

"The Missus Goes to Market" Program at Community Grocery

and Michigan, to take part in one of these programs, the sponsors, Fitzpatrick Bros., makers of Automatic Soap Flakes, decided to have special broadcasts at grocery stores in different neighborhoods every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. Thus, giving every woman not only a chance to take part in a broadcast, but also giving her the unusual opportunity of hearing her own voice over the radio.

Tommy Bartlett, Radio Announcer
This is made possible through the facilities of the $20,000 Columbia Broadcasting Company trailer studio. This beautiful blue and silver trailer studio is equipped with radio receiving and sending apparatus for making recordings of special broadcasts such as THE MISSUS GOES TO MARKET.

The recording made at the neighborhood grocery store in the morning is heard over Station WBBM at 11:15 a.m. Friday morning.

The grocers have cooperated whole-heartedly with these popular MISSUS GOES TO MARKET broadcasts. They even go to the trouble of cleaning away all their floor displays to give room for the huge crowds of shoppers that flock to their stores on these days.

A wave of friendliness sweeps right in as Tommy Bartlett, his mike and the ladies get ready to put on the MISSUS GOES TO MARKET!

The women enjoy the fun and good times... the grocers are thrilled with the great numbers of old and new customers that are attracted to their stores and the big increase of business that results. Everybody's happy and the millions of radio listeners are highly entertained by the jolly housewives who give their opinion of life, love, holding a husband and so forth.

The women of this community can take part in a MISSUS GOES TO MARKET broadcast next Thursday morning at 10:30 o'clock at the Community Service Grocery at Highland Park, Ill.
