

Congressman Church Assails New Dealers

Opposition to the administration's steamroller tactics in connection with the new bill to provide more money for Democratic projects was provided yesterday in the House of Representatives by Congressman Ralph E. Church of Illinois, who delivered a speech attacking the general spending policies of the administration.

In his harangue of Democratic wastefulness, Rep. Church cited the building of resettlement homesteads in Lake county as an example of the manner in which the administration, under Rexford G. Tugwell, wastes money over a period of years to slowly proceed with the building of "satellite towns, dream villages and brainstrom Russian homes."

Of Tugwell, Rep. Church said: "He represents the American spokesman and actual practitioner of the communistic theory of government. We need not fear the May Day paraders and orators, but we have every cause to fear such men as Dr. Tugwell, one of the brain-trusters, who is in a position to put our people under communistic control and regimentation. I suggest that you read his books. While you are doing this, try to recall the measures enacted by the New Deal during the past three years. You will be startled at the number of them expressive of the Tugwellian philosophy of government.

"There is no better illustration of the Tugwellian theory of regimentation and control," the representative continued, "than is found in the homestead projects themselves. The homesteaders contract away their souls to the resettlement administration. I suggest that you get copies of the contracts used by Tugwell for the homesteaders and these community projects."

Rep. Church continued in his attack to state that the homestead administration, as it is now conducted, entirely abandons the true principles of American government in the manner in which contracts are drawn and people made entirely subservient to the government, rather than compelling the government to serve the people. He also charged that resettlement, the Public Works administration and the Works Progress administration are merely politicians' havens into which those loyal to the Democratic organization can be taken for protection and reward. Rep. Church defended the proper administration of relief for people needing help.

"Our people want to work," the representative said, "and not subsist year in and year out on the relief rolls. By no magic is it possible to have employees without employers, and let us not lose sight of the fact that when we make blank check appropriations like this one, which provides funds without specifying their uses, when we allow this waste to continue and when people are forced to become mere political puppets because of their misfortune, we destroy every bit of confidence in the future. No one knows what to expect. Business remains still, unemployment continues and the relief problem remains with us. The problem will remain as long as these 'Hypocrites' continue in power."

State Employment Service Has More Jobs Than Workers

The Illinois State Employment Service is finding shortages in a number of occupations, particularly in the skilled trades. In nearly all of the fourteen offices of the State Service in Cook county, the following shortages are reported: machinists and tool and die makers, body and fender men, automobile repair men, grey iron floor and bench molders, furniture upholsterers, power machine operators and welders. Bushelmen and bushelwomen are also wanted by the tailoring trade, and laundries are asking for experienced hand ironers. There are a number of calls of experienced graphotype operators and time study men.

"These shortages," said Charles F. Emery, Cook county supervisor of the Illinois State Employment Service, "represent orders actually in our office, which we are unable to fill. In the case of machinists, tool and die makers and welders, both acetylene and arc, the shortages might be termed chronic, for we can never get enough experienced men in these lines. Persons interested in these jobs should register at the nearest office of the Illinois State Employment Service—there is an office in each section of the city, and a number of offices in the suburbs. The State Employment Service, of course, makes no charge for placing workers on jobs."

Hole-In-One Tournament To Be Feature May 24 at the Bon-Air Club

Leading golfers in the Chicago district will host a trail to Bon Air Country club, one mile north of Wheeling on Milwaukee avenue, within the next fortnight to compete in a Hole-in-One tournament and an all-star exhibition match. Next Sunday, May 17, professional and amateur sharpshooters will vie for prizes in the Hole-in-One event and the following Sunday, May 24, an exhibition match will pit Tommy Armour of Madison and Harry Cooper of Glenn Oak, against Dick Metz of Mill Road, Farmard Ky Lafoon of Northbrook.

A record enrollment in the Hole-in-One tournament is announced by Tom Williams, Bon Air manager. He reports that among the entrants will be the veteran Jock Hutchison of Glen View, Sam Bernard of Old Elm, Eddie Boos of Lake Shore, Tom Carney, and Ky Lafoon of Northbrook and the expert Bob McDonald of the Riverside links. Approximately 10 professional and amateur players will bid for the cash and merchandise awards in next Sunday's contest starting at 3 o'clock. No admission will be charged. Mr. Williams is issuing an invitation to golf fans of the district.

Rules governing the tournament provide that each player will be allowed five shots at a 110-yard water hole. The winner in each division will be that player who scores a hole in one or comes closest to the cup.

The course will be open to the public during the Hole-in-One tournament Sunday, May 17, and on May 24 when the Cooper-Armour-Metz-Lafoon match is played.

The Highland Park section will be represented at the annual May festival of the International Cooks Association by Ernest Semet of the Northmoor Country Club. This festival this year is being staged Monday, May 25, at Bon Air Country Club, where Otto Mueller, former chef at The Dells, is in charge of the kitchen.

Semet, a well known member of the cooks' association, will join with some 400 other members and guests in a day of golf and swimming that will be climaxed by a banquet prepared by Chef Mueller. The evening program will be provided by Earl Hoffman and his orchestra, the band that plays nightly at Bon Air.
