HIGHLAND PARK ILLINOIS

Planned Reading
Planned reading for the winter months is gaining popularity. Your library has available over sixty reading courses, prepared by specialists, each of which introduces a specific subject and outlines a course of reading which will lead toward an understanding of it; also the reading lists of certain college alumni associations; also the new Leisure League pamphlets, which cover many of the most popular hobbies and have excellent bibliographies.

If the subject in which a reader is interested is not included in these lists, the reference department will be glad to plan a course of reading on that subject. Possibilities may be suggested by the fields covered by the sixty lists mentioned above, of which representative titles are as follows:

Appreciating the Arts
Pleasure from Pictures, by Henry Turner Bailey.
American Life in Architecture, by Philip N. Youtz.
Ears to Hear, by Daniel Gregory Mason.
Appreciation of Sculpture, by Lorado Taft.

Books to Be Remembered
Twentieth Century American Novels, by William Lyon Phelps.
Poetry of Our Times, by Marguerite Wilkinson.
Russian Literature, by Avraham Yarmolinsky.
Great American Books, by Dallas Lore Sharp.
The Modern Essay, by Samuel McChord Crothers.

Interesting Men and Events
Ten Pivotal Figures of History, by A. W. Vernoh.
Americans from Abroad, by John Palmer Gavitt.
Europe of Our Day, by Herbert A. Gibbons.
Practice of Politics, by Raymond Moley.

Thinking for Ourselves
Frontiers of Knowledge, by Jesse Lee Bennett.
Philosophy, by Alexander Meiklejohn.
Religion in Everyday Life, by Sir Wilfred Grenfell.
Developing Mind and Body
Our Children, by M. V. O'Shea.
Psychology and Its Use, by Everett Dean Martin.
Human Body and Its Care, by Morris Fishbein.
Mental Hygiene, by Frankwood E. Williams.

Our Fellow Man
Capital and Labor, by John A. Fitch.
Conflicts in American Public Opinion, by William Allen White and Walter E. Myer.
Latin America, by James G. McDonald.
Foreign Relations of the United States, by Paul Scott Mowrer.
Sociology, by H. W. Odum.
What Man Has Learned
Evolution, by Sir J. Arthur Thomson.

Invention and Society, by Waldemar Kaempffert.
The Stars, by Harlow Shapley.
Occupations and Hobbies
Advertising, by Ernest Elmo Calkins.
Short Story Writing, by Blanche Colton Williams.
Adventures in Flower Gardening, by S. B. Mitchell.
Salesmanship, by John Alford Stevenson.

How Planned Reading Works
One woman who is interested in modern poetry is using the course called Poetry of Our Own Times to enrich her background. This little book introduces the reader to the subject by telling her what poetry has to give and how to begin its study, followed by material on the poets of England, Ireland and America. The books recommended in the course are then briefly described or reviewed and a complete list is given in the back. Among those suggested for modern poetry are the following:
The Enjoyment of Poetry, by Max Eastman.
New Voices, by Marguerite Wilkinson.
Little Book of Modern Verse, ed. by Jessie B. Rittenhouse.
The New Poetry, ed. by Harriet Monroe.
Modern American and British Poetry, ed. by Louis Untermeyer.

Perhaps one of the reading lists at the library is devoted to that subject, more about which you want to learn but on which you have never started reading. Start now! Make this winter count!

Gas Users Get Free Burner Adjustments

Much comment has been occasioned in recent years by the increasing number of free services rendered motorists by certain gasoline filling stations. The general impression seems to be that this custom represents the last word in service; yet, as a matter of fact, the filling stations will have to include free adjustment of customers' spark plugs if they want to come up to the standard of service set by the gas company.

About once each year, residents of this district can figure on having a trained service man call at their homes to check up on all burners. No charge is made for this service. Gas users may wonder why this inspection is considered worth while when there is little to get out of order in a burner. As a matter of fact, no adjustment is necessary for the majority of burners; nevertheless, in the course of a year, some will need attention. This generally results through the air portholes being accidentally jarred enough to change their position, or they may be turned by overly energetic cleaning and dusting around the burners.

Y.W.C.A. NOTES

Terese O'Neil Dancing Class Begins Second Term
Terese O'Neil an associate of Merriel Abbott School of Dance in Chicago, has started her second term—ballet, acrobatic, tap and modern German are included in her classes. These lessons are held at the Y. W. C. A. each Friday. Schedule of classes:

Morning - 10:30, Ladies class; 2:30, Pre-school age child; 3:45 School children (all ages) class; 4:45 Intermediate class (all ages).

Those wishing to begin should register at once. 67 were registered in the four classes the first term, as follows: 7 in the pre-school age class; 30 in the school children class; 11 in the intermediate class and 18 in the ladies morning class. Miss O'Neil is not only a recognized teacher of dance but the arrangement of the Abbott dancers in the Empire room of the Palmer House, are under her direction, as well as other Abbott shows.

Elizabeth Bredin to Speak
At the regular meeting Thursday, January 17, members and friends of the club will have the pleasure of hearing Miss Elizabeth Bredin speak. The subject will be "As Others See You." A test designed to give you a general estimate of your personal popularity and your aptitude for making friends, will be given. This will be followed by a "White Elephant Sale." Each girl is to bring a gift which can be auctioned off. Gifts are to be wrapped in disguise. It helps to make the fun.

The household employees are to have an Arts and Craft Exhibit at the Y.W.C.A. the last Thursday of the month, January 31. There will be a display of arts and craft, handy things you might like to make, pick up work for your odd times.

Should you be interested in making any of the exhibits, there will be an instructor here for the afternoon. Come early and plan to stay late. There will be an informal tea at 4:30 o'clock. Any girl in Highland Park is invited to take advantage of this opportunity. Miss Estelle Busher is acting as temporary chairman.

Babies! Interesting Photographs of Queer Babies of the Animal World and Their Adoring Parents Will Be Found in The American Weekly, the Magazine Distributed with NEXT SUNDAY'S CHICAGO HERALD AND EXAMINER.

Lake Forest College Gives Junior Formal

The outstanding social affair of the season, the Junior Formal Promenade, will be held Friday night in the Institute Hall of Lake Forest College. "Tweet" Hogan, popular in collegiate circles, will furnish the music. The prom queens, Miss Betty Karnes of Evanston and Miss Marie Kinzer of Lake Forest, will be accompanied by Richard Widmark of Evanston and Uno Lake of Lake Forest, respectively.
