

Chief Red Eagle Visits Braeside Summer Group

The children of the Braeside Summer club and their friends were pleasantly surprised on Monday afternoon, June 21, when Chief Red Eagle and his family appeared to present a program of Indian lore for them. Chief Red Eagle is a Sioux Indian from a northern Minnesota reservation.

The Indians were dressed in their tribal holiday attire and they showed the children a number of authentic Indian dances and taught them a little of the sign language and a few words in the native tongue of the Sioux. Red Eagle's wife, Mrs. Red Feather, did a number of tricks with a lasso rope and the Chief and his son, Little Pony, mystified the children by tying a white boy with a rope and then releasing him with one simple motion.

After the program, the children were given a chance to shake hands with the two little girls who were two and five years old, and Little Pony played baseball with the older boys. Chief Red Eagle invited the boys and girls to visit them on the reservation.

The Summer club, under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Whittaker, assisted by Miss Marquis, meets five afternoons a week, for play and for instruction in handicraft and nature study.

Miss Wests' Private School Closing Exercises June 30

A varied and interesting program will be given by Miss West and her pupils to mark the closing of the school year on June 30. The exercises will be held in the Odd Fellows hall at 7:45 p.m. on June 30.

The program opens with a patriotic tableau, after which early days in our history will be recalled by a play featuring John Smith and Pocahontas. During the past year the younger children have been making a study of the American Indian. They have made many Indian drawings, read a number of Indian story books, and for their sand table made a model of a Pueblo Indian village. This has put the younger children into the spirit of the play, and makes them an excellent supporting cast for the main characters.

Following the Indian play there will be an exhibition of marionettes. Two old-time favorites will be given, "The Three Bears" and "The Sleeping Beauty." The concluding number will be a song and dance number with the setting laid down on a southern plantation. The cotton-pickers, roustabouts, and farmhands are entertained by a wandering band of theatrical performers. Betty June Warren is in charge of the music and tap dancing, which are part of the regular program during the school year.

Hope H. Degenhardt directs the plays, puppet making, and the art work. An exhibition of the children's work will be hung in the entrance hall. Mrs. Murray Montgomery will be in charge of the costuming. Music by the Rhythm Kings. Guests by invitation only.
