Answer To Last Week's You'd Be Surprised

January 1, 1901, was the day. The year 1900 merely completes the nineteenth century. The reason for this is that we write the number of the year before we have had the whole year. Consequently, the 19th "hundred years," or the nineteenth century, was not completed until Dec. 31, 1900.

Just as you would expect from a fine laundry service, we take care that colored fabrics are separated from the rest of your wash. Woolens and cottons, too, receive a separate washing in waters of different temperatures. To you, this care means that the clothes and other laundering you send here are going to stay natural for a longer time and wear longer, too.

Good Laundering Is Cheaper Than New Clothes.
