CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Spirit" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, February 7.

The Golden Text was, "We all with open face behold as in a glass the glory of the Lord, and are changed into the same image from glory to glory, even as by the Spirit of the Lord" (II Cor. 3:18).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Now we have received, not the spirit of the world, but the spirit which is of God; that we might know the things that are freely given to us of God" (I Cor. 2:12).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Spirit being God, there is but one spirit, for there can be but one in finite and therefore one God. Spirit is the only substance, the invisible and indivisible Infinite God" (P. 334-335).

Deerfield Drama Club

Comedy - Drama, February 26

On Friday, Feb. 26, at 8:15 o'clock in the Deerfield Grammar School auditorium the Presbyterian Dramatic club will present for the Deerfield, P.T.A. a brilliant three-act comedy by Gertrude Tonkonogy, entitled "Three Cornered Moon."

This play ran on New York's Broadway for one entire year. The New York News says of the play—"Something to cheer about in the theater world. A happy comedy—boasts the virtue of seeming not to have ever been written for any set pattern. If the trend of playgoers interest is toward simple and human plays—"Three Cornered Moon" is one they will find amusing."

Who doesn't know the dear woman whose husband left a small fortune and a houseful of irresponsible children on her hands? With what tender care she tries to bring them up the way they should go! With what tolerance she overlooks their shortcomings—with what love she presides over her home! We who look on sympathetically cannot help but be amused at the misdirected efforts and the blunders of the dear old soul while at the same time we hold her close to our hearts with loving regard. Miss Gertrude Tonkonogy looked deeply into the life of such a family when she wrote, "Three Cornered Moon" and the plaudits of the audience have testified that she saw truly and wrote magnificently.

From any point of view the Rimplegars are moonstruck. Even if you study them you will never hear two words out of them that make sense. In the first act they are considerably well off in the world; and being spared the necessity of working, they take out their lunacy in inventing complicated methods of suicide or in impulsive journeys. But suddenly they find themselves penniless. Mrs. Rimplegar, having sold out the family fortune to a margin broker, puts on her wrapper, does up her hair in a turkish towel and meanders dizzily around the house. That is why the Rimplegars go to work at starvation wages, and become a clan with a cause. But idle or industrious a Rimplegar is always the same. From one day to another he never tampers with logic.

This production promises to heighten the high standard set by past productions of the Dramatic club. The cast, under the direction of Kenneth Hunter, includes Mrs. F. C. Ritter, Frank Mennell, Donald Clark, Kathleen Galloway, Ralph DeShay, Mary Jane Galloway, David Jenkins, Harold Peterson, and Georgia Burch.

Playgoers are advised to purchase their tickets early as there are a limited number available. Tickets may be purchased from members of the Deerfield P. T. A. and the Dramatic club.

An Appreciation
The Philathea class of Bethany church, wishes to thank all those who helped to make their bakery sale on Saturday a success. The class is happy to report that $25.60 was received at this sale and the amount has been turned over to Mr. H. F. Kelley, local Red Cross chairman, for the American Red Cross Flood Relief fund.

Fresh fruits and vegetables can be purchased at all times at the Moraine Grocery and Market.

"Tall" Fish Story

Floors Experts

But Non-Angler Caps Climax by Proving His Story is Real McCoy

CHICAGO, Feb. 11.—While angling friends regaled each other with stories about the big ones that got away, Arthur Eaton, their host and only non-angler in the room, flabbergasted his guests by actually producing a rare fish, seldom if ever seen hereabouts—ocean Red Perch.

Calling his Japanese valet, Yama, he directed that a mysterious box from the refrigerator be fetched him. This, he placed on the center of the table. His friends crowded close, voices hushed, breath bated. And their eyes almost popped out of their heads as their host calmly brought forth honest-goodness ocean-fresh red perch fillets—the Atlantic Ocean water still glistening on them.

Red Perch from the ocean? Impossible! A fish so delicate it virtually must be eaten immediately after hooking! Where did he get it? How? When? These were the questions showered upon the triumphant Mr. Eaton.

The secret, he explained is Birds Eye Quick-Freezing. And here is how it works:

As the trawlers come steaming into the Boston docks bulging with their catches, they are met by a group of experts who take the glistening fish, wash them, trim them and fillet them. Then while the delicate fish are only a few hours from the briny deep their abundant flavor is literally SEALED IN by the Quick-Freezing machine located right on the docks.

This patented process of Quick-Freezing—Arctic cold applied with the speed of light—imprisons the full flavor of the fish while the taste of the ocean is still in its mouth. The freshness is caught in mid-air, as it were. And all the gusty tang of the perch—all the joys of a camp-fire fish fry—are yours whether you live miles from a fishing smack, in season or out.

Here indeed is not only a true fish story but truly a fish miracle. And the price, only 29c a lb. Serves four. They're boneless—all edible meat, and equals five pounds of whole red perch. Your Birds Eye dealer has these ocean-fresh Red Perch fillets, as well as four dozen other kinds of Birds Eye fruits, and vegetables, seafoods, poultry and meats. You'll probably find his advertisement elsewhere in this paper.
