Willard's Celebrate Silver Wedding As Daughter Marries

Last evening (Wednesday) Miss Janet Willard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Willard and Frank Hampton Lennox, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Lennox of Oak Park were united in marriage. The ceremony was read at eight-thirty o'clock in Trinity church, by the Rev. Christoph Keller, rector of the church. The altar and chancel were banked with palms, ferns and Easter lilies, which, together with the soft glow of light from the candles on the occasion. As the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March were played, and the bride party approached the altar followed by the bride who was given in marriage by her father, a similar occasion which occurred twenty-five years ago, was recalled to the minds of many of those present, who were also present when Miss Willard's parents were married. How fitting that this ceremony should take place the same day that Mr. and Mrs. Willard were celebrating their silver wedding anniversary. Mrs. Willard was Miss Louise Cowdry of Chicago, whose father was president of the Peoples Gas Company of Chicago at that time.

Miss Willard was charming in her mother's wedding gown and veil which had not been changed for the occasion. The dress was made in Princess style of ivory satin with blouse of rose pointed lace trimmed with duchess lace with a long train of embroidered lace trimmed in duchess lace. The veil was of silk tulle edged with duchess lace with a coronet of orange blossoms. The bridal bouquet was a duplicate of the one her mother carried and was of lilies of the valley.

All the attendants were attired in gowns of turquoise blue pointed d'esprit with matching accessories. The maid of honor carried white daisies and the bridesmaids carried yellow daisies with matching coronets of fresh flowers worn on their heads. Miss Louise Willard was her sister's maid of honor. The bridesmaids included the Misses Louise and Edna Lennox, sisters of the groom; Mrs. Henry Payne of Deerfield, Miss Florence Suydam of New York, Miss Mary Powley of Winnetka, and Mrs. Henry An-
