Regional Meeting at Milwaukee.—The annual meeting of Region Seven, of the Boy Scouts of America will be held at the Schroeder Hotel at Milwaukee, Wis., Friday and Saturday of this week. Several hundred delegates from the 85 Scout councils in Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin and Michigan will assemble for the two day convention to confer upon the program and its application in the Region and in the several councils. The largest group will be assembled on Friday night for the occasion of the annual banquet. A rich program has been planned for that meeting and includes the Racine Drum and Bugle corps, some Milwaukee Scout dramatizations and speeches by Dr. James E. West, chief Scout executive and Dwight M. Ramsay, Regional Scout executive.

A large delegation of North Shore Scouters is planning to attend the Friday banquet and a number will remain for the sessions the following day.

Scouts to Usher for Northwestern Visitors.—The Scouts from the North Shore Area council are to act as ushers for Northwestern university football games at Dyche stadium. This year as heretofore, they will serve the patrons in the East stand, the Evanston Scouts handling the seating for the West stands. Almost 100 Scouts are needed for the job and a few places are still left open. Scouts ushering are required to be in full uniform and to attend all five home games. The games this year will be on Oct. 3, 10, 17, 24, and Nov. 7.

Scouts and Cubs Invited to See Northwestern and North Dakota Tilt.—The Scouts and Cubs of the North Shore Area council have been invited to attend the second home game of the 1936 Northwestern season, when Northwestern plays North Dakota at Dyche stadium on Oct. 10. Scouts and Cubs must be accompanied by leaders and must either be in uniform or carry their registration cards with them. They are to meet at gate 1 on Central st. at 1 p.m. at which time they will be admitted to the game. Drivers of cars, both men and women will also be admitted upon showing the card which will be issued from Scout headquarters.

Arrow Elects Board Members.—Fourteen members of the executive board of the North Shore Area council were elected to honorary membership last week at the regular meeting of the board at the Scout cabin at Fort Sheridan. The men were "called out" with an Indian ceremony and notified that they had been thus elected. The men were: T. A. Connors, Lake Forest; Dr. Stewart Matthews, Libertyville; C. E. Piper, Deerfield; Jack Davis, Highland Park; Bob Townley, Kenilworth; Otto Fisher, Highwood; W. E. Webster, Libertyville; Herbert Sieck, Winnetka; Walter Gaede, Waukegan; Lewis Clarke, Waukegan; Homer Cazel, Deerfield, and Bill C. Huggins, Wilmette; J. E. Engquist of Highwood, and Garrit Bax of Lake Forest.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl E. Olson of Greenwood avenue has as their week-end guests, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Oliver and daughter Jane of Chicago and Mrs. T. Hetberg and Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Peterson of Wilmette.

"Melodrama" Will Be Presented by Drama Group Oct. 30

"A Bucket of Blood or the Villain's Revenge" might well be the title of a lurid melodrama coming to Highland Park on October 30, but in reality it is merely "Gold in the Hills or Her Dead Sister's Secret." This clever, rollicking, laughter-to-tears, completely melodramatic production is to be presented at the Deerfield-Shields Auditorium by the Drama Group of the Highland Park Woman's Club on October 30th, and is to be further embellished by the presentation of that fatal night of a "Grand Award."

Tickets for the production of "Gold in the Hills or Her Dead Sister's Secret" will be on sale at a later date. It will not be necessary however for the person who receives the "Grand Award" to be present on the night the award is made.

Miss Ada Louise Voss of "The Curtain Rises" fame, presented last year by the Drama Group of the Highland Park Woman's Club, and Mr. Jack Foley, will be starred in this play, supported by a host of other celebrities in the Highland Park "world of dramatic art." Rehearsals are well under way and further details as to this really charming melodrama and the cast of well-known Highland Parkers who will appear in it will be given in next week's issue of this paper.

Mrs. Frank B. Ronan, who was chairman of the Drama Group last year and is continuing in that office this year, was responsible for one of the most successful seasons this group has presented.

Mr. Jack Sturtevant, who was Stage Director of "The Curtain Rises," is in charge of the production of "Gold in the Hills or Her Dead Sister's Secret."

When the Highland Park Woman's Club decided to complete its building, the board appointed Mrs. Milton E. Souther and Mrs. Jay S. Glidden to head a committee responsible for the raising of funds for the furnishing of the completed club house. Club members sponsoring this play and this award are: Mrs. George B. Chapman, Mrs. William Blessing, Mrs. Frank R. Ronan, Mrs. Albert P. Snite, Mrs. Everett L. Easton, Mrs. James Freudenthal, Mrs. W. S. Mayer, Mrs. Kent Wonnell, Mrs. Harry Earhart, Mrs. A. A. Pantelis, Mrs. Howard Detmer, Mrs. Frank Sturtevant, Mrs. Herman Anspach, Miss Adele Everett, Mrs. C. V. Nichols, Mrs. John R. Todd, Mrs. Harry Pertz, Miss Harriett Mason, Mrs. J. H. Lambert, Mrs. Alfred S. Burdick.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Frick were the Sunday guests at the Henry Meng home in Chicago.

A number of Deerfield firemen attended the Lake County Firemen's Association meeting at Gurnee Monday evening. Each Thursday evening, Mr. Axe of the Red Cross in Chicago, is giving first aid lessons in Deerfield.

John T. Beckman, Democratic committeeman of Precinct Two of West Deerfield Township, attended a meeting in Waukegan on Friday evening.

The Deerfield Royal Neighbors will hold a "bingo" party Thursday evening, Oct. 8, in the town hall. Mrs. W. W. Stemm is chairman of the party.

This Week in Washington

by Congressman RALPH E. CHURCH Representative, 10th Congressional District

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 26.—The great constituent part of our citizenship is the wage earner. To this group our major attention should be focused. The development of a highly organized and industrialized society in the United States, with the rapid growth of urban population, has brought new problems to our democracy.

It is essentially a problem of readjustments with which we are now faced. It involves the fundamental question as to how the rights and privileges of the common man may be protected and preserved in a new social order. Without recognition of the changes that have taken place in our social order and an intelligent program of readjustments, this democracy cannot survive as a nation of free men. Those who close their eyes to the economic changes, representing national progress, are as much a foe to democracy as those who preach revolutionary doctrines of class hatred, sow seeds of discontent and seek to overthrow the American system of government.

In the last analysis, the future of any government, whether it be a republic or a dictatorship, is dependent upon two factors: first, its ability to get along with its neighbors; and, secondly, its ability to satisfy the maximum economic wants of the people and at the same time satisfy man's inherent desire for liberty and personal freedom.

Dictatorships are lacking in both respects. The very term implies a regimented people and a denial of individual freedom. Man is made subservient of the State. Moreover, they thrive on the dramatic, continually inciting national patriotic fervor in conquest of other lands. What is more dramatic to the imagination of men than a conquering hero? But conquering heroes themselves are only passing fancies when their conquests sacrifice civilization's richer values. The populace soon wearies of warfare and the damnable cost. Men begin to count the cost. The people soon tire of regimentation, and efforts for individual freedom are renewed.

Dictatorships, such as we see in the world today, cannot long exist. They are contrary to the nature of man himself. They are simply an outgrowth of confusion and discontent, and during the period of their existence civilization's progress is retarded.

Only democracy is acceptable to man. It represents the long time destiny of civilization. But the ability of a democracy, such as we enjoy in America, to withstand the stress of economic discontent, unrest of unemployment and hunger, and revolutionary propaganda is dependent upon the ability of the democracy itself to make adjustments to economic changes. Unless the leadership of the republic is ready to recognize the changes of progress in the social order and to adjust the processes of democracy to them, the rise of a dictatorship in some form or other is more or less inevitable.

It is not necessary to discard the principles of democracy. To do so is to destroy the great heritage of the American people. It is rather for us to militantly defend the principles against those in power who would discard them for purely selfish reasons. No stronger defense is possible than a new application of the accepted principles of our government to changes in the economic and social order.

In this new application of the principles of democracy to a changed social order it is to the wage earner that special attention should be given. Much will be said on this subject during the present political campaign. I shall leave that phase of the subject to the campaign itself, but during the next few weeks I propose to discuss the problem of the administration of justice so that all men, rich or poor, may have equal protection of the laws. The spirit of fairness and equality permeates our legal system, but it represents an American ideal which needs constant readjustments to meet the constant changes in the social order. The ideal of justice for every man presents certain practical difficulties, not beyond solution, which warrants increased attention.

Training Course for Girl Scout Leaders

Mothers who wonder what their daughters do as Girl Scouts, and young women who want a part in a constructive civic and educational movement will have their opportunity soon.

A Girl Scout leaders training course will be held two hours weekly for 8 weeks, beginning early in October. It is open to all mothers and others interested in Girl Scouting. Its purpose is directly to train leaders for Girl Scout troops, but it is also planned for mothers who, lacking the time to give as leaders, would like a more comprehensive idea of what the Girl Scouts stand for. It will offer fine training and insight into Scouting. Further information may be had by telephoning Mrs. Arthur Meyerhoff, Highland Park 874.

Representative Highland Park women who give their time as leaders include Mrs. William Mann, Mrs.

Earl Moseley, Miss Miriam Steevers, Miss McLaren, Miss Elizabeth Rankin and Miss June Stockwell.

Charles Orsborn was home from Bradley Tech at Peoria and spent the week-end with his cousins, Clifford and George Stanger.

Miss Alice Newton and Paul Dillingham of Chicago were Wednesday evening dinner guests at the C. M. Willman home on Greenwood avenue.

The Independent Social Club will meet Wednesday, Oct. 14, at the home of Mrs. Louis Anderson, on Woodward avenue.

AS ONE DRIVER to ANOTHER..

BOWMAN

• I know you have to drive faster than I do. But, say, look at these youngsters.
There's a lot of them on my Bowman route and I know 'em pretty well. Fine kids, but they're carefree and a little thoughtless about things like crossing the street. And now, you know, they've got to cross the streets, to and from school.
The mothers on my route are pretty anxious about their children... praying they won't get hurt. So I'm asking you, brother, please be careful.
