BIDS TAKEN ON SANITARY JOB

Projects Include Work to Be Done in Highwood and at Ravine Drive

Trustees of the North Shore Sanitary district received bids last week for the construction of additions to the sanitary sewage treatment plant in the City of Highwood.

A. F. Beaubien, secretary of the district, stated after the meeting that it was impossible to release the bids entered by the various construction companies, inasmuch as the proposals have to be broken down into many separate items.

The board is planning construction of the following improvements in Highwood:

Pumping station substructure two story settling tank, sludge drying beds, trickling filter and final settling tank.

Another project at Ravine avenue will consist of the following items: Grit chamber, two story settling tank, chlorination tank, outfall structure, steel sheet piling shore protection, building glass sludge bed enclosure.

Engineers for the sanitary district will report on the tabulation of bids at a meeting to be held by trustees today (Thursday) at headquarters in the Waukegan National bank building.

Alcyon Offers Three Outstanding Pictures

A gathering of favorite comedy stars at the Alcyon on Friday and Saturday of this week offer in "It's in the Air," a high flying escapade of merriment and amazement. Jack Benny, the lad from Waukegan is funnier than ever before. Una Merkel, Mary Carlisle and the battling pair of comics, Ted Healy and Nat Pendleton will keep roaring.

Do you scoff at the idea of a tunnel under the Atlantic between New York and London? It is said there is no limit to the thrills possible in seeing "Transatlantic Tunnel" which the Alcyon is featuring for three days starting Sunday, February 9. Is it beyond the realm of accomplishment that sometime New Yorkers can ride on wheels to London in less time than it takes to go around the clock? This feature shows it with the aid of Richard Dix, Leslie Banks, Helen Vinson and Madge Evans.

Humor will reign at the Alcyon theatre on Wednesday and Thursday coming where the new comedy, "The Perfect Gentleman" will be on view. Co-starring Frank Morgan and Cleely Courtneidge, who represent the funniest entertainers on two continents, the film is a gale of laughter from the opening scene to the last.

HIGHLAND PARK GIRL WINS ART PRIZE

Elizabeth Boynton Harmon Awarded Chicago Woman's Aid Prize

Elizabeth Boynton Harmon, of 209 Laurel avenue Highland Park, won the Chicago Woman's Aid Prize of $100 with a highly decorative low relief plaque of Guernsey cows, entered in the annual exhibition by Chicago Artists at the Art institute last week.

The exhibition opened last Thursday with a reception to the 14,000 members of the museum. Music was a feature of the afternoon, supplied by George Dasch's String Quintette. The exhibition was one which the members found to be singularly well balanced, no special "school" being predominantly represented. There were perhaps, if anything, more of the so called conservative class of the modern type.

The work of the three jurors, all art directors of universities, Oscar Hagen, of Madison, Jean Paul Slusser, of Ann Arbor and La Force Bailey, of Urbana seemed to meet with the commendation of the throng of visitors who filled the galleries. The first prize winner hangs in the center of the south wall in the main gallery. It is a large canvas, showing a life size figure of a girl and called "Russian Dancer." It is by Constantine Pougialis, and was awarded the Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Logan Art Institute medal, with $500. The model is the same young ballet dancer who posed for Mr. Pougialis in his painting "Blue room," which won the Brower prize of $300 in the Chicago Artists Show last year. The Brower prize of $300 was won by Robert von Neumann of 2516 East Stratford court, Milwaukee. It is entitled "Fishermen" and shows a group of four men in a row boat hauling in a net filled with fish. Lester O. Schwartz of 225 East Huron street carried off the Chicago Artists Ball prize of $200 with his "Young Chorus Girl," a sketching study of a girl reclining on a divan with a black cat draped over her arm, which, with her shoulder, is bare. The Clyde M. Carr prize of $100 was given to William S. Schwartz, of 49 East Ohio street, for his strong and richly colored canvas "Dancing the Blues Away."

At that time the Chief Scout executive will call upon all Scouts throughout the country to take with him the Scout oath, rededicating themselves to the principles and ideals of the movement. This is the first time that Highland Park has had an opportunity to vote for a candidate for congressman, and it is certain that Dr. Bosworth's candidacy will tend to attract many voters who have stayed at home because of the lack of candidates from Highland Park and the North Shore.

He is acting chairman of the Lake County Democratic Central committee.
