

DEERFIELD LOCALS

Rotary Club

E. B. Jordan has charge of today's program for the Deerfield Rotary club at its weekly luncheon at Phil Johnson's restaurant. Last Thursday, W. K. Hout introduced Paul Downing of Highland Park who gave a most interesting talk on "The Banding of Birds." The members banded a blue-jay and released it at the meeting. The band contained Mr. Downing's mark, the date and "Notify U. S. Government."

Tea Room Parties

The last of the tea room jaunts of the Contract Bridge club is being held this afternoon at the Indian Trail Tea Room in Winnetka with Mrs. Anne Daniels and Mrs. Robert Greenslade as hostesses. The first party of the season was at the Willow Tree barn, west of Deerfield, with Mrs. Carl T. Anderson and Mrs. R. E. Pettis as hostesses; the second at Glengables in Glencoe with Mrs. Irving Brand and Mrs. Harry Baum as hostesses; the third at the Hearstone in Hubbard Woods with Mrs. Alexander Willman and Mrs. Delbert Meyer as hostesses; the fourth at the Chimneys in Winnetka with Mrs. John R. Notz and Mrs. Fred Siljestruc as hostesses; and the fifth at the Green Tea Pot in Highland Park with Mrs. Elmer Clavey and Mrs. Clarence Anderson as hostesses. The party today concludes the fourth summer of such parties.

Land Mark Sold

Mrs. B. L. Davis has sold her studio home on Saunders road to Mr. Callmer, an officer in the Deerfield Country club, which adjoins the property. The unusual home was made from a huge barn on the farm of the pioneer families, the Otts and Rockenbachs. The late Mr. Davis and his wife were both artists and had the building remodeled for a summer studio. The past season it has been called The Willow Tree Barn Tea Room and was managed by Helga Rosing. Mrs. Davis has gone to Grand Rapids, Mich., to live with a brother. It is reported that the same man has purchased the house just south of the Davis home, also. Miss Rosing was proprietress of Three Acres Tea Room in that location last year.
