

Weekly Review Of Candidates For Primaries April 12

(Continued from page 1) ed local schools in his youth and then moved to Michigan with his parents, later returning to Lake county.

Bart Tyrrell

Bart Tyrrell, who is seeking the nomination for the office of Sheriff of Lake county, is probably one of the best known men who ever engaged in law enforcement work in Lake county, having been connected with the police work in various capacities for twenty-two years.

The Democrats who favor Tyrrell's candidacy feel that no better background could be had for a sheriff of Lake county; in the first place, they point out, there is no man in the county better known nor more generally trusted.

Tyrrell is forty-six years old, married and the father of four children; he makes his home in Waukegan and at present is on a vacation which will extend throughout his campaign.

Tyrrell was a candidate in the 1934 election. He polled a tremendous vote in that campaign and missed the election very narrowly. At present he is prepared to campaign actively and will spend much of his time in rural districts.

It was during the time when A.V. Smith was States Attorney that Bart Tyrrell was the instrument by means of which three notorious murderers were brought to justice in one of the most dastardly crimes of the period.

Emanuel R. Parnass

Emanuel R. Parnass, who is seeking the nomination of Probate Judge on the Democratic ticket, was born in Poland about 40 years ago.

accepted and returned to the Army as the youngest Captain in the service. During his services in the Regular Army he was on the staff of General George Bell.

T. A. Simpson

T. A. Simpson, who held the office of Superintendent of County Schools for 24 years, or six consecutive terms, is again seeking the office in which he was popular, returning to the educational field after two years as manager of the Citizens National Bank building, with its many offices, in the city of Waukegan.

Mr. Simpson's story as a public servant is an outstanding one. Few men have held that position in the State of Illinois as long as did Mr. Simpson. During his incumbency so much improvement was made in the school system of the county, so many changes were brought about, that at the end of Mr. Simpson's term of service the school system of the county compared favorably with that of any county in the State.

Mr. Simpson is appearing on a Democratic ticket before the April Primaries, because, he declares, of his admiration for the efficiency of the present State administration.

During the time that Mr. Simpson served as county superintendent he was a great favorite in the rural districts. He received a great deal of favorable publicity in such publications as "Prairie Farmer" and "Farmer's Wife," both of them publications of national circulation.
