Editorial

IN APPROXIMATELY three weeks, the American people will make its way to the polls and select an executive head to administer the federal government for four years. For several months a stream of propaganda, information, appeal, opinion, and denunciation has flooded the country with the avowed intention of influencing this great American public, and swinging its choice to one or another of the several candidates.

In the midst of this barrage of literature and oratory it should be the duty of every citizen to stop and consider his own views on the matter. Each qualified and eligible voter should ask himself two questions: (1) Will I be legally able to vote on November 3rd; are the details of my personal registration in order? (2) Will I be prepared to vote intelligently?

If he cannot answer the first question satisfactorily the voter should go home and ponder the seriousness of his neglect—his virtual disloyalty to his country and his fellow-citizens—and then resolve to correct his error at the first opportunity.

The second question is not so easily answered, although happily there is still time to do something about it. Too often we allow ourselves to be influenced in a course of action by outside forces which we have not properly evaluated. This remissness is not due to conscious waywardness or desire to do wrong—it is the result of mental lethargy. The cares and duties of the day press heavily—personal efforts absorb thought and energy. Consequently it is easier to unthinkingly accept something that is handed out than by studying issues and characters to arrive at an independent decision.

Everyone is entitled to his own opinion. The important thing is that it be his own, and not one that has been manufactured by someone else.

Let each voter ponder the issues and factors involved in this election, weigh the facts, and arrive at his own choice. Then let him cast his vote according to that choice on November 3rd. If that is the way our President and other officials are elected, we need have no fear for the future of the Republic—throughout history the people have never let themselves down.

Large Representation Of Democrats Hear Senator J. Ham. Lewis

Highland Park, Highland and vicinity were well represented by the two thousand people who heard Sen. J. Ham. Lewis, charge that opponents to the Roosevelt administration are practicing deception to "sell Landon to the voters."

Speaking in the Waukegan high school Saturday night with state auditor Edward J. Barrett, attorney general Otto Kerner, and Lewis M. Long, candidate for congress-at-large, Senator Lewis chided Republicans with changing their position on major issues.

Mr. Kerner, besides outlining the work accomplished in his office, said that counties in Illinois needed more qualified men like Jack Bairstow in the state's attorney's office.

County candidates united to "end the reign of the courthouse gang who tag themselves Republicans." Those pledged to clean up the court house are Charles J. Wightman for Congress; Leo Dailey for state senator; Rep. Thomas A. Bolger; Stephen Drury for circuit clerk; David Van Patten for recorder; Jack Bairstow for states attorney; Dr. B. D. Lemery for coroner, and Edward McDermott for county auditor.

The next county-wide meeting will be held Saturday night, Oct. 17, when Gov. Henry Horner and other state candidates appear in Waukegan.

Pre-Season Opera Novelty Announced For October 24

An interesting pre-season innovation has been announced by Jason F. Whitney, president of the Chicago City Opera company. This novelty will be known as "A Trip Through the Opera" and will include a reception to the artists.

Oct. 24 has been selected for the event. There will be activities from 1 to 6 p.m. Tickets will be sold at the box office of the Civic Opera House and by women members of opera committees in North Shore towns, Hinsdale, and elsewhere.

Those who attend the tour will be given the opportunity of meeting all the opera stars who are in town at the time. The day is so close to the opera opening on Oct. 31 that most of them will be present.

"The purpose of the trip," Mr. Whitney explained, "is not only to satisfy the curiosity of those who want to know how opera is produced, but also to acquaint the opera-goers with the myriad details that make up the production of an opera."

"Every angle of the business, starting with back stage and finishing with the offices, will be shown. Scene shifting, rehearsals, orchestra and singer rehearsals, handling of lights and every other detail will be included. Then, when the listener next listens to an opera, the performance will have an additional charm because he or she will know of the thousand-and-one details being handled backstage and elsewhere in order that everything on the stage will take place in perfect order and on time."

Dudley Crafts Watson will be one of several speakers on the program.

Ten Weeks' Course In Current Affairs Opens Here October 14

The Adult Education Board working with Mr. Sandwick and Miss Buzard of the high school have planned a most interesting and stimulating course of lectures and discussions on current affairs. The course will open next Wednesday evening, Oct. 14, at 8:00 in the English club room of the high school and will continue for ten weeks. The same small fee, as asked in all the adult education classes, will be charged for the course. Single admissions will be somewhat more.

Excellent speakers and discussion leaders have been chosen for this course; Prof. Tracey Strevey and Prof. Franklin Sept of Northwestern university; Stanfield Sargent of Adelphi college, and Ralph McCallister, director of the Adult Education Council of Chicago. The program is as follows:

Oct. 14—Tracey Strevey: "The State of the Nation."

Oct. 21—Stanfield Sargent: "What is Propaganda and How Does it Work?"

Oct. 28—Stanfield Sargent: "Propaganda and the Dictators."

Nov. 4—Tracey Strevey: "Can America Be Neutral?"

Nov. 11—Franklin Scott: "If Spain is Serrano's Ground."

Nov. 18—Franklin Scott: "Areas of Conflict in Europe."

Nov. 25—Ralph McCallister: "The Task of Education in a Democracy."

Dec. 2—Tracey Strevey: "Results of the Election and the Outlook."

Dec. 9—Ralph McCallister: "Fundamental American Ideas."

Dec. 16—Franklin Scott: "Sweden, 'the Middle Way'."

Prof. Strevey will be welcomed back by many who heard him last year. He is professor of American history at Northwestern university, and has a great deal of understanding of our present American problems. His keen analysis and detached point of view make him a most valuable speaker.

Mr. Sargent has had a broad experience as teacher and lecturer in the fields of political science and psychology. He was professor of psychology at Adelphi college and special lecturer and discussion group leader for the Des Moines Public Forums. He emphasizes in his talks not so much the political events, as the national and local psychologies which underlie them and the varied types of propaganda which turn citizens into puppets.

Prof. Scott, a Ph.D. from Harvard, is teaching modern history at Northwestern university. He has spent recently a year and a half in Sweden and several months each in Germany, France and England for the purpose of research and travel. He is exceedingly well equipped to understand and discuss contemporary history.

Ralph McCallister is at present the new director of the Adult Education Council in Chicago and was formerly director of social studies in the public schools in Dearborn, Mich., and director of the Dearborn Community Forum for three years.

Songsters Can Join New Choral Club

It is a pleasure for those who possess a voice to sing, to express themselves in song. For those who listen it is a pleasure and an inspiration. There is no choral club in Highland Park for persons beyond the high school age that is open to everyone who can sing.

The YWCA is planning to organize a club that will answer this need and is at present negotiating with a young man who is heartily recommended by Northwestern's school of music as director for the chorus.

The association plans to have this club include both male and female voices. To help defray the expenses of the director and the music, a small fee will be charged. Those interested are asked to telephone or write the YWCA, Laurel avenue, H. P. 675, or Mrs. Carngait at 636 S. Linden ave., Tel. H. P. 2688, and such persons will receive a notice of the time and place of the organization meeting.

Bethany Receives New Student Pastor

It again is the happy privilege of the Bethany Evangelical Church to have a student pastor assist in its work during the next six months period. The Evangelical Theological Seminary of Naperville has formulated a program whereby it sends out all members of the Senior class, assigning them to a definite church from October 1 to Easter Sunday. It becomes the duty of the student pastor to share in all of the activities and functions of a local church. The local pastor gives definite assignments of work to be done over a two day period each week.

Rev. F. W. Boelter of Los Angeles, Calif., is the young man who will work at Bethany church under the direction of Rev. H. F. Siemsen. Mr. Boelter is a graduate of the University of California, and is now in his third year at the Seminary in Naperville. He has had considerable experience in Y. M. C. A. work and in young people's work on the University campus. He will add much to the interest of the young people's program at Bethany.
