

New Responsibility Law Not Compulsory Insurance Law

Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor club, who has received from Governor Horner the pen with which the financial responsibility bill was signed, explained that the new law was in no sense a compulsory insurance law.

He said that no person would be compelled to carry insurance, and even the driver who had been reckless had other alternatives. He can deposit a surety bond, a real estate bond, cash, or securities instead of insurance. The club president said that proof of financial responsibility is required from those persons who have their driver's license revoked under the provisions of the driver's license law.

"This phase of the law," said Mr. Hayes, "tends to make it a safety measure of great importance."

Another feature, he explained, was that phase which demanded proof of financial responsibility for those who had judgments entered against them in automobile accident cases and who did not pay these judgments within thirty days after they became final.

When the driver's license is revoked, according to the provisions of the new law, the registration of all the driver's cars is also revoked and his number plates taken away. A new license will be refused until he has given proof that he can pay for future accidents. With his license suspended and number plates recalled by the secretary of state, he cannot drive until he has paid the judgment and at the same time given proof of his ability to pay for future accidents.

Clerks of court must send records of convictions and unpaid judgments to the secretary of state. Instalment payments on judgments may be paid on application to the court, provided the purpose is to retain a driver's license. Bonds of reliable surety companies will be taken and bonds signed by two personal sureties and secured by real estate. A policy of insurance is also acceptable.

Mr. Hayes explained that proof of financial responsibility could be tendered after a judgment had been rendered. In that case conviction or a judgment would not cause the suspension of driving privileges under the financial responsibility provisions.

Mr. Hayes said that compulsory insurance was unfair and burdensome, because it required everybody to buy insurance regardless of whether he is a reckless driver. In the case of the financial responsibility law, however, he said, the driver is not forced to go to the expense of obtaining insurance or other proof unless he actually proves himself to be reckless.

Financial responsibility laws are now in effect in 28 states, the District of Columbia, and Hawaii territory.

Illinois Dunes Park Offers Prizes For Amateur Pictures

Stephen V. Hotham, general manager of Illinois Dunes Park Association, announces $25 in cash prizes will be offered amateur photographers for best photos or snapshots taken in the Illinois Dunes Park prior to July 31, 1938. First prize will be $15; second, $3; and there will be seven additional awards of $1 each.

This picturesque playground, visited by many thousands in a little more than four years of operation, offers a rich variety of life and natural scenery far surpassing other beauty spots in the Chicagoland area. It is indeed a mecca for candid cameramen! Its wide variety of flowers, shrubs and plants of many different colors; sand dunes; never-faded pine trees; foot trails and winding bridle paths, along the 3 1/2 miles of Lake Michigan between Waukegan and the Illinois-Wisconsin state line, offers ample objects for photographing.

Complete Sewer Project in Highwood; Begin Second Project

The $30,000 W.P.A. sewer project along Western avenue, north of Prairie in the City of Highwood was completed early this week when workmen placed a cover on a recently constructed man hole.

With the completion of this project, city employees and other W.P.A. employees prepared a second sewer job, a $24,000 one to provide a sanitary artery from Western avenue, east to Michigan avenue.

Three quarters of a mile of pipe will be laid, according to Fred Lund, engineer in charge of both Highwood projects. Of the $24,000 the City of Highwood contributes $4,000 and the W.P.A. $20,000.

The completed sewer extends a mile along Western avenue, from Prairie avenue, to Euclid avenue. Work on the project began on January 25. Sixty men were employed at times on the two jobs.

Federal Writers Project Announces "A S. Dakota" Guide

The Federal Writers' Project of the Works Progress Administration announces the publication of "A South Dakota Guide". This volume in the American Guide Series is flavored with stories of pioneer days, of Calamity Jane, and of other famous characters. There are descriptions of such colorful episodes as the death of Sitting Bull at which his trained horse went through a circus routine, and the

Applications Filed For Tavern Licenses

Highwood may increase its already long list of taverns, if the two permits recently applied for are granted by the city officials. There are already 19 drink places and two liquor stores within the city.

John O. Meyers, former mayor of Highwood and his partner, Charley Gentilini, who are erecting a new bowling emporium there, is seeking a tavern license as is Mrs. Virginia Greco. Meyers and Gentilini plan to run this place of business in conjunction with the bowling alley. Mrs. Greco plans to open one at 821 Waukegan avenue.

Highwood Enforces Dog License Law

Chief of Police E. Schmidt of the Highwood force has issued a final warning to all owners of dogs, that licenses must be secured at once. The fee is $3 for females and $2 for males.

All dogs running loose in the city will be picked up if they do not bear a license tag. Dogs must also be muzzled during the months of July and August if permitted to run at large.

Sightseeing Flights To Be Conducted At Glenview Sunday

Again next Sunday (July 24), United Air Lines will conduct a series of educational sightseeing flights with a 21 passenger Mainliner plane from the airport in Glenview last Sunday's flights were postponed because of threatening weather and R. F. Ahrens, district traffic manager, pointed out that the weather was suitable for flying, but because of low clouds was not ideal for sightseeing trips. Flights will be made every hour on the hour and will cover 100 miles.
