

POOR RELIEF IS RESPONSIBILITY OF SUPERVISORS

supervisors for the poor relief set-up for the months of May and June. The present IERC administration will be disbanded on May 1. Poor relief distribution will be in charge of the county board from that day until July 1, when the townships must take over the burden.

There are at present about 5,000 persons receiving assistance from the Lake county relief administration. Since the care of these clients falls back on the county on May 1 for two months, ways and means of financing the cost must be found.

Under the legislation disbanding the IERC, the various counties are to receive allocations from the sales tax for poor assistance.

Lake county will have no other funds available, unless some new means are devised to raise additional income, to take care of the poor during the two months. The appropriation made by the board last December has been entirely exhausted.

Townships in the county will resume the relief administration on July 1, under the legislation passed by the general assembly. The towns were responsible for pauper aid from July, 1931, to July 19, 1935, when the responsibility was shifted back to the counties.

With the constitutional tax limitation of 75 cents on each $100 property valuation for all county purposes, including general county government and poor relief, counties throughout the state urged a return of the poor relief burden to the townships.

At the Rockford meeting an effort will be made to adopt a uniform system for the counties to administer relief during May and June. William F. Kirkham, chairman of the Lake county relief commission; Mrs. Marjory Jordan, IERC administrator, and a number of supervisors will attend the conference. The board of supervisors does not meet again until April 16.

Most of the Lake county township boards have delayed their annual town meetings until after the meeting at Rockford. The Waukegan town board will convene on April 7 at the American Legion home for the annual meeting, at which appropriations and tax levies for the coming year are to be made.

A kitchen band, with everything from washboards to egg beaters supplying the close harmony will be directed by Mrs. Einar Paulsen. Dressed as four year old tots, Mrs. John Ray and Mrs. Willis Gerken will give their own idea of a tap dance and sing "On the Good Ship Lollypop." The two Smith Sisters, pinch-hitting for the famous Smith Brothers but without the coughs, will give guitar numbers, while a prodigy player who can stretch her accordion over four feet is announced for those who can believe it. Pop-Eye, the Sailor and His Girl will be featured in a skit by the well known team of Ebert and Pichietti. A Scotch act with the Fling such as they flung it in their native country will be given in costume by Mrs. John Matland and Mrs. Elaris Ponsi.

A female impersonator of John Boles, Lulu Belle and Scottie of radio fame, impersonated Mrs. Emma Breakwell and Vincent Meyer, Ruby Keeler and Dick Powell who introduce "Shipmates Forever," an old lady of eighty who wants to sing "I Feel Like a Feather in the Breeze," the E. K. twins who are so gay in their red, white, and blue costumes that the audience will be glad television is available, are among the numbers already scheduled for this mock tryout.

"Major Bowes Himself" invites the whole family to come for a good laugh at performers they know and those they will recognize at first glance. The audience's votes will determine the most popular numbers.

Tickets of admission may be secured from any club members or from the studio office, at 374 East Laurel avenue, Highland Park.

Proceeds from the performance will go to the club treasuries to help send their delegates to the national convention of the Y.W.C.A. at Colorado Springs, April 29 to May 5.

Phil Libby To Speak on Homemaker's Program

One of the most important meetings of the Homemakers' Club of Chicago will be held Friday, March 27 at the Symphony theatre, 493 West Chicago avenue—and one of Highland Park's well-known citizens is to be one of the star performers.

The Homemakers' Club of Chicago was recently organized to all housewives in making their homes happier, better managed places in which to live and is sponsored by the Herald and Examiner. Leonard A. Malek—widely known as Prudence Penny—is president of the club and is assisted in arranging her meetings by an advisory council composed of many of the most prominent club women in Chicago. Mrs. Malek is endeavoring to have one outstanding home economist or cooking expert on each of the Homemakers' club programs and considers herself fortunate indeed to have Phil Libby of The Highland Park Press on the next program.

Although Friday's meeting is to be at the symphony theater in Chicago, all Highland Park women would like to attend this big, gala cooking conference are cordially invited by Prudence Penny. She hopes to have a Homemakers' club meeting sometime in the near future in Highland Park.

Over $100 has thus far been contributed towards Red Cross flood relief fund in Highland Park, according to H. F. Kelley, local chairman of the Red Cross.

Subscriptions may be sent to Mr. Kelley or directly to the Chicago Red Cross, but in the latter case Highland Park does not receive the credit for contributions.

Plan To Organize Illinois Members of 78th Division

Permanent organization of an Illinois 78th Division Association is the objective which will draw several hundred Illinois veterans of this famous world-war combat unit to their first state reunion next Saturday, March 28, at the Leland Hotel, in Springfield, says Chase M. Smith, 878 Ridgewood drive, Highland Park, chairman of the event.

This division, during past few days, has been active through a national association. Illinois veterans however have been more or less out of touch with their war time buddies, since most of the division's reunions have been held in the East. Organization of a state association will draw them together again.

Probably the most famous Illinois veteran who served with this unit overseas is Col. Frank Knox, Chicago publisher, who is a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination. Earl B. Searcy, candidate for the Republican nomination for state auditor, also fought with the 78th.

FORT SHERIDAN WILL CELEBRATE ARMY DAY APRIL 6

of the army live when they are not in the field.

The bakers' and cooks' school is making plans for a fine exhibit. This section of the activities at Fort Sheridan proved to be very interesting to visitors at Fort Sheridan last year.

The 1st Battalion, 2nd Infantry, will present a display of soldiers' pup tents, field range, infantry transportation and weapons. These weapons will include the rifle, bayonet, pistol, machine gun, howitzer, and 3-inch trench mortar.

The 1st Squadron, 14th Cavalry, will have on exhibit several troopers' mounts with all of their accoutrements, a mounted exhibition, cavalry weapons and their scout cars. These vehicles are some of the new equipment recently designed for use by mechanized cavalry. They are armored and mount four machine guns.

The 2nd Battalion, 3rd Field Artillery, will display field artillery equipment which will include horse drawn field guns and caissons, with the latest signal communications equipment.

The 61st Coast Artillery (AA) will have a large and interesting set-up which will include anti-aircraft guns of both 30 and 50 calibre, 3-inch anti-aircraft guns, and the necessary equipment to direct the fire of these weapons.

The idea for the celebration of an Army Day, which marks the day of America's entry into the World War, was inaugurated April 6, 1928. This day has been set aside to bring to the attention of the public the Army of the United States, what it stands for, and the part it plays in our scheme of national defense.

The celebration of Army Day receives wide support from veterans and patriotic organizations throughout the land. It is this year receiving the hearty support of the War Department and General Frank R. McCoy, commanding general of the Sixth Corps Area. General Merrill has expressed the desire that the press of this vicinity convey through its pages the cordial invitation for all patriotic citizens to visit Fort Sheridan on Army Day and enjoy the hospitality and military display provided by the members of the garrison.
