All-School Play "Growing Pains" To Be Given Friday

"Growing Pains," a three act comedy by Aurora Rouvernal will be given Friday evening, in the high school auditorium, with an all school cast of 26.

The play is built around the trials and tribulations of a modern family with two high school students as the son and daughter.

Milton Tillman stars as George, the only son in the McIntyre family which lives in a spacious Spanish California home. Dotie Lytle is Terry McIntyre who ably presents the female version of the high school problems. Marcial Dubrucq and Keith Cary have the parts of Mrs. McIntyre and her eccentric Professor husband.

The most elaborate stage set in the history of the school will be used in this production. It consists of two level set of Spanish architecture with balcony, tile roof and patio. It was designed by Mr. Schneider of the Industrial Arts department and built with the assistance of Mr. Durbahn and the vocational boys, with the assistance of the drama class, which has done much of its own construction work. It took weeks of careful planning to get this set ready.

Express Appreciation for Patronage of St. Patrick's Dance

Chief Edward C. Hoskins of the Highland Park Fire department is deeply grateful to the citizens of Highland Park for their cooperation in making the annual ball of the firemen a success. The annual St. Patrick's dance given last evening at the Highland Park high school, was a delightful spring event, and the large crowd that attended reported a most enjoyable evening. Assistant Chief Cummings and his assistants should be complimented upon the success of the affair, for it was only through their untiring efforts that the goal was attained.

The evening meeting of the Highland Park League of Women Voters on Wednesday, March 24th at the Ravinia school auditorium is open to the public. These men can be interviewed after the meeting if so desired. Neither major political party is represented in the coming election. 'Michael and Mary' To Be Given Apr. 2 By Village Players

The Village Players of Highland Park will present "Michael and Mary," A. A. Milne's whimsical domestic comedy, Friday, April 2, 1937, at the Ravinia Village House in Highland Park.

Rehearsals have been progressing under the direction of Miss M. Miller of Glenoco, who is well known for her work with the Threshold Players of that city.

"Michael and Mary," with its regaling sense of British humor, has been a favorite with audiences since 1930 when Edna Best and Herbert Marshall starred in the play. It is the adventure of two young people who meet, marry, and rear a son under unconventional circumstances and in the face of a threat of danger that may at any moment bring disaster upon themselves and their home. Its theme is one of family love and loyalty springing from a threatened family tragedy.

Mr. Victor McKeighan of Wilmette, an actor of much experience, plays the lead in the stellar role of Michael. Mr. McKeighan has played in productions at the Pasadena Community Playhouse and has performed for the Affiliated Broadcasting Company of Chicago. He has had many leading roles with North Shore drama groups, including the role of Dr. Stanbulov in "Judgment Day," a political melodrama based on the Reichstag fire trial.

Laura Browning of Glenoco as Mary plays opposite Mr. McKeighan. She has taken leads in Threshold plays and in productions presented by the Dramateers, the Ravinia Players and the Winnetka Drama club. Her appearances over several years have been varied and numerous.

The cast contains many others well known for their work with local groups:

Mary	Laura Browning
Michael	Victor McKeighan
Mrs. Talvart	Helen Aldrich
Cuff	Sydney Fyfe
Simon Bove	Richard Steele
Inspector	Penrose Hopkins
Dr. Roberts	Robert Lester
Bono	Kathryn Bush
Harry Price	Robert Arnold
Doris	Robert Keyes
Miss Wally	Esther Grossman

The Misses Mary Louise and Ann Walters of Ravinia entertained at a lingerie shower, Friday evening, for Miss Florence Warren who is to be married this evening to Major W. C. Goldsborough of Maxwell Field, Montgomery, Ala.

This will be a talk on the very latest domestic and foreign events.

Mr. Snyder is a vigorous and stimulating speaker who brings his news to us in an original and fascinating manner, a speaker of humor, inspiration and action. He has had a life crowded with thrilling experiences with wide and varied contacts with great personalities and the Orient. He is well fortified with facts gathered through daily association with some of the outstanding political, business and industrial leaders of this country.

The National Editorial association says, "Mr. Snyder is one of the nation's great orators. His message in the light of events is almost prophetic." The members of the Ravinia Parent-Teacher association and their friends are strongly urged to attend this meeting and all those of the general public who care to hear Mr. Snyder are cordially invited. Tickets will be on sale during the week and a small admission will be charged.

Diversified Program of Musical Interest Promised for March 24

Mrs. Byron Howes of Maple avenue will open her home on Wednesday March 24, at 2:30 to members of the Highland Park Music club. A very diversified program has been prepared by Mrs. Hussey and her committee, of string ensemble, baritone solos, an original composition by Miss Marion Bard and a demonstration of the art of whistling to music, by Mrs. Hauby with Jessie Wood Sincere at the piano.

Jessie Buchtel, violinist; Mrs. Horween, cellist; Louise Evans, pianist-violist, three members of the Woman's Symphony orchestra, will render the Variations from Tchaikowski's trio in D minor, as well as other numbers. Mr. Arthur Edmunds, baritone, is a most delightful artist heard in concert, church, and opera in the principal music centers of America. His singing is characterized by splendid diction, natural and sincere presentation and remarkable range. Yeatman Griffiths of New York and Arthur Burton of Chicago have helped coach him in his climb to fame.

Miss Bard has been tutoring in piano and composition under Lee Pattison of New York for the past three years and has many original songs and instrumental works to her credit. Her "Caravan of the Night," scored for two violins, cello and piano, will have Mrs. Mannings as assisting violinist.

It has been the policy of the club the past three years to supplement the programs by their members with notable outside talent of neighboring cities and this program promises to be as worthy of attention as have been the previous recitals sponsored by the Highland Park Music club.
