The Mutual club, which spreads cheer throughout the year, made many people happy on Christmas. Gifts were sent to the Bensenville Orphanage; Old People's Home at New Carlisle, Ind.; the Dorcas Home and for several shut-ins of the village.

LINCOLN SCHOOL
Abbie Bastin Memorial Service

For the Lincoln school assembly on December 12, we had a memorial service for Mrs. Bastin.

Mr. Leslie Schaeffler opened the assembly and introduced Miss Kathryn Reed, a cousin and girlhood friend of Mrs. Bastin. Miss Reed gave a brief outline of Mrs. Bastin's girlhood. She said that Mrs. Bastin taught the primary grades of Lincoln school for nearly 32 years.

The children of Lincoln school and former pupils of Mrs. Bastin have contributed $287.57, which was used for a memorial library. Many fine books were bought with the money. The committee bought a bronze tablet which will be placed in the Bastin Memorial library.

Mr. Schaeffler presented the tablet and books to Miss Newcomb, our school librarian. Miss Newcomb graciously accepted them for the school.

Mrs. Bastin always loved children and devoted half of her life to teaching them. She brought the children through their first year of school and taught them to read and write. We are sure this library will always remind her pupils of her kindness and love for children.

Our school library will now be called the Abbie Bastin Memorial library.—Phyllis Stryker and Jack Millar, Grade 8.

RAVANIA SCHOOL
The Christmas program of the Ravania school was held on Thursday, December 19, this year. It was very different from the preceding years. In the first part of the evening, children dressed in costumes from all the different nations were gathered on the stage. Several children from each nationality told about the Christmas customs in their countries. The chorus, which was composed of all the grades from 4th to 8th, sang songs representing each nation. After this, the parents were invited to sing some old favorite carols, the words and pictures for which were flashed on the screen. The program was arranged by Miss Scherstrom, Mrs. Curtis and Miss Stoddard.—Mary Binder, Grade 8.

RIDGE SCHOOL
Ford's Village

Henry Ford has built a colonial village and when I was in Detroit not long ago, I went out to see it. As you enter the village you notice great white steeples on some of the buildings which makes it look as Philadelphia did long ago. I like the first building we went through very much for we saw so many old things there. They have old spinning wheels, old irons, funny old stoves, and queer old lamps. There is a row of old shops such as a shoe shop, drug store, and dress shop. When we came out of this building a stagecoach was waiting to take us to other buildings. We stopped at an old inn. It seemed funny to see the old time colonial bar room with wines and brandies standing on the shelf. Then we went on to the church. It was so pretty with its clean white walls. I noticed all the colonial buildings were white. The one I liked best was the old-fashioned schoolhouse. It was a brick building with a big bell over the door. There were real children going to school there. When we passed the post office I stopped to look in at the door. It is so different from ours. There was a pile of old-time letters there on a long wooden counter. I was sorry when the stagecoach brought us back to our starting place and it was time to leave this queer old village.—Lloyd Erickson, grade 5.

DEERFIELD SCHOOL
Christmas parties were held in every room in the grade school on Friday morning and Santa Claus distributed candy and cookies for the festivities. Every room had a beautifully decorated tree.

Fifth Grade
Our narcissus are blooming now. After Christmas we will bring out the tulip and hyacinth bulbs.

Christmas spirit is in the air. We find it difficult to multiply fractions when there are so many more pleasant things to think about.

We hope you will all enjoy your Christmas party and vacation and wish you a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Sixth Grade
A pecan is a little like a hickory nut. The raising of pecans has become quite an industry in our southern states. The United States grows most of the pecans of the world. People have liked the pecan so much that great orchards have been set out, and the planters have made every effort to improve their product. There are five million pecan trees in the United States, and each tree yields an average of about six pounds a year. Although it is big business, it is not yet big enough to supply the demand.

Pecans are good food because they are rich in oil, protein, iron, and vitamins. They can well take the place of meat.—Carter Kveds.

Eighth Grade
Thursday, Dec. 5, was an outstanding day for members of the eighth grade. The Deerfield American Legion Auxiliary arranged for and transported the class to Waukegan to attend Judge Dady's citizenship hearing. The eighth grades from Wilmot, Bannockburn and Everett schools were there too. We spent our civics periods during this week studying naturalization so that we could appreciate this opportunity more.

They were so nice to us at the court. We were given choice seats so that we could see and hear every thing that was said or done. Many persons were questioned and all except one were granted their final papers. This man, for some reason, had only one witness. Two were necessary. He was told to bring his second witness to the court in a few days and he would then receive his final papers. One question asked of every applicant was whether he had been arrested. Several had. The court found that breaking traffic regulations was the worst offense.

After leaving the court room we made an inspection of the building. The last place we visited was the jail. We wish to thank those who made this such an interesting day for us.

Girls Club
The Girls' Club held their annual Christmas party for their mothers on Dec. 17. A short program was followed by refreshments and distribution of gifts.

Troop 324 Holds Court
Troop 324, Mr. L. R. Hutchison scoutmaster, at its regular meeting on Dec. 12, held a parents' night and court of honor. Mr. Brush, a former scoutmaster, was presented with a scout statuette in recognition of his services and as a token of his friendliness and leadership during five years of scoutmastership.
