Highland Park Leads Suburban District in December Building

The City of Highland Park with a December building volume of $112,700 led all Lake county municipalities for that month and was among the first ten cities for the entire Chicago suburban area, according to figures released in the monthly survey by S. W. Straus and company.

Suburban construction for 1936 with a total value of $27,340,184 not only broke all records for the district since 1931, but was eight million dollars greater than the year's permits issued by the City of Chicago. It was about twice as large as the 1935 volume, four times as large as the 1934 total and nearly six times that of 1933.

Highland Park's total for December easily led Lake county over the nearest city, North Chicago, where the monthly volume was $92,900.

Lake Forest was in third place with $50,664. Waukegan reported $44,360 for the month; Libertyville $41,000.

It was pointed out that a great wave of new home building in the suburban region was largely responsible for the record established in 1936. High priced residences were erected in Lake Forest, Highland Park, Evanston, Glenview, Wilmette, Oak Park and River Forest. The peak in home construction for 1936 was reached in July when construction amounted to $1,527,743.

Imagine driving your car with all the windows covered with heavy canvas! You probably would never attempt it. Neither would I.

Yet, a great many drivers do this very thing during a blinding snowstorm. It doesn't take very long for snow to interfere with the efficiency of the ordinary windshield wiper and also to cover the side windows of the car. Winter is here and snowstorms are upon us. Be sure that your windshield wiper is in good condition and that the wiper functions properly. Sometimes the rubber becomes worn and a new wiper is necessary. A small cost, but it can save you considerable annoyance and inconvenience. It is also a good safety measure to see that this equipment is in order.

Instead of stopping a minute for emergency cleaning of the windshield, may drivers will continue on their way, trusting to luck that they won't run into anything or anybody. Do not depend on luck.
