Discuss Plans for Chest Campaign

Twelve Local Agencies Join H. P. Community Chest Organization

Some fifty interested Highland Park citizens attended a special meeting of the temporary board of directors of the newly organized Highland Park Chest Monday evening, Sept. 16, in the auditorium of the Public Library.

The meeting was called for the purpose of receiving all reports regarding agency membership in the Chest and the acceptance of budget allotments, also to elect a permanent board of directors, and to discuss preliminary arrangements for the first Chest campaign to be held this fall.

Temporary president, Alfred T. Sihler, who presided, stated that the temporary board of directors was gratified to announce that the 12 Highland Park social and welfare agencies which had qualified for membership in the Chest and had been invited to membership, had accepted unanimously. The responses, he said, had been whole-hearted on the part of each, which augurs well for the united financial campaign to be conducted this fall.

The twelve agencies accepting membership are: H. P. Social Service, H. P. Hospital Association; Woman's Hospital Auxiliary, Arden Shore Association, H. P. Ravinia Center of Infant Welfare Society, Y.W.C.A., Skokie Area Council of Girl Scouts, North Shore Area Council of Boy Scouts, Red Cross, Northwestern Settlement, Dorcas Home, H. P. Feeding Clinic.

The total budget for the campaign and the individual allotment of funds to member agencies will be announced shortly by the campaign committee.

The yards are located on N. St. Johns avenue, between the North Western railroad and the North Shore line tracks just north of Elm place. Present plans provide for the construction of five tanks to hold 36,000 gallons of oil each. Constructed of steel set in concrete, they will be as near fireproof as possible.

A Harbor for Highland Park

Anyone who has lived in Highland Park for any length of time will recall that there have been various epidemics of interest toward the end of establishing a harbor on our lake front.

In the early days of this city considerable commercial activity was carried on in the lumbering industry when old sailing lumber schooners unloaded their cargoes of logs at Fletcher's pier at the foot of Park avenue. The boiler of the old saw mill still rests in the sand and water near the shore end of the row of piles which is all that is left of the old pier.

All of this is still very clear in the minds and memories of many of the older residents of Highland Park, but just stories and legends to present younger generations.

In recent years there has developed the strong interest in water sports, motor boating, sailing and canoeing not only in Highland Park but along this densely populated North Shore district as well.

At present one of the largest fleets of star class racing yachts in the whole country is located at Wilmette harbor.

The local yachting enthusiasm has been confined within very close limits because of the conditions of Nature and lack of proper protection from the storms which we have on Lake Michigan.

Five or six years ago there was a wave of activity towards a harbor. Engineers from a large Chicago construction company showed movies and gave estimates for a proposed harbor at Highland Park. However, the movement died out due to inability of raising sufficient subscription to cover the job.

In the early part of this summer a bill was introduced by Congressman Ralph Church proposing the establishing of a coast guard station at Highland Park. This bill has been referred to the Rivers and Harbors committee for further consideration.

And now with the vast funds which have been released for public projects the securing of the long desired harbor for our city seems even more possible. Toward this end steps are being taken to prepare the proposal which will be presented before the U. S. engineers for approval.

A survey of yachting interest is being carried on to determine the number of boats, sail and power, which would be attracted to the harbor when it is completed.

It is hoped that all who are interested in this program will express their criticisms, suggestions and opinion to the committee carrying on the movement. All such communications can be addressed to Davis C. Greene at 22-N. Linden avenue, Highland Park.

CITIZENS OBSERVE CONSTITUTION DAY

Residents Honor Foundation of National Government Law Code

Citizens of Highland Park met Tuesday evening in the Highland Park city council chambers to join Highland Park's participation in the nation-wide observance of Constitution Day.

Speakers of the meeting, which was called to order by Edwin Gilroy, commander of Dumaresq Spencer Post of the American Legion, were Robert Kinare, judge advocate of the Department of Illinois of the Legion; Commissioner Joseph Taylor and Mayor William Dooley. The invocation was pronounced by Henry Hansen, chaplain of the Highland Park Legion post.

Mayor Dooley, who was introduced by Commander Gilroy, delivered the following address: "It has been established custom of the people of the United States to observe and to commemorate in becoming fashion certain eventful days in the nation's history.

"Everyone knows and understands the significance of Washington's birthday, Lincoln's birthday, Independence day, and several other day of equal significance. They bring to our minds glorious deeds of valor and heroism around which the nation's history has been written.

"What would history be without them? Where would we find a true definition of freedom and independence without them? And yet it is a fact, sad to relate, that sinister forces of socialism and communism are right now more than ever at work to overthrow and to destroy that priceless heritage of freedom and independence guaranteed to us by the immortal constitution of the United States.

"Although it has never been given the dignity of a legal holiday, Constitution Day is, never-the-less, a day of importance and its importance is being heralded and emphasized at this very hour all over the length and breadth of this land, in unmistakable terms of warning to the enemies of our system of government that it must be honored and accepted, 'lock, stock, and barrel,' without crossed fingers or mental reservation or secret evasion, will be promptly driven out and forever banished from our shores.

"I appreciate and am deeply grateful to Dumaresq Spencer Post of the American Legion for the privilege and opportunity of participating in this Constitution Day program. I am pleased at this fine turnout. It is a nice demonstration of the patriotism of our citizens and if an official welcome will add anything to the enthusiasm and spirit of the occasion I am sure that every member of the city council joins me in extending to you a very hearty and most sincere welcome."

EMPLOYMENT SERVICE AS RELIEF MEASURE

Seek to Carry on Work of Removed State Free Employment Office

In order to replace, insofar as is possible, the service formerly available to Highland Parkers through the state employment office, of which Highland Park was recently deprived, the Social Service, working in cooperation with the Highland Park Woman's club has arranged for a service to provide day work for those in need of employment.

It is announced that residents desiring work done around their yards or in their homes may secure workers by calling Highland Park 2427, during morning hours only, where persons desiring work will be registered.

Permanent positions will not be available through the service, but it is hoped that many odd jobs may be secured for those in need of employment.

Plans for the project were completed late last week by a committee composed of Mrs. Nellie P. Flinn, of the Highland Park Social Service, Mrs. E. T. B. Morley, president of the Highland Park Woman's club, Mrs. A. L. Berg, Mrs. Francis Parker, of the Woman's club and Mr. Harold Alsop of the Central Employment Service.
