These invitations are sent to the ten following grade schools: Elm Place, Lincoln, Ravinia, Braeside, Wilmet, Deerfield, Wheeling, Oak Terrace, Ridge, and St. James.

CAPS AND GOWNS DECIDED FOR GRADUATING SENIORS

By an overwhelming majority, the seniors of the Highland Park high school voted for caps and gowns for graduation. It was decided that the girls would wear white shoes with white caps and gowns and that the boys would wear black shoes with blue caps and gowns.

The caps and gowns will be hired the day before graduation in order that the seniors may have their pictures taken in them.

SHOP CLASS STUDENT BUILDS KI-YAK IN SCHOOL

Ralph Nelson, a member of Mr. Schneider's shop class at the Highland Park high school, has all but finished a two-place ki-yak in the school shop.

The light framework is practically finished. Ralph plans to finish the boat at home, as the class period is too short to finish the canvas covering of the boat.

High School Offers Classes To Correct Defects In Speech

In order that students may not be handicapped by speech defects in holding positions after graduation, the Highland Park and Lake Forest high schools are offering special classes one day a week under the direction of Mrs. Edward P. Norcross in order to correct or improve such speech problems as stammering, lisping, mumbling, and foreign substitutions.

As the students seldom appreciate their speech faults, the class membership is largely determined through recommendations of teachers who observe a student likely to find his speech a handicap in later life. Students sometimes resent being recommended for the class, but when it is pointed out that parents are so used to them that they do not notice their faults and that close friends hesitate to say anything about it, the difficulty disappears and they enter enthusiastically upon the work.

In practically all cases the physical basis of poor speech may be corrected, but it is pointed out to students that without the proper mental attitude no change can be made. It is also called to their attention that it is common knowledge among speech experts that the finest voices are often possessed by individuals who at one time suffered speech disorders.

Besides the personal integrity and social recognition of good speech, its importance in seeking a job is emphasized. As there are altogether too many applicants for the jobs to be had, it is considered wise that each individual develop every feature of his personality in order to win success. Many employers reject applicants through an inference that careless, indifferent, or unpleasant speech is indicative of the individual's personality.

The first work in the class consists of the diagnosis of each member's individual difficulty by means of a number of tests. Students who cannot attend the class are urged to analyze their own voices through a comparative study of a recording of their voices and the articulation and tone of the voices of radio speakers and announcers. The individual's diagnosis of his own speech is an important step toward speech improvement.

The next step consists of those individual adjustments in thinking, habits, and exercises that will bring about the desired change.

A year in the class is usually sufficient to bring about a sufficient change to warrant a person continuing the work by himself.

300 Young Chicks Burn In Deerfield

A second disastrous fire for Richard Antes happened Tuesday evening about 7 o'clock, when his chicken house caught fire and smothered 300 baby chickens. The Deerfield Volunteer Fire department responded immediately and extinguished the blaze but the chicks had suffocated. Just two years ago Mr. Antes lost 700 chickens in a fire which destroyed a chicken coop.

Deerfield has been fortunate in having so few fires. During 1937 the total loss by fire in the village was less than one thousand dollars. The greatest single loss was about $350 at the Paul Kress home last year.

An Evening Of Delightful Drama

There is still time to purchase a ticket at one of the local drug stores for an evening of real entertainment at the Highland Park Woman's club Friday, March 11, at 8:15. Included in the large cast are the two professionals, Ginger Jones, known to radio audiences in and around Chicago, Louise Bennett, who has acquired a reputation for fine acting in the East, Enid Phillips and Mary Jane Schultz whose dramatic work along the North Shore has won them deserved honor, David Suttle, who played at the Globe theatre during the Chicago Fair, Julian Harris, who starred in last year's Drama Group production, Carl Buell, Perry and Francis Ronan, Robert Bedini, Harry Eichler, Kenneth Keightly, Ralph Smith, Dora Peterson, Mrs. W.
