

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY INITIATION TO BE APRIL 8

Twenty-four candidates for the National Honor society, the highest honor for four years of work in the high school, have been chosen for 1938. The National honor society initiation will be held on Friday, April 8, in assembly at Highland Park high school. Each student was judged on the basis of scholarship, leadership, character, and service.

Making every attempt to have the final choice as fair as possible, the students were first selected on the basis of office records, advisers' recommendations, and student opinion. After studying all of the data, a committee composed of the principal, the deans, and the boys' and girls' advisers made the following selections:

The scholarship of the students for the first seven semesters was compiled by Mr. Richardson's office. To be eligible, it was necessary for the candidates to be among the 61 students in the first quarter of the class. The maximum number selected from this group was limited to 15 per cent of the class.

The character of the candidates was judged on the basis of the three previous year's character ratings made by session advisers and two additional teachers. Advisers' recommendations and special comments were also considered.

Service, the least tangible of the four qualifications, was taken to mean outstanding work of some nature to the school that is voluntary and without any special honor or recognition.

For the first time this year, all members of the senior class were asked to vote on the qualifications of the students. They were given a list of the sixty-one students in the upper quarter and asked to rate them according to their leadership.

For six years the Girls and Boys clubs, which have had the responsibility of initiation service, have financed the purchase of the National Honor society pins.

The following graduates and members of the National Honor society will officiate at the initiation ceremony:

Chairman—Tom Hawkins '35, who is now attending Lake Forest college.

Scholarship—Joan Dexter '33, who is an assistant teacher at the Elm Place school.

Character — John Seyfarth '36, who is attending Northwestern university.

Leadership — Pete Trucano '36, who is attending Northwestern university.

Service—Carolou Coale '35, who is attending a kindergarten school in the city.

Holy Cross Bowlers Get Prizes Tonight

The regular bowling season ended last Thursday evening. Men of the Holy Cross Catholic parish have met each Thursday evening in Highland Park to roll up their scores and tonight will be the final night of bowling with the distribution of prizes. The two teams entered in the Holy Name tournament will bowl against each other.

Bob Cole took high game last week with a gross of 238. Coleman's team won with a 968 game. On Sunday afternoon a picked team of bowlers played Glenview.

Garden Problems at Bannockburn Club

The Bannockburn Garden club met on Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Kenneth F. Towler. Practical gardening problems were discussed by the members in an informal round-table. The club has exhibited a potted plant at the annual flower show in Chicago.

Members of the Junior Bannockburn Garden club are exhibiting a map of the United States with trees native to each state. Last year they made a map of native flowers of each state.

Cassius Easton is ill with pneumonia in the Highland Park hospital. Mr. Easton is proprietor of one of the local taverns.

LIBRARY

"Things to Hear, to See, and to Do in Spring." The sun has crossed the line, and it is spring, with robins and bluebirds back again, with pussy-willows and watercress to look for.

While the chill of winter still lingers in the shaded portions of swamps and ponds, we listen to the croaking, but vibrant voices of the frogs; and if we look carefully in the cold water of a shallow pond we shall find the jelly-like masses of eggs already there.

The skunk-cabbage has already been seen for a long time, and soon the dandelion, the hepatica and the violet will cover the ground of field and forest with a bright spring-carpet.

And what about the garden and the thousand and one things to be done there?

Bates — Gardeners' First Year. An interesting and practical book for beginners. Directions for planting and caring for flowers. Information about soil, tools, seeds; also diseases and insects.

Bianco — Green Crosses the Garden. Humorous and delightful, but practical advice for the young gardener.

Bronson — Pollwiggles' Progress. The life story of a bullfrog.

Burgess — Burgess Bird Book for Children. Information given in reliable and comprehensive story form.

Burgess — Burgess Flower Book for Children. Written in story form with fine photographic illustrations.

Doubleday — Birds Worth Knowing. An all around bird book.

Eberle — Hop, Skip and Fly. Stories of small creatures.

Hylander — The Year Round. The wild life of the out-of-doors in spring, summer, autumn and winter. A delightful book of instruction.

Kenly — Wild Wings. In chronological order the author tells about nests, eggs, habits, coloring, and songs and many kinds of birds.

Mathews — Book of Wild Flowers. Description of flowers as they appear from April to October, with interesting information concerning their life history and habits.

Mathews — Field Book of Wild Birds and Their Music. A description of character and music of birds; intended to assist in identification of species common in United States east of the Rockies.

Patch — Hexapod Stories. Simple stories of insect life presented through a year's changes making a complete life story.

Rogers — Trees Every Child Should Know. "Simple, interesting description of familiar American trees and means of identifying them."

Sharp — The Spring of the Year. A book of suggestions — things to feel, to think about; a "stop-to-listen-and-look" book.

Wodell — Beginning to Garden. A simple book for beginners. Discusses indoor and outdoor gardening; and various ways of planning a garden; tools, soils, and feeding.

West Deerfield Twp. Lowers Tax Rates

The annual Town meeting was held in the West Deerfield Town Hall, Deerfield, on Tuesday afternoon. Supervisor James O'Connor acting as chairman and Miss Irene Rockenbach, town clerk, as secretary. The annual tax levies were presented and approved. Electors approved the poor relief levy of 30 cents on $100 assessed valuation, as required by the state in order to be eligible for sales tax. The road and bridge levy remains the same — 25 cents on the $100 assessed valuation, but the general tax was reduced thirty-three and one-third per cent (33 1/3%) which is welcome news to all tax payers. The levy was lowered from 27 cents to 18 cents.

Mrs. Fred Trute of Chicago spent Sunday with her parents, the Albert Roggows of Park avenue.

VOTE FOR JOHN FAY HARRIS Republican Candidate Representative in Congress

10TH ILLINOIS CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT

John Fay Harris is the only candidate for the Republican nomination for Representative in Congress who resides in Lake County.

Lake County has always determined who the Republican nominee shall be.

There is no question as to the capability of John Fay Harris to represent the Tenth Congressional District as its Congressman.

John Fay Harris has, without having been in Congress, accomplished the following:

1. Caused legislation to be introduced into the House of Representatives and the Senate to deport all foreign born communists and other subversives.
2. Deportation of all aliens who have resided in the United States five years or more, who have refused to assume responsibilities of citizenship while accepting its benefits.
3. The reopening of the Naval Station in Great Lakes.

BELOW IS THE PERSONAL PLATFORM OF JOHN FAY HARRIS:

1. Repeal Surplus and Undivided Profits Tax.
2. Adequate National Defense for Defense.
3. Place Communism and other subversive revolutionary isms under jurisdiction of sedition laws.
4. Provide adequate assistance for all elderly people.
5. Have Congress assume Constitutional responsibilities.
6. Balance the Budget by reduced Federal expenditures.
