

Emphasizes Need for Understanding in School and Home

That parents and teachers should have the same objective—the all-round development of the child's personality—was the central idea of Dr. F. C. Rosencrantz, of the School of Education of Northwestern University, in speaking before the High School Parent-Teacher association last Thursday.

Dr. Rosencrantz emphasized the need for a complete understanding between the school and the home if this objective was to be accomplished. He urged parents to visit the school so often that the child would not associate his parents' coming to school with any difficulty on his part. He gave many enlivening instances of misunderstandings between parents and teachers which had been easily cleared up by a few words of conversation.

Must Be Sincere

First of all, parents and teachers must be sincere with young people. They must examine themselves to be sure that they themselves practice the conduct they expect of their children. "Young people are not easily fooled. They will see through

There are three possible approaches to this all-round development of the child," said Dr. Rosencrantz, "the individual, the group, and the situation."

The individual approach, he went on to point out, must take into consideration the five basic drives which animate every child, none of which should be continually frustrated if he is to reach full development.

The first of these is the desire for attention and recognition, or social approval. This desire is powerful

Deerfield Women To Hear Book Review

Mrs. Donald Easton will review "The Rains Came" by Louis Bromfield on Tuesday afternoon, January 18, at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Lewis Ashman in Deerfield. The book reviews are sponsored by the Art and Literature department of the Deerfield Woman's club.

Carson Pirie Scott and company's, "The Book Parade" contained the following account of the book to be reviewed:

"The Rains Came" is probably Mr. Bromfield's best book. A story of how disaster—earthquake and flood changed the lives of a fascinating group of people told against the color-shot backdrop of modern India, a backdrop of splendor and savagery, rottenness and beauty, terror and mystery. The characters are the Maharajah of Ranchipur, Tom Ransome who's gone to India to drink himself to death, a rich British peer, his intelligent and promiscuous wife and many others. The tense tale is set down with all the skill and power for which Mr. Bromfield is noted. Harper.

Causes Accident

Southern Hartman, 35, colored, of Highland Park, was held to the grand jury Tuesday by Justice of the Peace Richard Martin on a charge of reckless driving.

Placed on probation in county court last month after pleading guilty to drunken driving, Hartman violated his probation on New Year's eve, police declared.

On Dec. 31, it was charged, Hartman caused an accident on Sheridan road in Highland Park. He was unable to raise his $1,000 bond.

Social Security Aid At Post Office Today

Albert S. Lewis, manager of the Social Security at Waukegan, is at the Highland Park post office today (Thursday) for the purpose of helping employers in filling out forms. He will be able to answer any questions pertaining to social security, which employees or employers may care to ask him.

"Friendly Center" Welcomes Many At Opening Thursday

The Thursday afternoon "Friendly Center" for household employees was launched at the Y.W.C.A. last week. Throughout the afternoon girls came and went, some for the first time becoming acquainted with the Y.W.C.A. Table games, conversation and refreshments furnished entertainment for the afternoon. This open house entertainment is extended every Thursday afternoon to all household employees. New girls in town are especially urged to come and make new friends.

The social dancing classes for grade and high school pupils conducted by Marion Keeney will meet this Friday night at the Y.W.C.A.

Dr. Lois Greene, who is so well known to many in Deerfield and Highland Park and whose interesting letters from China have been appearing in the Press, left China on December 30, with a group of Americans, who were promised safe passage by boat to Manila. From there it is expected that she will return to the United States. Dr. Greene was head of the department of Otolaryngology at Hunan Yale Medical college in Changsha, Hunan Province, China.
