D.A.R. Better Films Committee In Review August 15, Thursday "The Informer" with Victor McLaglen. Teachers of the social sciences and of literature will find in the screen version of Lram O'Flaherty's psychological novel a dramatization of the bitter days that preceded the establishment of the Irish Free State. Bravely and beautifully directed by John Ford. The photograph presents an unforgettable picture of the slums of Dublin during the historic riots of a dozen years ago. The tragic story of a young Irishman who betrays his friend and overcomes with remorse, confesses and pays the penalty with his life. A skillfully directed and well acted picture with outstanding work by Victor McLaglen. Mature.

August 16, 17, Friday and Saturday Edmund Lowe in "Black Sheep." Comedy drama. A sea-going gambler waxes romantic while doing wealthy liner passengers out of their possessions.

August 18, 19, Sunday and Monday "Break of Hearts" featuring Katherine Hepburn. Aptly named is this romance of two musicians. A young composer and her philandering conductor husband. Unusual introductions of symphonic music. At times the photography of Miss Hepburn is breath-takingly beautiful.
