CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, June 23.

The Golden Text was, "Thou art worthy, O Lord, to receive glory and honour and power: for thou hast created all things, and for thy pleasure they are and were created" (Revelation 4:11).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "O Lord, how manifold are thy works! In wisdom hast thou made them all: the earth is full of thy riches. Thou sendest forth thy spirit, they are created: and thou renewest the face of the earth" (Psalms 104:24, 30).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "All things are created spiritually. Mind, not matter, is the creator. Love, the divine Principle, is the Father and Mother of the universe, including man" (p. 256).

On the occasion of its 100th anniversary this church through its ministry extends its congratulations to the village and prays that coming years may bring to fruition the highest hopes, ambitions and dreams of the past.
"O God our help in ages past Our hope for years to come;
Our shelter from the stormy blast And our eternal home."

A Scene of Deerfield's History

Left to right—Mrs. Irving Brand in the role of Mrs. Philip Ott; Barbara Ashman as Adelia Wilmet holding a china-headed doll 73 years old belonging to the George Karch family; Marolyn Gagne in the part of her ancestor, Sarah Ott, and Mary Jane Galloway as Rosilla Cadwell, Deerfield's first teacher. The picture was taken in the E. B. Jordan home in the part owned by a pioneer, Alfred Parsons.

Sunday closes the second quarter of the year. Not enough questions have come in to make a discussion worth while. Since several important lessons of the quarter were not considered the pastor has chosen one of the most important of these for this last Sunday. Members are kindly asked to turn back to the lesson for May 12.

Public Library Notes

National Library Meeting
The fifty-seventh conference of the American Library Association is being held this week from June 24-29 in Denver. This will call together between two and three thousand members of the profession. The general topic for consideration at this conference will be "Looking at Ourselves" with President Compton's address at the first general session leading off with a discussion of "Ourselves and Other People." Forty years ago, 147 librarians met at Denver and Colorado Springs, and the program for that meeting consisted of only eight sessions. The program for 1935 will consist of four general sessions, some thirty round table and sections, and two affiliated national societies.

Miss Elizabeth Wyant of Chicago, formerly a member of the library staff, and Miss Dorothy Tear of the Deerfield-Shields library are driving to Denver to attend the conference.

Newberry Medal
The award of the Newberry medal for the best book of the year for boys and girls is made each year at this meeting. Watch this space next week for announcement.

A Summer Pastime
"Anyone who can sign his own name can obtain quite a good deal of fun from sketching. It is not necessary to be an artist to draw a toasting-fork man for instance. We all drew large numbers of toasting-fork men in our school days; sometimes we drew them on a wall or the blackboard with a piece of foraged chalk, and sometimes we decorated the fly-leaves of our school books with them in pencil or scrawled them in ink with a deplorable pen-nib.
"With schoolboys, the toasting-fork man is a very popular figure, and yet it is not easy to discover wherein lies his charm. He is about as uninteresting as could be; he is made to a recipe and turned out in mass-production quantities. His own mother couldn't pick her toasting-fork son from a dozen others, so much alike are they: and yet despite this regrettable lack of personality and character your toasting-fork man has possibilities. Great possibilities, too.
"You can do wonders with the fellow if you handle him properly. Let us see what we can do."

Criminals Shun Chicago Says T. J. Courtney

Criminals are now shunning Chicago as midwestern headquarters for their operations, according to figures just made public by the state's attorney's office of Cook County, showing the growth of penitentiary sentences following conviction.

The figures of the "before and after" periods speak eloquently of what the crime fighters are accomplishing.

In the seven years before Thomas J. Courtney, present state's attorney, came to office the percentage of those convicted who got penitentiary sentences ran from 40 to 50 per cent.
In 1926, 987 defendants were sentenced to the penitentiary, or 44 per cent of the number convicted; in 1927, 849 defendants received penitenitary sentences, or only 36 per cent of the number convicted; in 1931, the number of defendants sent to the penitentiary rose to 1211, or 43 per cent.

Under a drive directed by Mr.
Courtney in 1932 this number rose to 1564, or 52 per cent of the total convictions for that period; and in 1934 to 2036, or 69 per cent of the total convictions.

Whereas in former years only five to five of every ten men convicted were sent to the penitentiary, now seven out of ten go there.

Recent records show that 85 per cent of the cases tried in the criminal court result in findings of guilty.
That 69 per cent or more of these can be headed toward the penitentiary is the important point in the record. The fact that criminals now know they face the "Big House" rather than a brief term in the Bridewell is a powerful check to criminal activities. It is believed responsible for a continuously lowering ratio of crime to population in Chicago.

Professional criminals are finding it increasingly unprofitable and inconvenient to ply their trade, according to the report from the state's attorney's office. The impressive file of criminals headed for the penitentiary puts terror into the hearts of the most hardened, and has resulted in Chicago becoming a "hot spot" for criminals, the report states.

Former Deerfield Son Writes Home

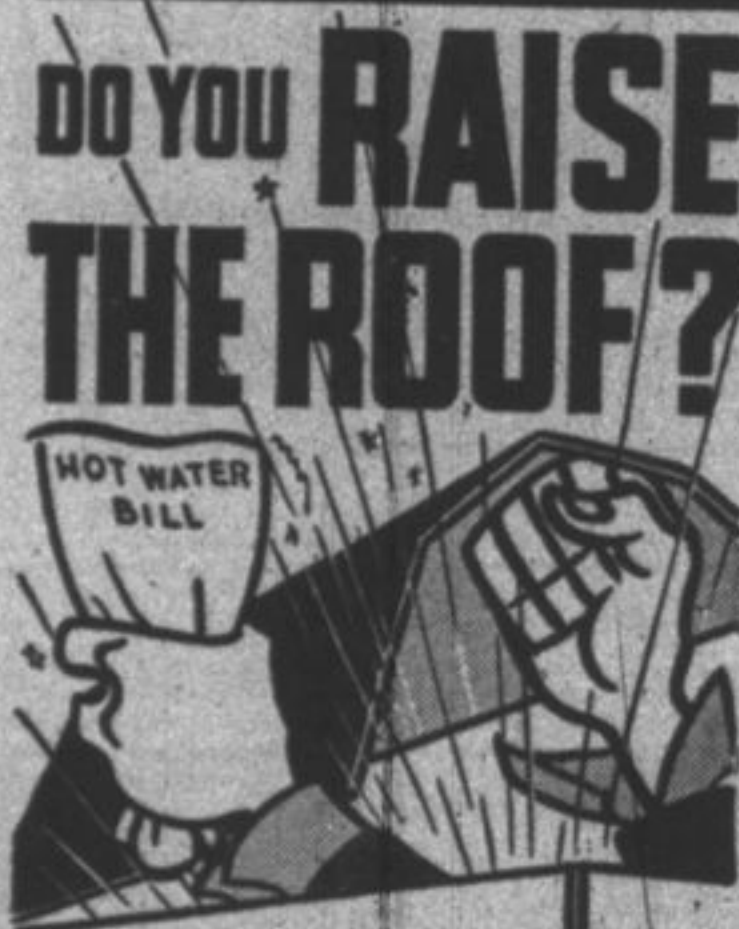

Hawkeye, Iowa, June 24
Mrs. Lewis Ashman
Deerfield, Illinois
Dear Madam:
I saw in The Highland Park Press that you are getting out a map of Deerfield and would like very much to have one, as Deerfield is my birthplace. The last time I was there was when my sister, Mrs. Ed Wil-mann, was buried.

I have an old relic—an ox yoke that my grandfather, Christian Wil-mann, made out of a walnut tree from the O'Brien Woods in the year 1848. The yoke was given to me by Henry Faust, a first cousin of my father. The Faust family and El-cher family moved to Iowa in the spring of 1854, using this yoke.
Henry Faust was two years old at the time, and my grandfather went along with them, walking back home from Lawler, Iowa.

Yours very truly
A. W. Willman

Duffy Cleaners To Play Garagemen
