

D'Oyly Carte Opera Announces Two Week Chicago Repertory

The repertory has just been announced by the world-famous D'Oyly Carte Opera Company, from the Savoy Theatre, London, for its limited engagement of two weeks only in Chicago. The Savoyards, as they are called, begin their eagerly awaited engagement at the Erlanger Theatre in Chicago on Monday, March 4.

Theatergoers and music lovers in this territory are fortunate in having an opportunity to see the ever-popular Gilbert and Sullivan operas, performed in the traditional manner set down by the creators, by these gifted and versatile visitors from abroad. Their recent engagement in New York, in Philadelphia and in Boston, all proved far too short to accommodate all who wished to see them.

The engagement in Chicago is definitely confined to two weeks, as the American tour is limited. Those in charge of the repertory for Chicago have chosen a wise and well-distributed list of popular operas.

For the first week, starting Monday, March 4, the bill for the opening will be "The Gondoliers," the last opera written by Gilbert and Sullivan that is frequently revived. Colorful, gay and tuneful this opera was used to introduce the Savoyards to New York, Philadelphia and Boston, as it offers a splendid medium for the exploitation of each member of the cast and the ensembles are brilliant.

On Tuesday evening and Wednesday matinee and evening "Cox and Box" will be followed by "H. M. S. Pinafore."

On Thursday and Friday evenings "Iolanthe" will be given, and on Saturday matinee and evening "Trial by Jury" followed by "The Pirates of Penzance."

For the second week, opening Monday evening and Tuesday evening "The Yeomen of the Guard." On Wednesday matinee and evening, "The Gondoliers" will be repeated, and on Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings and Saturday matinee "The Mikado" will be given.

Matinees are given on Wednesday and Saturday, and on Sunday performances will be given.

The public seat sale for all performance during the engagement starts Monday, Feb. 25, and in the meantime mail orders with remittances will be filled in the order received.

Deerfield Girl Scouts Have Fine Dinner

Miss Ida Bacchus, acting local director of the New Trier Council of Girl Scouts, was the guest speaker Friday evening at the mother-daughter dinner at the Deerfield Presbyterian Church. Over ninety Girl Scouts and their mothers attended. Her interesting talk pertained to "Camp Life for Girl Scouts."

Dr. Dorothy Davis, captain of Deerfield Girl Scout Troop Two, showed a reel of life at Camp Hickory Hills in Wisconsin.

Badges were awarded to those who had completed certain projects. It was a very interesting meeting and the girls are eagerly looking forward to next summer when many plan to go camping.

Many of these girls are at present busily engaged in taking subscriptions for the Deerfield Press. The money they earn will be used for their camping expenses.

Pageant Suggested for Deerfield's 100 Years

The proposal of a pageant in observance of the one hundredth birthday anniversary of Deerfield has met with great favor and many people have telephoned the local editor offering their suggestions. All thus far have voiced the same sentiment—a pageant.

They think it apropos to give an historical pageant, with authentic facts of Deerfield, directed by a well trained person accustomed to such work, with information furnished by the descendants of local pioneers.

The pageant is an excellent idea, requiring community support. It would take a large cast of characters and a tremendous amount of work. Another suggestion was that it should not be commercialized.

Other suggestions for a fitting observance of Deerfield's centennial year are welcome and they may be sent to Mrs. Robert E. Pettis for publication.

Plymouth Engineers Explain Roadability

The great difference between the higher price cars and those of the lower cost, according to Plymouth engineers, was always in the matter of the ride. Wheelbase was considered the explanation, but the fact was that the front springs, being short, were stiff. Plymouth has now produced the first short spring in automobile history that is soft and resilient, but long lived. It is a new design and required the use of a new spring steel.

In the 1935 Plymouth front and rear springs carry approximately the same weight, have the same frequency—all parts of the chassis ride the same.

Front end bounce is controlled by double-acting shock absorbers on the front springs. Sidesway is eliminated by the use of a torsion spring at the front, which keeps the car level under all conditions.

Deerfield Scouts Taking Subscriptions

Boy and Girl Scouts of Deerfield are taking subscriptions to the Deerfield Press, beginning their work this week. The money they earn will be used for camping expenses.
