

Civic Problems To Be Discussed By Deerfield Women

The desire in every woman to ask questions will be satisfied when members of the Deerfield Woman's club and their guests meet at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday, February 14, in the Grammar school. A program has been planned by the social service department under the direction of Mrs. Charles Turner which will present prominent Deerfield citizens and office holders in short discussions of village and township functions, and club members are urged to question the speakers after a lively round-table discussion by several club members.

Mr. Clarence Huhn and Mr. Edwin Selig will discuss the proposed Park district plan and Mr. John Schneider and Mr. Edwin Palmer, village trustees, will speak about local taxes.

The round-table discussion will be conducted with Mrs. Robert Pettis, assistant township relief administrator; Miss Irene Roekenbach, township clerk, and Mrs. Chester Wolf, township librarian, discussing their offices, and questioned by Mrs. Maurice Casad, Mrs. Edwin Wood, and Mrs. Robert Jordan.

At 1:15 p.m. the popular Book Review group open to all club members, will feature Mrs. Bert Mastri in a comprehensive review of a well-known current play.

Plans are progressing for the annual Fun Day, February 28, in which the Woman's club will devote a pot-luck luncheon and afternoon to just play and entertainment at the lovely spacious home of Mrs. Walter Metcalf on County Line road. Further announcements about Fun Day will follow later.

Dr. Preston Bradley To Address Meeting In Northbrook Feb. 16

Dr. Preston Bradley, pastor of the Peoples Church of Chicago, will speak at a community meeting at Northbrook Thursday, February 16, at 7:30 p.m. Dr. Bradley speaks to an audience of 1,000 each Sunday morning and the service is broadcast over Station WJJD.

Besides his church work, Dr. Bradley is the past national president of the Izaak Walton League, a member of the Board of Directors of the State of Illinois. Dr. Bradley is the author of three books: "Courage for Today," "Mastering Fear," and "Power From Right Thinking."

An additional feature will be a thirty minute concert by the Grieg Male Chorus of Chicago.

TWENTY YEARS AGO
Feb. 6, 1919

Mrs. John Happ, a former resident of Highland Park, passed away Thursday in Chicago following a brief illness of pneumonia. The price of butter took a sudden tumble this week when it dropped to 50 cents a pound. Eggs are now 55 cents a dozen, a drop of 23 cents in a week's time. Dr. Harry B. Roberts, who has been in active service over seas, arrived in New York Tuesday. Mrs. William A. French died Tuesday at the Highland Park hospital as the result of Leucemia. A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. E. Stuenkel, Feb. 4th. Robert Clyde Cameron and Miss Lillian Evans were married Wednesday evening. Mr. Cameron who is serving in the navy, was at home on furlough. Mr. and Mrs. E. Horenberger of Deerfield announce the birth of a daughter, Jan. 18. No one was seriously injured in a recent train wreck on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul R. R. between Deerfield and Shermerville, but a delay in train service resulted.

TEN YEARS AGO
Feb. 7, 1929

The State Commerce commission has approved the agreement between the City of Highland Park and the Chicago and North Western railroad regarding the widening of three viaducts and the paving of the Roger Williams avenue crossing in the City of Highland Park. Ex-servicemen in Highwood are organizing a new Legion Post in that city. George S. Rettig, veteran employee of the North Shore Line, has been retired from active service. Announcement is made of the approaching marriage of Miss Aliceve Winter and Mr. Sterling A. Warren of Athens, Ga., which will take place Feb. 9th. The Richard Taussig's of Glencoe avenue are announcing the birth of a daughter, born Feb. 1st. Green Bay road, south from Central avenue to County Line road, was designated as a boulevard at a meeting of the City Council Monday evening. The John Willman's of Deerfield held a family reunion at their home Friday evening.

Deerpath Theatre

"Algiers," "Gateway," "Stablemates," "Comet Over Broadway" and "Cowboy and the Lady," playing at the Deerpath theatre next week.

The colorful activity of a Mediterranean city of Northern Africa forms the background of "Algiers," Walter Wanger's romantic melodrama starring Charles Boyer opposite Sigrid Gurie and Hedy Lamarr in his most exciting role as Pepe le Moko, debonair international jewel thief, at the Deerpath theatre, Thursday and Friday of this week, February 9 and 10.

A throbbing drama of world-famed Ellis Island is "Gateway," the 20th Century-Fox starring vehicle for Don Ameche and Arleen Whelan. The production, which comes to the Deerpath theatre Saturday, February 11 is tense with violent emotions and keyed-up suspense; bright with the lightness of hearts buoyed up with hope, and colorful with its people from all lands.

Playing Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, February 12, 13 and 14 at the Deerpath theatre in a double feature are "Stablemates" and "Comet Over Broadway."

A dramatic story of what goes on behind the scenes of modern race tracks is unfolded in "Stablemates," which co-stars Wallace Berry and Mickey Rooney. The story, a dramatic relation of the friendship of a broken-down veterinary and a penniless stable boy, takes Berry back to the characterizations he gave in "The Champ" and with Marie Dressler in "Min and Bill" and "Tugboat Annie."

"Comet Over Broadway," the Mark Hellinger and Robert Buckner adaptation of Faith Baldwin's Cosmopolitan Magazine story, has Kay Francis and Ian Hunter in the two leading roles.

A lively chapter to the screen's history of romantic comedy has been added by Samuel Goldwyn, who selected titian-haired, langorous Merle Oberon as the lady who gaily steals the affections of strong, silent Gary Cooper in "The Cowboy and the Lady," the comedy romance which is scheduled to play at the Deerpath theatre, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, February 15, 16, 17 and 18.

LIBRARY

Highland Park, Illinois
Among the new books added to the collection of the Highland Park Public library, are two unusual ones—one just from the press, the other old.

"The Arab Awakening" is written by George Antonius, an Arab, citizen of Palestine. He was educated at Cambridge and had made a life-long study of the Arab problem. While not flattering to the British, the book is considered important by English critics and some statesmen who have had experience in affairs of Palestine, Syria and the rest of the Arab world.

"Behind the Scenes," by Elizabeth Keckley was published in 1868. In this book the author, an ex-slave, tells of her experiences serving Mrs. Lincoln. In this way, the reader is given a very good picture of Mrs. Lincoln's personality and disposition.

"Flight Into Oblivion," by A. J. Hanna tells of the aftermath of the Civil war. History tells of men who are in power, but not of what becomes of these same men when they no longer lead. Pitiful is the tale of the fight of the southern leaders, and some of their families.

"Far Eastern Policy of the United States" by A. Whitney Griswold is a timely book, containing a number of maps. The author, who is assistant professor of government and international relations at Yale, traces the development of the United States' foreign policy in the Orient from 1898 to the present. This is not a book of propaganda, but a compilation of historical facts.

"Lords of the Press," by George Seldes begins with a chapter, "The House of Lords," an unflattering analysis of the American Newspaper Publishers association. There follows 21 chapters sketching publishers or owners of chains and press associations, again largely unfavorable. Then comes an examination of foreign and Washington correspondents and columnists. A brief third group of chapters seek to provide constructive suggestions. George Rector JOINS WILSON & CO.

Mr. George Rector, internationally famous chef, restaurateur and authority on good eating, is now a member of the Wilson & Co. staff

THE COMING of George Rector to the staff of Wilson & Co. links together two famous names in the eating world, one renowned for preparing good food, the other for producing it.

Mr. Rector will act as Director of Home Economics, cooperating with Eleanor Lee Wright in acquainting the consumer with the advantages and uses of Wilson meat and dairy products, and as consultant in the creation of new products.

The American people regard meat as the most important part of the meal. Naturally, American tastes appreciate the very best in meats. The amazing success of Wilson's Tender Made Ham proves that. It is only fitting, therefore, that America's homekeepers and meal planners should receive the best consumer education obtainable to aid in the preparation of Tender Made Ham and other Wilson Products.

No man in America is better suited for this educational work than George Rector. It is with sincere pleasure, therefore, that Wilson & Co. makes available the exceptional experience, knowledge and skill of America's great culinary expert and food spokesman, to housewives everywhere.
