"Built to

Says Frank Buck,
Famous Explorer

"Treking" through the jungles has taught me that there is no substitute for ruggedness and dependability in a motor car. For over 20 years Dodge has been famous for these qualities.
Everybody knows a Dodge can "take it."

Added to these attributes Dodge has been smashing all economy records—and as for the new 1935 Dodge... there are reports from new Dodge owners all over the country stating they are getting 18 to 24 miles to the gallon of gasoline—and saving up to 20% on oil.

To top it all—this big, new, Money-Saving Dodge has been acclaimed the "Beauty Winner" of 1935 by famous fashion authorities in all parts of the country. Yet Dodge now costs only a few dollars more than the lowest-priced cars.

Thanksgiving Turkeys

One day Mrs. Turkey said to her little turkeys, "You must now go out into the world, and be very proud that you were born turkeys.
You are now fat and strong. I have taken very good care of you." The little turkeys looked up and said, "gobble, gobble," which meant, thanks for their mother's kind care.
"Some day you will make nice Thanksgiving turkeys," said the mother. "But, we don't want to be killed and eaten," cried the little turkeys. "It is a very great honor to be put on the table 'Thanksgiving Day,'" answered their mother.
Then the little turkeys stood straight and tall and said, "gobble, gobble." This time it meant, "We are proud and happy to be born turkeys even though we have to be Thanksgiving turkeys."
Willard Veitch, Grade 5.

THANKSGIVING

The turkey is browning.
It's not quite done.
The potatoes are drowning in the gravy. What fun!
The cranberry sauce is in the dish On the table. And oh, I say, If I had one wish I'd wish 'Twas always Thanksgiving day.

SNOWFLAKES

One little snowflake said to another, As they flew down in a flurry,
"Can't you stop to talk awhile?
Don't be in such a hurry."
The second snowflake said,
"When we reach the ground, The wind will blow us far and near,
And round and round and round."
The first snowflake looked doubtful And shook his small white head.
"If he does he'll end us."
The first snowflake said.

THE LEAVES

The leaves are falling.
I can make a crown.
They rustle and rustle and rustle.
As they come blowing down.
And I find the pretty colored ones To make my little crown.
Yellow, and red and orange leaves.
And sometimes they are brown.

W. O. Miessner of Bannockburn the Miessner piano, has loaned Miss Irene Evenson's 5th grade room ten sets of Melody Bells. Mr.

Miessner spent several days last week teaching the children how to use them and they played Christmas carols on them Monday in assembly.

There will be sound - on - film movies each Friday evening at 7:30 in the school gymnasium, following the Christmas holidays.

The 8th grade was interested in an old arithmetic book, about 50 years old, which Miss Evensen brought. The problems were much more difficult and stated much different from the present text books.

The Girl's club has planned a Christmas party for the mothers.
The annual Christmas program, "The Magi's Gift," will be presented Friday, Dec. 20, at 8 p.m. in the school gymnasium under the di-

Thanksgiving

The Thanksgiving assembly was a joy to all of us. The gifts for Dorcas Home, banked in front of the stage represented our desire to share some of our causes for grate-tude. All the words, spoken and sung, were easily understood, and the voices were sweet and wellmodulated. The stage was beautiful and the whole spirit dignified and reverent.

Marilyn Lautmann was the Queen of the Harvest, and her attendants were Margery Maechtle, Dick O'Connor, Marilyn Kugel,

Thanksgiving Feast

The first grades of Ravinia school have been studying a farm. They made a cow, using a barrel for a body, rope for a tail, and cloth to cover it.

On Nov. 25th, Elder Brewster milked the cow. He got a quart and a half of cream. Mrs. Haley's children churned the cream into butter. Miss Heath's room made cottage cheese. The two second grades made corn bread and popcorn. The first grades had also made carrot marmalade.

On Tuesday, they played the first Thanksgiving Day. They sat at long tables. They had pumpkins, apples, oranges, nuts and made up turkeys for decorations. They ate their popcorn, corn bread and butter, cottage cheese and carrot marmalade.

The first grades were dressed as Pilgrims. The second grades were dressed as Indians. Swen Soderstrom was Elder Brewster; Robert Carrison was Governor Bradford as at the first Thanksgiving. Two Indians gave prayers, and two Pilgrims also gave thanks to God.
Then they sang songs and said poems, and Bud Steacy gave an Indian dance. Then the Thanksgiving feast was over.

"MEXICAN ODYSSEY"

Stirling Dickinson and Heath Bowman, two young Chicagoans, are the authors of a new book "Mexican Odyssey," which Jose Mojica, former tenor at Ravinia, calls in his foreword "the best book I have read about my country." Certainly this is a story of exceptional charm, for behind the very amusing incidents which occurred on the 4000 mile auto trip in an old Ford, the reader finds a vivid picture of the real Mexico.

From observing life in Taxco, to a wild trip of exploration southward through the central part of Mexico, the book never loses its informal, easy manner. Its style is frequently satirical, often conventional, with here and there a passage of description which nicely catches the essence of a scene. Through it all moves "Daisy," the battered Ford of '29, some times collapsing 40 miles from civilization; or having her radiator filled with wine instead of water, but always forming an amusing link between the books six parts.

There are 70 linoleum prints to illustrate the book, done in a strikingly individual manner which is well suited both to Mexico and to the informality of the story.
In final analysis, the appeal of a travel story such as "Mexican Odyssey" lies in its refusal to take itself too seriously, or to interpret to the reader everything that is observed. The authors have no axe to grind—rather they choose to picture Mexico as they found it—the cantina in the evening—a big fiesta —poling through a jungle canal—leaving the reader to draw his own conclusions. No statistics, no theories about the future of the country, or the "pressing need for mechanization." Rather, a rapid, brilliant sketch of many places visited, a book filled with incidents, with color and with good taste.

The book is published by Willet Clark and company, 440 S. Dearborn street, Chicago.
NOTE—Stirling Dickinson, a former Lake Forester, will speak before the North Shore Writer's league at the Georgian hotel on Tuesday, Dec. 10 at 12:30. Heath Bowman, who collaborated with Mr.

Dickinson in producing "Mexican Odyssey" will also be a speaker on the program.
