

DEERFIELD LOCALS

AWARDS FOR RESCUE

Two Deerfield young men, Donald Brand Clark and Frank Mennell, owe their lives to two soldiers from Fort Sheridan. These rescuers, Richard Gieras, private, Company "C" 2nd infantry, and John Grimson, private, Troop "A", 14th cavalry, are to be awarded the Soldier's medal, one of the rarest honors conferred by the war department. The award is made for the courageous rescue last August 20 during the Columbia Yacht club race, when five participants in this race were victims of a sudden and unusual rain squall. Boats were capsized all along the course from Chicago to Waukegan. Privates Gieras and Grimson were on life guard duty at the Fort Sheridan beach the afternoon of August 20. At the height of the storm they saw a small sailboat capsize a mile and a half off the Ft. Sheridan shore. In a boat scarcely big enough for themselves they started out. They reached the capsized boat and found Mennell and Clark clinging to the hull. The soldiers, both in their early twenties, pulled the two aboard and then, in the heavily laden dory, managed to reach shore safely. Mennell, son of a Highland Park WPA worker, lives at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Hout of Warrington road and Clark is the son of Mrs. Alice Brand Clark of Deerfield road.

Major General Stanley H. Ford, commanding general of the 6th corps area, will make the presentation of the award to the two soldiers. Gieras' home is in Chicago and Grimson's home is in Detroit.

"THE STAGERS"

On Friday evening, Feb. 17, will occur the biggest event of Deerfield's winter social calendar, for at that time the "Stagers" will present the P. G. Woodhouse adaptation of the Siegfried Gayer comedy, "Candle-Light," on the stage at the Deerfield Grammar school.

Based on the old Maxim, "Choose neither women nor linen by candle light" the play runs the gamut of comedy, employing a technique which successfully combines the finesse of Voltaire with the slapstick of Mack Sennett. This comedy was last seen in this region in 1930, when Leslie Howard, of stage and movie fame, and Gertrude Lawrence, whose "Susan and God" recently closed in Chicago, performed it in Chicago.

Mr. Graeme Young, who has earned a name for himself for his work in many branches of the legitimate stage, is again doing the setting for the play. The popular accord given the setting for the "Stagers" last success, "The Ninth Guest," is now a legend, but Mr. Young promises to outdo himself in creating a background appropriate to this forthcoming production.

Add to this a capable cast under the direction of Mr. Kenneth Hunter and the result is a performance which no one can afford to miss.

Watch closely for next week's announcement as there will be an item of special interest to all ticket holders and those contemplating the purchase thereof for "Candle-Light."

DEERFIELD GRADE SCHOOL NOTES

The First Grade children in the Grammar school have been carrying on a most interesting project. The children have collected Christmas cards from all around the community and have prepared these for the use of the children in the Cook County hospital.

These cards are used as entertainment by children in the hospital who are unable to move from their beds. Our children have pasted them and put them in such order that they could be used by these children.

Along with the work done here was a program in which the children discussed what they were doing and the various problems involved in working with others and doing things for other children. The project also involved reading experiences and number experiences necessary to mail and pay for the supplies used.

This is the kind of project that goes a long way toward developing not only skills, but understanding in children about first grade level.
