DRIVERS — OR DRIVEN?

We still have to learn how to live with the automobile. Both as pedestrians and drivers we are much at the mercy of other drivers. At the wheel, we are also at the mercy of ourselves, when our driving skill is inadequate. And in a sense, we are at the mercy of the machine.

For one thing, many modern motorcars can go faster than many modern drivers can think—and act. "Cannonball" Baker, professional record-smasher, who has driven more than 3 million miles, often at forced speeds, and what has had only one accident and that when his own car was standing still, says: "The average man's reflexes are not fast enough to handle the demands of today's automobiles."

personal reflexes against his car's speed. It is a speed that is right for him, given his physiological and mental makeup. For some exceptional drivers this "safe" speed may be high, but for many it is certainly not more than 40 or 45 miles an hour. . . .

But the campaign for highway safety—while it focuses chiefly on eliminating auto deaths and maimings, as, patently, it ought to—has other aspects. For instance, bad conduct on the highways can pump up the blood pressure, perhaps can harden the arteries, and surely can upset the digestion, and with it one's peace of mind.

Here is a driver—and where is he not?—who feels that that car ahead, moving a little slower than his own, must be passed at all costs, that the light must be beaten, that any other driver on the road who seems to violate the rules of infringe on his pride, must be disciplined with inner anger and perhaps with downright discourtesy and cursing. Of course, he may cause no accident. He may leave the death and injury toll where he found it. But the resultant turmoil has a price—and he will pay it, in frayed nerves, in an overworked heart.

Yes, we must not only make the highways safe for others, but we must also make them safe for ourselves. We must learn how to drive with serenity. Otherwise we are not driving the car. It is driving us.

For the Girl Scout's Scrap Book
 They stood at the top of "The Camp O' the Hills"
 In their eyes were the joys of a million of thrills—
 Brown eyes and blue eyes so merry and true—
 Your two Virginias and your Mary Lou.

Slender young figures in green of the wood;
 Group of the Shirwoods named for "Robin Hood"—
 O, what delight is this glorious ramp—
 Three little counsellors in a Scout camp.

From each path comes the sound of light footsteps at play;
 Laughter of children is coming our way;
 We behold them in joy as they stand in the sun
 Tanned by its kisses and brown every one.

The lake like a mirror shines down far below;
 The sunset is tinting the sky with its glow;
 The songs of the scouts wake the echoes so deep
 That old daddy hoot owl awakes from his sleep.

The scouts scurry upward and sing as they go;
 The camp fires are gleaming with sparkling glow;
 All gather to sing 'til from over the hill
 Comes the chirp of the cricket—every one of the thrills
 That a girl scout can find in the "Camp O' the Hills."

Local Woman Plays Part In Centennial Celebration July 10

On July 9, 10 and 11 occurred the centennial celebration of the organization of the first church of any kind to be formed in this county. This church is the pretty little Ivanhoe Congregational church, a mile west of Mundellien.

It was organized in the log cabin home of Mrs. Mercy Payne, a real daughter of the American Revolution.

On Saturday evening an impressive pageant was given depicting the interesting history of the church. The part of Mrs. Mercy Payne was played by one of her descendants, Mrs. W. O. Bell of Highland Park.

Do You Know Illinois

Q. When, by whom, and approximately where was the first settlement made in Chicago?
 A. Sometime in 1674-75 the first settlement was made at Chicago by Father Marquette, a priest of the Society of Jesus, and he placed his settlement at what is now 24th and Damen streets.

Q. When and where did Father Marquette die?
 A. Father Marquette died May 18, 1675, near the mouth of the St. Joseph River in Michigan.

Q. Where was Father Marquette buried?
 A. He was buried where he died, and then the next winter the Indians dug up his bones, washed them, and returned them to the Mission of St. Ignace at Mackinac where they are buried beneath the altar.

Q. Has Father Marquette's Journal, "Voyage et decouverte de quelques pays et nations de l'Amerique Septentrionale", been translated into English?
 A. Yes, by J. G. Sheas, and entitled "Discovery and Exploration of the Mississippi."

Q. Who were the successors of Father Marquette in the missionary work among the Indians?
 A. Father Claude Allouez until 1689, and Father Jacques until 1705.

Q. When and where was the Mission of the Seminary for Foreign Missions established?
 A. This was a mission to the Tamaroa tribe at Cahokit, and was established in the American Bottom in 1699.

Q. Have any citizens of the State of Illinois had their names inscribed in the Hall of Fame for Great Americans in New York City?
 A. Yes, three. They are: Abraham Lincoln, U. S. Grant, and Frances Willard.

Q. Have any of the Supreme Court Justices of the United States come from Illinois?
 A. Yes, two. They were David Davis, on the bench from 1862 to 1877, and Melville W. Fuller, on the bench from 1888 to 1910, during which time he was for some years Chief Justice.

Q. Have there been any United States Secretaries of State who claimed Illinois as their home?
 A. Yes, two. They were Elihu B. Washburn (1869), and Walter Q. Gresham (1893).

Q. Has there ever been a Secretary of Commerce who claimed Illinois as his home?
 A. Yes, Robert P. Lamont, who was appointed in 1929.

Wodden Shoes in Illinois

Wooden shoes, once commonly used in and near New Baden, Illinois, are still in demand, especially by the older residents of Dutch descent, according to information gathered by research workers of the Federal Writers' Project W.P.A., for a guide book to the state. This type of footwear can be seen prominently displayed for sale at Albers in Clinton county.
