Fine Program at Deerpath Theatre

No motion picture ever filmed has ever received the acclaim awarded the Max Reinhardt production of "A Midsummer Night's Dream," which will open Friday, January 22, at the Deerpath theatre for two days at popular prices. Critics in New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston, Cleveland, and other great metropolitan centers in the United States where the "Dream" was shown at prices ranging from $1 to $11 for the best seats joined with reviewers in London, England, Vienna, Austria, and cities in Poland, Italy and France in declaring it the greatest picture ever produced.

Wallace Berry plays one of his most human roles in "Old Hutch," which opens at the Deerpath theatre Sunday, January 24 for two days. The story will be remembered from its original appearance in the Saturday Evening Post. The author was Garret Smith.

It's a new and different Mae West who parades her way through "Go West Young Man," her latest comedy which begins on Tuesday, January 26 for three days at the Deerpath theatre. And it's a new Mae West because the curvaceous beauty discovered years ago that "you've got to give 'em something new to keep 'em interested." Even the setting for her latest story is different.
