

Analyze Writings Of Creative Group Members Thursday

Three widely different short stories, written by members of the Creative Writing group which met for its first session of the new semester last week, were complimented and criticized by the class. "Diagnosis" the tragic account of a hard-working doctor who failed on his most important case; "Casanova's Kitten," a humorous romantic incident; and "Chain Dog," a psychological story of a University of Chicago faculty romance; were the pieces of fiction analyzed.

"Watch for these things," said Rowena Bastin Bennett, the leader of this informal writing group. "Is there a real sense of struggle—are superfluous characters and parallel characters avoided—is the dramatic time element made as short as possible." In explaining the significance of the time question, Mrs. Bennett pointed out that a novel can cover a wide gap of years but a short story is usually more unified and dramatic if it can happen in an hour instead of a day or a day instead of a week.

A new tendency in the theatre to retain the same setting was pointed out by Mrs. Bennett as an aid to the reader of fiction. "Do not confuse your reader by pulling the curtain or cutting the scene any often than necessary. First impressions, too, are important so be sure your reading audience gets a true impression from the beginning of your main character preferably through action and word rather than the author's description."

Discussing a new one act play magazine, also mentioning a reliable verse market, bringing out the modern children's editor point of view on informational juvenile material, and other stimulating ideas for writers made the new members of the class feel that every session of the coming ten weeks will be full of practical help and interest.

Any scribbler or literary listener who would like to enroll is urged to come this Thursday morning at ten so that the full benefit of the term may be enjoyed. Eight new members are already working on manuscripts while the majority of first semester writers are returning. One member of the first semester class is in South America where she will get local color; another is in New York superintending a flower show as she is an architect gardener; another popular member, Mrs. Arthur Aldis, was the subject of a Chicago newspaper story since she was flying for the first time to Florida as the result of reading "Listen, the Wind." These Thursday mornings at the Highland Park Y.W.C.A. offer a real opportunity for informal, congenial thought and discussion under Mrs. Bennett's gracious and imaginative leadership.

"Campus Confessions" At Deerpath Theatre

Playing Thursday and Friday, January 12 and 13, at the Deerpath theatre in a double feature are "Campus Confessions" and "Always in Trouble."

Twin romances are combined with an exciting story about college basketball in Paramount's new collegiate picture, "Campus Confessions." "Always in Trouble," starring Jane Withers, is true to its title, as Jane is always in trouble.

"Three Loves Has Nancy," playing Saturday, Jan. 14, matinee and evening. Take a merry romp around Manhattan with Robert Montgomery and Franchot Tone as they show lovely Janet Gaynor all the ins and outs of life in the big city.

Another outstanding double feature program playing Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, Jan. 15, 16 and 17, is "Suez" and "The Citadel." "Suez" presents Tyrone Power as Ferdinand de Lesseps, the exiled young French engineer, successively overcoming the obstacles provided by the climate, Napoleon III, his love for the Empress Eugenie (Loretta Young), his sense of responsibility toward a tow headed waif (Annabella), and the apathy of the British government, in order to dig his "big ditch" from the Red Sea to the Mediterranean.

"The Citadel," starring Robert Donat and Rosalind Russell. Yes, it's one of the greatest dramas since the films began! The supporting cast includes Ralph Richardson and Rex Harrison.

Playing Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Jan. 18, 19 and 20, in a double feature are "Brother Rat" and "Sons of the Legion."

"Brother Rat" is a gay blithesome comedy. Winsome Wayne Morris and Priscilla Lane carry off the lead roles as a young romantic pair, while Johnnie "Scat" Davis, Jane Wyman, Ronald Reagan, Jane Bryan, and Eddie Albert, all combine to make the film version every bit the success the original stage play.

The struggle of a young raganuffin to achieve a decent spot for himself in society and his achievement in solving an old crime and saving the reputation of a prominent citizen form the exciting plot of "Sons of the Legion" featuring Lynne Overman, Donald O'Connor, Elizabeth Patterson and William Frawley.

Carroll Binder To Address Lake Forest Women Voters Jan. 17

Carroll Binder, foreign editor of the Chicago Daily News, will speak at the John E. Baggett auditorium, Gorton school on Illinois road in Lake Forest on January 17 at 8 p.m. He will discuss the issues facing the 76th Congress in the field of foreign activity on which depend the future peace and prosperity of this country. This lecture is open to the general public on the invitation of the Lake Forest League of Women Voters whose president is Mrs. Donald Scott, of the Parent-Teacher Association headed by Mrs. Ronald B. Williams, of the Womans Club, by Mrs. M. R. Porter, and of the Young Women's Christian Association by Mrs. Ernest Johnson. These organizations are cooperating to make this a real community project. Invitations have been sent to all above organizations represented in Highland Park. Every interested man and woman is urged to take advantage of this opportunity to hear an expert in the field of foreign relations. He is in hourly touch with correspondents in all parts of the world; his training as a foreign correspondent in London, Berlin and Italy and extensive travels in the Far East and South America have been excellent preparation for his present job of interpreter of world events in terms of their meaning for the citizens of the United States. Now as never before it behooves every responsible citizen to be intelligent, informed and alert to exert his influence on his representatives and senators at Washington. When Carroll Binder talks, people listen and learn and like it. There is no admission charge.

New Uniforms Worn By Ft. Sheridan Men

Members of Company A, 2nd infantry, stationed at Fort Sheridan, stepped out last week in the new slate blue uniforms for enlisted men that the army is trying out all over the country. One company at each post will wear the uniform during the one year trial period.

Trousers replace breeches, but for field duty the infantrymen gather their trousers inside canvas leggings. The blouse, or uniform coat, has a half belt in back and pleated shoulders that give the wearer greater freedom. A blue shirt folds back in a sport style collar, permitting it to be worn without a tie in the field, and the cap has a soft visor in place of the old stiff leather one, so that it can be folded and carried in a pocket.

Capt. C. B. Hutchinson, post adjutant, said the new slate blue color was chosen because it is possible to get more uniformly colored cloth than was possible with the old olive drabs and khakis.

Wrestling Stars To Be Seen Again In Action In Waukegan

Lake county sport lovers will get another chance to see some of the nation's outstanding heavyweight wrestling stars in action this winter, it was learned today, following announcement by the Waukegan City club that they would sponsor another big program in the Waukegan High School Gymnasium, Tuesday night, Jan. 17.

Some two months ago the City Club presented a pro wrestling card at the high school, and the affair met with such fine success that another has been planned for some worth-while benefit. Nearness to Christmas together with inclement weather cut attendance at their first effort, but after all expense was deducted a neat profit was left and used to send underprivileged Lake county children to the Shrine benefit circus, as well as furnish the Lake County Big Brothers with a sizable contribution for their charitable work.

Now the committee of Elwin Wightman, Gerald Snyder, Howard Guthrie, and Eino Macklin, led by Chairman Percy Gustafson, are angling for some of the nation's leading mat artists to provide the thrills and spills for their big card. It is quite possible that the great Ruffy Silverstein, Illinois state champion and claimant of the world's heavyweight championship, will have a top spot on the program. Jim McMillen, highly respected title contender from Antioch, will also probably see action in a feature go. While no matches have been set as yet, the committee is working hard to bring to Waukegan and Lake county the greatest array of wrestling talent ever assembled in these parts for an affair of this kind. Other stars under consideration are Man Mountain Dean, the Mystery Man, Bert Rubi, and Lou Plummer.

Several hundred reserved ring-side seats in the first few rows at one dollar plus tax will go on sale about the county in a few days, as well as tickets for the entire balcony section at fifty cents plus tax. Curlee's drug store and the Y.M.C.A. will handle the advance ticket sale in Waukegan.
