Sunset's Bump-A-Long To Be Held June 27

Excellent progress is being made on the program for "Bump Along Day" at Sunset Valley Golf Club, June 27. The event will be under the direction of George ("Fuzz") O'Connell, who wants it known to every one that it will be a gala day of fun with prizes and entertainment.

The chairman states that Curt Scheunemann is the top-notch salesman in having sold the greatest number of tickets. A number of other members are close to Curt's record and have asked for additional tickets. Indications from sale of tickets point to the biggest "day" Sunset Valley has ever seen. Evidently, says Fuzz, the members are very much in favor of this type of program which may become an annual affair.

There will be many attractions and plenty of laughs. "Shoes" Rosenthal has promised to be there with his tribe of "Indians" from the Great Smoky Region. Fur Traders under Trapper O'Connell will mush their way through the course and "Doc" Schur will be "Captain Maxwell" of the Show Boat on the Big Third Lake.

Highland Park Girls Exhibit Art Work at Chicago Academy

Miss Madeline Bliss of 522 North Linden avenue, Highland Park, is this year completing her specialized two years course at the Chicago Academy of Fine Arts in the department of fashion illustration and commercial art. Miss Bliss has come under the expert training of former academy students who are now engaged in the fashion art profession on newspapers or creating timely fashion illustrations for the major department stores or manufacturers. Miss Eleanor Austin, 884 De Tamble avenue, has been engaged in art essential projects, drawing and painting from the figure, color, design and lettering and layout in its relation to essential phases of the profession of commercial art. Much can be expected of Miss Austin through a continued development of her splendid talent according to her instructors. The students' drawings will be on exhibit in the Chicago Academy of Fine Arts studios at 18 South Michigan avenue June 13 to 16. The public is invited.
