Deerfield Fire Dept. Answers Two Calls

Deerfield has been very fortunate this fall in having so few fires. Until last week the Deerfield Volunteer Firemen had not had a call since October 5, and that was not a serious one.

On Thursday, December 23 the firemen were called to the Hofelder residence, formerly the Lidgerwood house, where an overheated chimney resulted in about $25.00 in damages. The following day, December 24, they answered a call at Osterman Ave. and Chestnut St., where James Kilroy's automobile had caught fire. Wires burned and the paint was damaged and the estimated loss, according to Fire Chief Conrad Uchtman, was $15.00.

Fire Chief Uchtman advises local residents not to go away and leave the dampers on stoves and furnaces open and to observe all the rules of safety and precaution.

Mrs. Kottrach Is Buried On Monday

Mrs. Theresa Kottrach passed away on Friday, December 24, at her home on Elm street, Deerfield, after a lingering illness. Mrs. Kottrach would have been 87 years old on January 23, 1938. Funeral services were held on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home with Rev. James V. Murphy of the Holy Cross Catholic church officiating. Burial was in the North Shore Garden of Memories.

Surviving Mrs. Kottrach are her three children, Frank, Adolph and Marie, all of Deerfield. Her sons, who own the Deerfield Greenhouses on Elm St., have been successful business men in the village for the past twenty-five years, and all lived together at 457 Elm street, coming here from Germany.

LIBRARY

Bible Stories

The religious instinct in a little child is strong and expresses itself with simplicity and faith. If a child is made familiar with the Bible from a very early age—its simple but elevated and beautiful language will bring many parts of the Bible within even a little child's comprehension. The men and women of the Bible lived and were human like ourselves. Their hearts are shown good or bad, repentant or unrepentant; their deeds speak for themselves for and against them with little or no comment and thus speak directly to a child about the good and the bad in ourselves.

Your Public Library offers you a variety of Bible stories—for young and old.

For the Older Children—

The Bible for Young People—Arranged from the King James Version with twenty-four full page illustrations from old masters.

De la Mare—Stories from the Bible. Thirty stories from the first nine books of the Old Testament.

Goodspeed—Junior Bible. Stories from the Old and New Testaments. Hedges—When the King Came. Stories from the four Gospels, retold in a dignified manner with the traditional interpretation.

Hunting—The story of our Bible. "How it grew to be what it is." Hurlbutt—Bible Atlas. The geography of the Bible.

Sherman—The Children's Bible. A carefully selected collection of Bible stories from the Old and the New Testaments.

Stuart—Tell Me a True Story. Tales of Bible heroes for children of today.
