E. L. MILLARD FAMILY SCATTERED

It is not unusual for Mrs. Everett L. Millard's family to be scattered by travel, but the distance between its members this summer is somewhat astounding. Mrs. Millard, in fact, is the most stay-at-home of them all, but the first of next week even she is deserting Highland Park for a trip to Fish Creek, Wis., to visit Miss Frances Whedon.

Miss Whedon and her niece, Frances Jeffery, have a house there this season and they invite their friends up on shifts. Mrs. Millard will turn homeward from Fish Creek long before her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Stuart Millard return from California. They have been in Berkeley for two weeks visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wesley Wentworth, and being widely entertained. Just a year ago yesterday the former Margaret Hill Wentworth and Mr. Millard were married in her parents' Berkeley gardens, an anniversary they marked quietly. They intend to spend part of their two-month stay in the West at the Millard camp, exploring mountain trails and leading a leisurely life.

Everett Millard Jr. prefers a vacation on the lake with a good stiff wind to drive his sailboat along. He is preparing now for a voyage in his boat and he may be off before his sister, Elizabeth Millard, arrives from New York for several months in Highland Park. For the last three winters Miss Millard has lived in Greenwich Village writing and doing book reviews. Her mother expects to remain here at least two months before she goes back East.
