the dilemma in which Doumerque had found himself.

The party line-up in France, the attitude of the French political press and the radical political ideas were clearly sketched. Mr. Utley mentioned that in France a politician would be humiliated to belong to a party with a conservative name. The Hitler regime in Germany, Hitler and the church, was very graphically set forth; the psychology of Hitler analyzed so as to shed light on many of the moves he has made, the reason back of them, and the basis for surmises as to the probable future attitudes he will assume. This picture of the German problem was particularly interesting as Mr. Utley has spent some time in Germany recently.

The entire Saar Valley problems going back to the time when it first went under the wing of the League of Nations after the war, and the political and economic forces bearing down on it since from France on one side and Germany on the other, stood out in clear relief as Mr. Utley related the facts. The audience was able to draw its own conclusions as to what will happen when the question as to the disposition of the Saar Valley comes up for decision in 1935.

The tremendous amount of ground Mr. Utley covered and the clear way in which he pictured the problems confronting each nation today, the masterful knack he exhibited in analyzing each situation left those who heard him with a consciousness of having acquired a sane clear intelligent understanding of the real meaning of behind the news of the world affairs today.—Contributed.
