Do you believe in New Year's resolutions? Whether you do or not, you love life, and because of that you should resolve not only to keep that life but also to protect the lives of others.

Therefore why not make a good New Year's resolution for 1938 and live up to it? Here are just a few suggestions:

1. I will be a safe pedestrian.
2. I will be a safe driver by exercising care and by protecting the rights of others.
3. I will not take foolish chances.
4. I will help others to drive and walk safely.

While there could be many more resolutions added to these, they will be enough if they are faithfully carried out.

Make your New Year's resolutions now to see 1938 through safely.

MM-M!

"Pardon me," said the stranger, "are you a resident here?"

"Yes," was the answer, "I've been here goin' on 50 years. What kin I do for you?"

"I am looking for a criminal lawyer," said the man. "Have you any here?"

"Well," said the other, "we're pretty sure we have, but we can't prove it."

Stogie Scowls
Walter Pidgeon, the sheriff, had to smoke twelve stogies while scowling at Nelson Eddy, during a sequence in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "The Girl of the Golden West."

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

SUNNY PICTURES INDOORS

An afternoon nap—and an indoor-sunlight picture of rare charm. Note how reflecting surfaces, the light walls, the bed spread, the white dress, soften and brighten the shadows. Exposure 1/10 second at f.8.

DO not feel, fellow snapshotters, that just because the sun stays out of doors you cannot make sunlight pictures inside.

Wherever sunlight streams through a window, there is a setting for a picture, often an extremely good picture, because of the play of light and shadow from the window-framing and curtains.

In a light-walled room, especially one with plain plaster walls or patternless wallpaper, the shadows in such an indoor-sunlight picture have a soft, luminous quality which gives the prints unusual delicacy and appeal. However, unless it is a sun-room that has windows facing in several directions, it is necessary to aid the shadow illumination with reflectors. These can be white sheets or pillowcases draped over a chair, white cardboard or blotter-paper, or anything else that will pick up the sunlight and cast it toward the subject's shadow side.

In addition, the light may be pleasingly softened by a close-mesh window curtain through which the sunbeams pass. With such a diffuser, exposure should be about double what you would give outside in the sun. The sunlight should come from above, slanting downward upon the subject and amateur floodlight bulbs can be used to soften shadows where reflectors are insufficient.
