Tisbo Changes His Plea to "Guilty"

with guns and robbed him of more than $400 in cash which he was forced to remove from a cashbox. They also took a diamond ring valued at $50 from him.

Thomas Jameson, who was eating a sandwich and enjoying a glass of beer at the time of the holdup, testified that one of the bandits came up to him and said:

"This is a stick up."
Jameson said he did not pay attention to the bandit and told him that he had not had an introduction. The bandit remarked, "This will introduce us," and slugged Jameson with the butt of the gun.

Both Milani and Jameson identified Tisbo as one of the four men who held up the place.

As Mrs. Milani was to be brought to the witness stand, counsel for Tisbo and his relatives held a private discussion. Tisbo, through Attorney Miller, entered a plea of guilty to robbery.

In connection with Michael's case, State's Attorney Charles E. Mason received some unusual co-operation from the officials of Wisconsin. Michael had expressed a willingness to testify in the Waukegan trial against Tisbo, but the problem of getting him out of Wisconsin and the jurisdiction of the Wisconsin courts was a stumbling block.

Through the efforts of State's Attorney Mason, with the co-operation of the attorney general's office at Madison and the warden of Waukegan, Monecznyk was brought here by Deputies Tom Kennedy and Stanley Christian, accompanied by a Wisconsin official.

State's Attorney Mason declared that this was one of the few times that a prisoner has been let out of a Wisconsin penitentiary to testify outside of the state. He expressed his appreciation of the willingness of the Wisconsin officials to help him in the prosecution of the case.

DENTISTS COMPLETE CREDIT BUREAU

The Lake County Branch of the Illinois Dental Credit Association has been completed. The purpose is to protect the dentists against widespread abuses of credit privileges.

"A complete compilation of names of account not in a satisfactory condition has been drawn up," it was stated by a spokesman for the bureau, "and information will be distributed to members of the organization on May 20."

By "accounts not in a satisfactory condition" it was explained that the bureau means those accounts which are outstanding 90 days or more. The compilation of information will be renewed every 90 days and will be supplied to the main bureau by attending dentists.

The necessity for such a bureau has arisen from the presence of so-called "floaters," it was stated, who make a policy of applying to one dental office for services, run up a bill there, and then go on to another office without meeting charges already accrued in the first office.

Through the bureau, it is hoped to protect dentists against such a practice and to influence patrons to maintain their accounts in a satisfactory condition.

It is a known fact that practically all other business and professional men have either their own credit bureau or have access to credit ratings. Therefore the dentists founded their own organization of credit information.

Sponsors of the bureau assert that virtually all ethical practicing dentists from Highland Park to and including Waukegan are affiliated with the bureau.

The Illinois Dentist Credit Association has many branches besides the Lake County branch, including those in many cities throughout the state. The following nearby towns are represented: Evanston, Wilmette, Glencoe, Park Ridge and Winnetka.

STAGE SCREEN RADIO
by Diane Benedict

Hollywood's famous colony of movie blondes is holding indignation meetings these days. The news has reached them that RKO Radio is demanding a large quantity of striking brunette chorus girls for "Top Hat" the new Fred Astaire-Ginger Rogers' musical film now in production. The biggest dance number is set in Italy, at the famous Lido, Venice, and director Mark Sandrich must have forty girls and forty boys whose color scheme is dark, hence the gnashing for pearly teeth among the tow-heads. With a complete score by Irving Berlin, the hit-maker, "Top Hat" is expected to top the famous series of Astaire-Rogers' films. Robert Adair, and Edgar Norton have just been added to the cast, already containing Erik Rhodes, Eric Blore, Edward Everett Horton, and Helen Broderick.

"The Return of Peter Grimm," one of the greatest stage hits ever produced by the late David Belasco, will be made into a film drama. Kenneth Macgowan will produce, and George Nichols Jr. will direct it. No star has been chosen. Belasco, author as well as producer, staged the play at the Belasco Theatre in New York in 1921, as a starring vehicle for David Warfield, and it ran 231 performances. Thomas Meighan was among the supporting artists. "Peter Grimm" was made as a silent picture in 1926, with Janet Gaynor and Alec B. Francis in the leading roles. Francis Faragoh has been assigned to adapt the play for the screen.

When their appetites proved bigger than their pocketbooks, four Hollywood girls had to turn dishwashers to pay for a luncheon check. Dale Dee, Dixie Dean, Dorothy White and Lois Bailey, members of the chorus of the musical romance "Hooray for Love" went to a restaurant near the studio for lunch. Their combined finances fell short of meeting the check. As a poke the manager ordered them to the kitchen to work out the balance by washing dishes. From now on the girls say their motto will be: "Look before we eat."

The recent program at the Pearl Theatre sponsored by the Dante Alighieri Club, an amateur organization, included two well known vocal stars as guest artists. The soprano was the charming Marie Ceccarini, whose beautiful voice has been heard on a great number of North Shore and Chicago concert programs and also on various programs over the ether waves. She sang "One Fine Day" from "Madame Butterfly" in a Japanese scene, Denza's "Torna," "Ciribiribin," the Indian Love Call from "Rose Marie," "Waters of the Minnetonka," and a selection entitled "Buddah's Chant." She was assisted by Adam Luchetti, tenor, who is heard nightly on a radio program originating from Chicago. His part of the program included "Pale Moon," a duet with Mlle. Ceccarini and several popular selections. These two fine artists were received with much applause and appreciation by an enthusiastic audience of fans and friends. They added much to the program with their beautiful, resonant, voices, and ability to engage the audience with their charming interpretations of the scores to the complete enjoyment and understanding of everyone.
