Mrs. Lloyd Faxon To Give Book Review Program Next Tuesday

Weather conditions were not very favorable for the January program in Mrs. Faxon's course, but a large number gathered to hear her review H. G. Wells' Autobiography, reluctant to miss one of these valuable mornings.

One woman was heard to say, "My heart fell a bit when I heard Mrs. Faxon announce what she had chosen to give, as I did not expect to enjoy it, however long before she finished I realized I would not have missed it for anything, and though I came in all the way from River Forest, I felt amply repaid for the trip."

Women are urged not to let anything interfere with their presence next Tuesday morning at ten o'clock at the home of Mrs. A. J. Metzler on Sycamore Place. These programs are open to the public and tickets may be obtained at the door.

Royal Neighbors Install Officers

The installation of officers of the Royal Neighbors of America, Camp 5126 of Highland Park, was held on Wednesday evening, Jan. 23, at the camp headquarters on North Sheridan Road. The installation ceremonies were conducted by the district deputy, Carrie Krueger, who presided as installing officer, and Ann Schaefer of the Logan Square Camp, who served as ceremonial marshal. The camp room was beautifully arranged and decorated with flowers and colors of purple and white, emblematical of the Royal Neighbors. This color scheme was carried throughout the other decorations. Every detail was splendidly taken care of by the chairman and her committee.

The following officers were installed for the ensuing year: Oracle, Florence Welch; vice oracle, Edith Woodbury; chancellor, Mable Duffy; recorder, Ann Vander Bloomen; marshal, Helen Hayward; marshal, Florence Yager; assistant marshal, Ida Carlson; inner sentinel, Bertha Bonson; outer sentinel, Josephine Gerkin; managers, August Butler and Ollie Ferguson; musician, Mayme Gilkison;—five graces, faith, Pearl Maiman; courage, May Hansen; modesty, Irma Plumb; unselfishness, Ruth Johnson; endurance, Francis Cote; flag bearer, Elizabeth Dittmer, captain of degree staff, Ida Carlson.

Four Candidates May Run for Position of Township Supervisor

If present rumors develop into fact, indications are that there will be four candidates in the field for the office of township supervisor at the township election on April 2. William Obee, present supervisor is definitely known to be a candidate for re-election and it has been stated that William Witten and William Steele will also be candidates. Arthur Swanson, who it is rumored decided to run and then changed his mind, is believed to be reconsidering it and may throw his hat into the ring after all.

As far as the two offices for assistant supervisors is concerned, no one is as yet reported as being even possible candidates for election. It is probable that the primary election is at present claiming the attention of some who, while perhaps not primary candidates, may find time for township affairs after the primaries are disposed of.

Presbyterian Church Service

On Sunday, Feb. 3, at the eleven o'clock service, Dr. Sherwin will preach on "Elijah" and the music presented will be taken from Mendelssohn's Oratorio of that name.

The excerpts to be given include the quartet "Lord, bow thine ear to my prayer," the immortal tenor solo "If, with all your hearts," the widow's poignant plea to the "Man of God" Elijah "Help Me, Man of God," Elijah's humble petition to God "Turn unto her," and Elijah's later discouraged outburst "It is Enough."

Organ arrangements of "He is watching over Israel" and "Thanks be to God" will be used from the oratorio as prelude and postlude.
