11 Times as Many Deaths from Typhoid Fever

in 1910 as in 1934

The percentages are being lowered each succeeding year, and how thankful we should be. You can remember when there were numbers of typhoid cases every summer, either in your family or within your personal acquaintanceship.

TYPHOID RATE FOR 74 U. S. CITIES
Year	Population	Typhoid Deaths	Deaths per 100,000
1910	22,266,000	4,506	20.25
1911	22,916,700	3,583	15.64
1914	24,776,777	2,746	11.07
1917	26,528,213	1,943	7.40
1920	28,182,520	1,076	3.81
1923	29,500,000	926	3.16
1926	31,657,426	810	2.53
1929	33,954,261	531	1.56
1934	35,491,513	413	1.17

What has cut down this percentage? Nothing but Medical Science working with vaccines and serums, through public education and municipal avenues to purify water supplies, carry off waste and remove the cause of that wasting and fever-racking disease.
