"Now, about BRAKES..."

"Just look at this - the brakes on this new Ford V-8 have more braking surface per pound of car weight than you'll find on any other car less than $1095.

"Also, Ford is using full 12-inch brake drums, so you need less pressure on the pedal to do the job inside the brake.

"And more than that, Ford uses big 6 x 16-inch air balloon tires, so that your Ford brakes get a good grip on the road--any road!"

YOUR Ford dealer will answer your questions today as he answers the brake question above . . . with facts, not general claims.

Safety?—Besides the bigger and better new Ford brakes, there's a welded all-steel body, a low, rigid, double channel X-type frame, welded steel-spoke wheels. There's even safety glass all around on all new Fords at no extra cost!

Comfort and room?—You'll find more room in this Ford V-8 than in many cars costing hundreds of dollars more. New weight distribution and the new 123/4-inch springbase make this possible—and with it, a "front-seat ride" for every passenger.

Thrifty operation?—Economy of the V-8 Ford engine is proved by now—and new refinements make this one even easier on gas and oil. New parts and labor always, cost little on a Ford V-8, and few adjustments are ever needed. Go to your Ford dealer today. See this car. Drive it. Question it. You'll find the best answers to all your questions in the Ford V-8 itself.
