GIRL SCOUTS

The announcement of Miss Jane McWhinney's engagement to David Henry Davis was of real interest to council, leaders and girl scouts. Through her enthusiasm and activity as a leader, Miss McWhinney stimulated her mother's interest and Mrs. Curtis McWhinney is a valuable and ardent worker on the Highland Park Girl Scout council. Coupled with sincere best wishes and congratulations was the hope that Miss McWhinney would continue to live in Highland Park. The Chicago Daily Tribune announcement was not specified in that detail, so we were delighted when the Press announcement read "the couple will make their home here."

Mrs. Theodore Osborn who is in London, England, has again demonstrated her characteristic thoughtfulness of others, by sending a clipping from the London Times with the message "Thought this might be of interest to the Girl Scouts in Highland Park."

Reprint from London Times, April 13, 1938.

Work of Girl Guide Movement—the Princess Royal's message: "A message from the Princess Royal, president of the Girl Guides association, was read at the annual meeting of the Imperial council of the association, held at headquarters yesterday, as follows:

Nineteen hundred and thirty seven was a most eventful year, and it gave me great pleasure to attend several of the Girl Guide Coronation celebrations. I was impressed by the high standard of the rallies and by the keenness of the guides taking part.

I was particularly glad to be able to visit the camp at Chigwell in May, and to have the opportunity of meeting guides from all parts of the Empire who had travelled so many hundreds of miles to see the Coronation.

During this last year international intercourse has gone well ahead, and visits have been exchanged by guides of many different countries, and a most successful international camp was held in Scotland at Blair Atholl.

In December I enrolled several Guides and Brownies in the first Buckingham Palace company and pack, among whom were their Royal Highness, the Princess Elizabeth and Margaret.

I am very glad to hear that our world total has increased by over 56,000, though there is still a decrease in this country, and a great need for more guides. I understand a committee is drawing up a most interesting report on what they believe to be the reasons for the decrease, and I feel sure this will prove most helpful.

68,000 Campers Last Year

Dame Helen Gwynne-Vaughan, chairman of the executive committee, in moving the adoption of the report, said 3,721 camps had been held in this country last year, comprising 67,122 campers.

In referring to the excellent co-operation which existed between the Girl Guides association and other organizations, she mentioned in particular the physical training organizers shared with the National Council of Girls' clubs. She also referred to the increase of guide visitors to this country from overseas, and to the great success of the first organized Sea Ranger training, which took place on board the Implacable at Portsmouth last summer.

Representatives from seven Colonies gave reports of the progress of guiding in their countries.

The above news is worthy of reprint for it will be noted that the Girl Scouts and Girl Guides have much in common. In progress; high standards, camping, increase of visitors from other countries, cooperation with other organizations, and Sea Rangers, which are called Mariners in the U.S.A. The mutual problems are; maintaining interest, leadership membership, and the study of these problems which are more or less bound to exist in organizations of 99 per cent volunteer service. However the successes of such organizations are much more glorious when achieved and a greater share of satisfaction is experienced by those engaged in volunteer service.

Frances Elizabeth Willard, 1839-1888 and American educator and social reformer was born in New York but was graduated from the Northwestern Female college at Evanston, Ill. In 1871 she was made president and professor of esthetics of the Woman's college, Evanston, which in 1873 was incorporated with Northwestern university. During her life of 59 years, Miss Willard did much in the cause of temperance. Her home in Evanston has been kept intact, and is now used as the national headquarters of the W.C.T.U. (Woman's Christian Temperance union). The State of Illinois chose Frances Willard as one of the two most illustrious citizens and in 1905 her statue was presented to Statuary Hall in Washington. She is the only woman to whom this honor has been given. For one of their observation projects for study, Mrs. Everett Bellei took Elm Place Troop No. 7 to "Cottage Rest" which is the name of Frances Willard's home. In the thirteen room house there were many interesting things, but the girls' interest centered about Frances Willard's den, which contained many antiques and gifts collected from foreign countries. Another interesting feature was the library and literature room.

North Shore Line Adopts Time Change

Schedules of all North Shore Line trains were moved ahead one hour last Sunday morning to conform with the change from standard to daylight saving time in Chicago and the suburban area. New time tables showing the adjusted operating times are obtainable at all stations of the company, it is announced.

One important change is announced in connection with the new schedule. The northbound Milwaukee train leaving Chicago at 5:30 a.m. every day except Sunday, has been discontinued. In its place, a train leaving downtown Chicago at 6:05 a.m., has been added. The new train will operate daily over the Sokie Valley route.
