

Sidney N. Shurcliff To Lecture Saturday at Lake Forest Academy on "Restoration of Williamsburg"

Sidney N. Shurcliff, member of the American Society of Landscape Architects and a world traveller of note, will deliver an illustrated lecture on the "Restoration of Williamsburg," colonial capital of Virginia, in Reid Hall, Lake Forest Academy, next Saturday (Feb. 29) evening. Members of the garden clubs of Lake Forest and other north shore towns, are invited to be guests of the Academy for the occasion.

Mr. Shurcliff has been associated with the Williamsburg restoration for the past six years. The search for historical precedents, to insure fidelity throughout the restoration of this ancient capital of the Virginia Colony, included all southeastern states of America and many of the great estates of England.

The complete project, funds for which were furnished by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., have involved the razing of 402 modern buildings, the restoration of 63 colonial structures, the complete rebuilding of 70 colonial buildings, and the erection of 25 shops and stores. The grounds and gardens of each place have been carefully landscaped.

Mr. Shurcliff will be introduced by Dr. Karl Patterson Schmidt of the Field Museum, who is a member of the Class of 1910 at the Academy. Dr. Schmidt and Mr. Shurcliff were shipmates on the brigantine Illyria during the Cornelius Crane-Field Museum Scientific Expedition to the South Seas in 1929. The lecture will begin promptly at 8:15. Local residents are invited to attend.

Hold Washington Day Observance at Church of Our Saviour

Following the pledge of Allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the country for which it stands, the Reverend Frederick L. Gratiot, Church of Our Saviour, Chicago, gave a short address on George Washington, whose birthday was thus observed last Sunday. In pointing out that the church honored Washington as a loyal and devoted patriot and churchman, Father Gratiot pointed out that the greatest danger lies in indifference. "We need not fear those whose deep, dark plots would destroy this nation," said Father Gratiot, "so much as those whose indifference lets the dangers go unchecked. We know our enemies. We can handle them if the necessity arises. It is the indifferent man, whether in matters of state or matters of church, who constitutes the danger we must combat." Troop 50, Boy Scouts of America, took part in this patriotic service.

Birthday Party at Bethany Church

Thursday, March 5 is the date set for the Bethany Birthday party to be held in the social rooms of the church. Those who were lucky enough to have attended last year's party will remember the delightful "Home Talent" program. It is rumored by one who saw that the program this year will be even better. Anyway, there will be no dull moments for anyone either young or old. And, of course, there will be refreshments.

The party is being sponsored by the Philathea class, but the total receipts from the birthday pennies collected will be given to the church budget. It is their hope that every member and friend of Bethany will be present to make this the biggest success of the year.

Everett Judd Rites Will Be Held Today

Rites for Everett A. Judd, 56, commercial manager of the Waukegan branch of the Illinois Bell Telephone company, will be held at 1 p.m. today at the Wetzel and Peterson funeral home, and at 2 p.m. at Christ church.

MRS. MOONLIGHT

Last Friday evening at the Ravinia Village House it seemed as if the Circuit Theatre had come to life. The Ravinia Players production of Ben Levy's fantasy, "Mrs. Moonlight," was on par with Theatre Guild and Circuit Theatre productions. The players were assisted by guest performers from other North Shore towns, and the play was directed by Mrs. Max Hoffman, of the Threshold Players, assisted by Harriet Golden Harris. Their fine work was evident throughout the performance.

Gertrude Williams Butler gave a very sensitive interpretation of Sarah Moonlight who by the magic of an old jewel remained a young girl all through her seventy-five years of life. Mrs. Butler acted with such fine sincerity that it did not seem like acting. The high moments of the play were during the passage where not a word was spoken.

J. Lincoln Gibson, recognized as the best character actor on the North Shore, was splendid as Tom Moonlight. In the last act Mr. Moonlight is ninety-one years old, giving Mr. Gibson an opportunity to do some very outstanding work.

Minnie, the old Scotch servant, sitting on her perch by the fireplace, was the hule round which the play revolved. A cooling good part for Enid Phillips, especially in the third act when Minnie is eighty-six years old.

The fine playing of Katherine Kirschberg, one of the guest performers, in the part of Edith Jones, contributed much to the success of the performance. She is a foster sister of Sarah and later becomes the second Mrs. Moonlight.

Ada Louise Voss was simply delightful as Jane, Sarah's daughter. Her conception of a very young lady of the nineties was perfect and she proved her versatility by her portrayal of Jane as a middle aged matron in the last act.

Percy Middling, a "Salt of the Earth" person who takes himself very seriously as a suitor of Jane's in the second act, and her husband in the third act, was very well played by Victor McKeighan of the Threshold Players.

Steve Zorich of the Northwestern School of speech, gave a very humorous interpretation of Willie Ragg, an unsuccessful suitor of Jane's.

Peter Middling, Sarah's grandson, played by Les Blaycock of the Wilmette Players, was done with such naturalness and honesty that it is to be hoped that Mr. Blaycock will be with us again in a longer part.

The quaint costumes added much to the charm of the play as well as the interesting pieces of antique furniture.

The Ravinia Players are doing well with their acting, but they must remember that stage lighting is also very important to the success of a play. They should concentrate more on lighting effects.

This production was so good that it is to be hoped that it will be repeated, and if it doesn't miss seeing it.

The private services at the funeral home will be conducted by Waukegan Elks for members of the lodge, intimate friends and relatives. The American Legion quartet will assist.

At 2 p.m. services open to all will be held at Christ church, the Rev. Howard Ganster officiating. Burial will be in Woodstock.

Born in Woodstock, Mr. Judd became connected with the Illinois Bell Telephone company 30 years ago. At the time of his death he was commercial manager of the Waukegan branch of the company.

Mr. Judd was a past president of the Waukegan Rotary club, a member of the board of directors of Waukegan and North Chicago Chamber of Commerce, and had held various positions in the Elks lodge, Glen Flora Country club and the Christ Episcopal church. He headed the reception committees at all major events in the community in the past decade and was regarded as the unofficial "city greeter."

His activities included the collection in providing free refreshments to underprivileged children attending the annual Fourth of July celebration at Waukegan. In costume he moved through the crowds throughout the day distributing tickets good of such delicacies to the children.

Mr. Judd twice refused to accept citizens' pleas to be a candidate for mayor.

He is survived by his widow, Theresa, a daughter, Betty Ealeen, and a brother, Webb Judd of Chicago.

Lions Hold District Meeting Here Tonight

many years' service, are held in international convention of Lions held in Mexico City in July, 1935. He has a long record of service and office holding in his own Lions Club and his district in Wisconsin. He is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, a former Big Ten Basketball star and was a member of the Wisconsin team that won the Big Ten Conference championship. In 1918, he was commissioned a lieutenant in the army air service. Since the war he has been in the advertising business in Milwaukee. In addition to his service in the Lions clubs, he is also a member of the Masonic order, the American Legion, and director of the Camp Council for Boys at Lac du Flambeau. He is treasurer and a director of the City Club of Milwaukee.

Len W. Nieter, president of the Highland Park Lions Club, believes that this get-together will benefit each of the clubs. "Such a gathering," he said, "should bring the clubs in this district closer together and be an inspiration to the members to go out and build up their organizations. Lions clubs in this district have accomplished many worthy objects and have helped in the work for the blind and needy. When the work of other clubs is known, we can get a picture of what Lionism really means."

An elaborate dinner and program is being planned for this meeting. Members of the Highland Park club are making every effort to make the visiting Lions remember this meeting and to make it an annual affair with the visiting clubs taking their turns as hosts. Ten vaudeville acts of local and outside talent will be on the program.

The committee in charge of this event, composed of Emmet Duffy, Jack Davis and Paul Olson, have visited the neighboring clubs and report that each club will have a large delegation present. The Waukegan, Winnetka, and Libertyville clubs have each abandoned their own meetings scheduled for the week of March 4 in order to bring a large delegation to this meeting. President A. F. Guthrie, of the Waukegan Lions Club; President Otto J. Boehm of the Libertyville club; and President F. N. Woods of the Winnetka club; each will address the gathering on the work their clubs are engaged in and the results attained.

Medical Library Planned for Highland Park

shelves. A comfortable leather reading chair has recently been donated by the Women's auxiliary. The library is in charge of Miss Hull, record librarian for the Highland Park hospital.

Dr. Daniel Weston Rogers, whose medical library constitutes the start of this enterprise, was well known and is affectionately remembered by many of this community. For a considerable period of time he was public health officer for Highland Park. He was a general practitioner here for many years and was highly regarded both as a citizen and a practitioner by those who came in contact with him.

Miss Marjorie Ibsen, superintendent of the hospital, under whose guidance this enterprise has taken form, said:

"With this splendid beginning we now have visual incentive to strive for the fulfillment of a long felt need in our hospital, namely: a complete and up-to-date medical library, where all medical men in the community may avail themselves of the latest works and papers on vital developments in the field of medicine and surgery. This type of service should, and will be, made available to our local practitioners who heretofore have had to seek most of their research data by recourse to distant libraries and other sources of medical information."

"Moreover," continued Miss Ibsen, "an adequate medical library will be a means of greatly benefitting our internes, during their terms of residence at the hospital. This, in addition to the practical experience obtained while actively engaged in medical work here, will constitute a contribution to the training of these young men for their chosen careers in the field of medicine and surgery. It will be a contribution of which the hospital board and Highland Parkers may have good reason to be proud."

From time to time important contributions to medical knowledge in the form of papers read before medical societies. Several of the local hospital staff and local practicing physicians are known to have contributed such valuable data, and it is hoped that printed copies of these and other papers will be made available to the users of the Highland Park hospital Medical library.

Old and New Styles To Be Shown at Novel Fashion Show

"Parade of the Decades," showing the contrast between old and new fashions will be held at the regular monthly meeting of the Presbyterian Woman's association to be held next Monday.

There will also be an exhibition of fans and parasols, shawls, and other antiques, which will be under the supervision of Mrs. William Pearce. Mrs. L. B. Sinclair as Program chairman will be assisted by Mrs. Harry Pier, reader, Mrs. E. H. Ball and Mrs. Marion Anderson in charge of the music, and the stage setting will consist of an old fashioned and a modern living room. The former will be furnished and arranged by Mrs. E. W. Sundell and the latter will be donated and furnished through the generosity of The Iredale company.

All members of the association and their friends are cordially urged to be present. Rehearsals of the pageant will be held at 2 p.m. on Friday and at 5 o'clock on Sunday.

Public Library

The new edition of "Who's Who in Chicago and Vicinity" has been placed on the shelves at the Highland Park Public Library. It may be interesting to check this book to find how many people from Highland Park are listed.

This winter, this country has been visited by two great leaders from opposite sides of the world. Both preached fundamentally the same ideas of Christian sociology: Dr. Temple, the archbishop of York from England, and Dr. Kagawa from Japan. The former's first public message to the United States was "The Present World Industrial Situation."

The library has his book "Nature, Man and God" which is a collection of the Gifford lectures delivered at the University of Glasgow.

Dr. Kagawa has demonstrated in Japan the practicability of co-operative merchandising.

The library has recently added his book, "Meditations on the Cross."

Another book of special interest is "Inside Europe," by John Gunther, foreign correspondent for the Chicago Daily News, and well-known in Highland Park.
