

LIONS TO HEAR IRENE CASTLE McLAUGHLIN

Members of the Highland Park Lions club will hear an address at their noon meeting in the Green Tea Pot today, by Mrs. Irene Castle McLaughlin, founder of "Orphans of the Storm," well known dog refuge.

It is the only dog shelter of its kind in the mid-west, where over 4,000 dogs have been placed in homes, not promiscuously, either, as with each dog placed, a contract containing ten clauses is signed by the person who provides the home. Each clause is important; for instance, one states that if the animal is sick, either medical aid is to be procured, or the dog is to be returned to the association for medical treatment. It behooves us to state right here that this is an institution which has a heavy overhead and requires dollars and cents to maintain.

The very complete hospital is only one of many conveniences which is a part of the refuge.

Mrs. McLaughlin gives each case personal attention. In the early afternoon, she arrives at Orphans of the Storm. People are waiting for her. A man with a Chow with an eye disorder, a woman with a sick puppy needing medicine, a couple who wish to take a dog, perhaps two, as they have a large place, "it must be a dog or dogs fond of children"—these are only a few of the multitudinous duties attached to the placing of the right dog in the right home.

An important feature which is stressed: "Be sure you really want one of our orphans before adopting it, as after you take a pet, it cannot be given away or sold. If for any reason one decides not to keep the dog, it must be returned to Orphans of the Storm. These dogs are not sold, but a small donation is asked to help with the upkeep of the refuge. A collar is provided for each dog. This must be worn at all times as it bears the telephone number of Orphans of the Storm. In the event that the dog is lost, this insures a safe return to the home of the animal."

Mrs. McLaughlin advises a new owner to "keep a new dog in until he knows and loves his home — take him on a leash. No dog that is well cared for is going to run away to root in alley garbage cans when he gets good food at home."

"Don't give your dog long sharp bones such as 'drum sticks.' They are apt to puncture the intestines and kill the dog in a painful manner. Your dog deserves a clean comfortable bed, free from dampness and draught. A cold or damp floor is not suitable bed for a loyal dog who is ever ready to render you service."
